

The Nittany Realm

By BOB VOSBURG
Assistant Sports Editor

Came across a remarkable scoring play the other day that surely must be a record of some sort . . . The report came from up state New York . . . Seems that Port Washington high school scored a 52-yard point-after-touchdown while routing Hudson, N.Y., 40-0.

The first kick was successful, but Port Washington was off-side . . . From the seven P. W. pushed across again, but was penalized for holding . . . On the third try, they completed a pass from the 22, but were penalized 15 yards for clipping . . . The fourth attempt was a completed pass from the 37, but was nullified by an illegal use of the hands penalty . . . This put the ball on the Port Washington 48 . . . A pass from there was completed legally for the point.

Back in the days of Napoleon, armies traveled on their stomachs . . . And if the Notre Dame grid team is any indication, football teams of today do the same thing. The entire Irish squad will be served breakfast in a private dining car on the Grand Trunk

Western Railroad, while on the way to Lansing, Mich. for tomorrow's game with Michigan State . . . And an eye-appealing menu has been prepared . . . A glass of orange juice, a bowl of oatmeal, with cream, a large sirloin steak, a baked potato, toast and honey, a whole apple, and milk . . . Wonder what they have for lunch?

Any body who has attended an intramural swimming contest at Glennland pool recently knows it's pretty tough to get in, especially with your shoes on . . . Cliff Keller, mustached watch dog of the pool's inner sanctum, stands rigid guard at the entrance . . . All spectators are forbidden to enter the pool room without first removing their shoes and trudging through the foot bath . . . And Cliff is there to see that they do it.

Lamont Smith's Return Bolsters Harrier Squad

Stronger than a week ago with the return of Lamont Smith to the starting lineup, the Nittany cross country team leaves this morning to take on Manhattan's improving harriers in New York tomorrow morning.

Coach Chick Werner has picked a ten-man squad which will be running for its second straight win and fifth of the season against only one loss.

In this final dual meet of the season for the Lions, Bill Ashenfelter appears at top form to take on Bill Lucas and the Metropolitan champions.

Added Depth
Big Bill has led the Lions first to the finish in every meet since the second of the season, and two nights ago he breezed through a fast two mile workout which clearly showed his readiness.

Smitty's return to the team after doctor's treatment during the two weeks since his coaches made him stop running in the Army meet, should give the squad added depth.

Finished Fourth
Dudley Foster, Red Hollen and Jack Horner, the Lions season-long third, fourth and fifth finishers, are ready for the Jaspers. Red finished fourth against NYU and second for State last week, and Dud and Jack tied for sixth.

A notch above Foster and Horner last week, frosh Jim Hamill has improved rapidly, and if he continues at the same rate the Jaspers will know he was in the race tomorrow.

Qualify for Trip
Heading the Lions second order tomorrow is Dave Pierson who won the spot with a good 27:24 five mile time trial effort yesterday.

Behind Dave in order of finish in the trial were Bob Roessler, John Davison and John Chillrud who all qualified for the trip. Frosh Chillrud hit 12th place in the NYU race, and earlier in the year he took an 11th spot against Cornell. Pierson was 13th against the New Yorkers, Davison 14th, and Roessler 15th. Roessler came home 14th against Cornell.

First Pretzel Bowl
READING, Pa., Nov. 8—(P)—The first annual Pretzel Bowl football game will be held Nov. 24, in Reading's new $650,000 Municipal Stadium, for the benefit of underprivileged crippled children.

Stars Swamp Dorm 34, 54-4

Two lop-sided scores were recorded in Wednesday night's IM basketball action, as well as the second forfeit of the year.

The Stars walloped Dorm 34 by an impressive 54-4 margin. Bob Yoder dumped in 13 points to help the Foresters to a 43-3 victory over the Lords. Samettes failed to appear at Recreation Hall and forfeited their game to Dorm 27.

Donald Port was the night's individual high scorer with 17 markers as the Wildcats won over the Colonial 5 by a 26-17 score.

Other court action Wednesday saw the Comets whip the Iron Men, 32-22. Altoona beat a stubborn G.F.O. team, 19-13. Penn Haven overcame a 11-10 half-time deficit to win over the Falcons, 27-24. The Helots tripped the Bagoones, 20-13.
