

Eden Asks Halt To UN Bickering

PARIS, Nov. 12—(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today appealed for a truce to "name-calling and angry words" in the United Nations. He urged the Russians to quit laughing and study seriously the Western Big Three's arms census and limitation plan as a new start on the road to peace.

The answer to what many delegates regarded as a conciliatory approach by Eden in his first UN speech since the days of the San Francisco founding conference in 1945 was not long coming. Polish Delegate Stefan Wierblowski fired back in the assembly that the arms proposals laid down by Secretary of State Dean Acheson and backed firmly by Eden today are "another maneuver masqueraded in a cloak of peace initiative."

Eden Raps Vishinsky

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky also served notice he will speak at the end of the debate, perhaps late this week, to answer Eden, Acheson, and others.

Eden said Vishinsky's "catarrh of abuse" against the Big Three proposals "saddened me, as I think it must have saddened and discouraged the millions throughout the world who read or heard of it."

Treaty with Austria

Eden, who will go with Prime Minister Churchill to Washington in January for talks with American leaders, said he backs the North Atlantic Pact fully, because it is not aggressive but permits the west "to negotiate peace from strength."

He called for the Russians to sign a treaty with Austria, help rebuild Korea, agree to a commission to determine whether elections can be held in all of Germany, and to admit Italy and other countries to the UN, in particular Ceylon.

Bitterness Impedes Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Nov. 13—(AP)—Bitter exchanges between Allied and Communist negotiators including new Red charges of United Nations security violations of the cease-fire conference area bogged down Korean armistice talks Monday.

However, further talks were scheduled today at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Monday, EST).

Future prospects of the negotiations brought non-committal comments from the U.N. command spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols.

"What's in the wind I do not know; what may be suggested, I will not prophesy," he told correspondents.

Seemingly close together on where to draw a buffer zone across Korea to stop the fighting, the Reds and Allies were at loggerheads on when to do so.

Nuckols said, "We shall continue to press for a line and zone to be established at the time of an armistice."

The Reds want the cease fire line established right now.

TOKYO, Tuesday, Nov. 13—(AP)—In a deadly game of bombs and shells for some of the highest potential stakes of the Korean war, the Communists are struggling around the clock to try to complete three airfields in North Korea, U.S. Air Force sources report.

Attacking in an all-day drizzle, doughboys advanced three-quarters of a mile Monday and seized two slippery hills southwest of Kumsong on the Korean Central front.

Mrs. Willa Taylor, choir director, stressed the need for male voices for these readings. The Christmas program will be presented Dec. 15 and 16.

Peron Reelected Argentina President

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 12—(AP)—President Juan D. Peron, jubilant over his reelection to a six-year term, was still on leave of absence from his office today and there was no official indication when he would return.

With 75 per cent of the vote counted from yesterday's national election, the presidential race showed: Peron 3,341,333; Ricardo Balbin, radical, 1,756,960. None of the other six parties' presidential candidates was close.

Duff Foresees GOP Pa. Boom for 'Ike'

HARRISBURG, Nov. 12—(AP)—Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) said today an active campaign will be conducted in Pennsylvania for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination.

"There is going to be plenty of action in Pennsylvania at the proper time" in behalf of the general, Duff told reporters, but added:

"It is too early just yet to start any Pennsylvania boom."

Duff and his Republican colleague from Pennsylvania, Sen. Edward Martin, were speakers here today before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

Martin told reporters he doubted Eisenhower would run for president because "I don't think he will give up his job in Europe."

Duff Parries Question

Duff, an ardent Eisenhower backer, when informed of Martin's statement, retorted quickly: "If he thinks that, he is very much mistaken."

Although promising an active campaign for Eisenhower in Pennsylvania, Duff parried a question as to whether he would enter Eisenhower's name in Pennsylvania's primary election next year. Under Keystone law, a candidate for president may be entered in the April 20 primary, when delegates are elected, without the consent of a delegate.

Martin Expresses Doubt

Duff disclosed that he will make a trip to Europe some time in December to talk with Eisenhower.

Martin, in expressing doubt that Eisenhower would run for the presidency, told newsmen that "I believe I know Eisenhower as well as anybody in Pennsylvania."

He also emphasized that he, himself, is not "committed to anybody" as far as the GOP presidential nomination is concerned.

Leftist Students Heckle Hirohito

TOKYO, Nov. 12—(AP)—Three thousand leftist Japanese students heckled Emperor Hirohito and sang the Communist anthem to him today in a disorderly demonstration that was unprecedented in Japan's modern history.

Officials and members of the older generation generally were shocked at the disrespect shown the ruler who still is considered divine by many of his subjects.

The incident, of possibly historic significance, occurred at Kyoto, ancient seat of Japanese culture and government, while Hirohito was on a state tour.

Police Stop Students

The emperor was being greeted by the Kyoto University president, Shunjiro Hattori, when the students surrounded the imperial limousine.

Two hundred police shoved the milling students back, and the emperor retired into a campus building, where he stayed more than an hour.

There were no injuries reported and no threats were made against Hirohito directly by the college boys, but the newspaper Yomiuri reported they shattered windows of some of the police cars.

Occurred After Lunch

Outside the campus, thousands of Kyoto residents lined the streets and greeted their monarch with cries of "Banzai," the traditional Japanese hail.

The demonstration occurred right after lunch. Only one Tokyo Japanese newspaper printed an account of the incident in its afternoon edition. After pondering the propriety of publishing anything about disrespect for the emperor, the editors of two major morning papers printed two paragraphs each about the incident on inside pages. The English language Nippon Times printed six paragraphs on page one.

Police were on guard for the balance of the Emperor's trip.

28th Division Bids Farewell

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12—(AP)—Hands to their helmets in rigid salute, eyes right to the reviewing stand before Independence Hall, the 28th Division bade a military farewell today to its native Pennsylvania.

For many men of the Keystone Division, it was a strange armistice day to mark the anniversary of the end of the first war in which the 28th fought overseas.

A solemn and silent throng, estimated at more than 200,000 persons, lined downtown streets on the mile-long parade route watching the men go by to the blare of bands and the steady "hip-ho-hip-hrup" of cadence-counting noncoms.

Here and there a woman or a girl or a youngster trotted along beside the marching troops to be near one particular soldier as long as possible. Perhaps because time was short, police and MP's made no move to stop them.

The march began at Franklin Institute on Benjamin Franklin Parkway.

As the parade ended, the men filed aboard a waiting convoy of buses, were taken to the Philadelphia Navy base and aboard the huge gray transport USS Butner that will carry them to Germany.

Resurrectionists stole corpses from graves to sell them to lectures on anatomy.
