

Hillel Panelists Discuss Vice, Crime Problem

The legalization of gambling will not solve the problem of crime and corruption in American life was agreed upon by the three panelists at the Hillel Town Meeting Sunday.

Aaron Druckman, assistant professor of philosophy, said he would not advocate legalized gambling in the United States now because the same criminals who are running the show now would take over legal gambling.

Druckman cited European countries which depend upon lotteries for their income. He said he was not against the principle of gambling.

Protect Social System

"As members of one family, we have no right to take advantage of one another," said the Rev. Andrew Newcomer Jr., minister of the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Newcomer said that all gambling is bad since the driving force of society should be sacrifice.

R. Wallace Brewster, professor of political science, said that each American must think not of what he can get out of something but of guarding and protecting the system which gives him his rights.

Crime would be Orangized

The legal code coincides fairly roughly with the moral code, Brewster said. The public became aware of corruption in government with the Kefauver hearings. The government is not alone to blame, said Brewster, pointing out that no Congressman ever bribed himself.

In an organized society, crime must be organized, asserted Druckman, adding that every business man takes political interest in protecting his business, whether legal or illegal.

Tickets on Sale For Square Dance

Tickets for the College square dance sponsored by Phi Sigma Sigma and the Association of Independent Men go on sale today. The dance will be held from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight Saturday in Recreation Hall.

This is the second of the dances, whose profits go to the Rheumatic Fever Fund.

Tickets cost 25 cents and may be bought from members of Phi Sigma Sigma, AIM representatives, or at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Music for the dance will be furnished by Fred Hartwick and his orchestra.

Elsa Pasline and Moylan Mills are handling arrangements for the dance.

V. To revise customs so that they unify and properly orient freshman:

1. We will work earnestly with the All-College Cabinet on the revision of customs.

2. An attempt will be made to make customs more concise of purpose.

3. We will strive to better the co-operation between Judicial and Tribunal on freshman customs.

VI. We support the NSA in inaugurating the use of Student Discount Service Cards which enable students to obtain discounts from local merchants—to see if this action will aid in relieving the heavy expense of text books and student supplies, and if not, to continue the action to alleviate the excess expense of books and supplies bought in town.

At last he was ready to give his quota of blood.

After the transfusion, the donor rested for 15 minutes. He was given doughnuts and more orange juice and the ordeal was over.

Most donors questioned after the transfusion said they didn't feel any different. "It wasn't half as bad as I thought it would be," was a frequent comment. A few admitted feeling a little weak but they all agreed, "I'm glad I did it."

Night Exams To Be Checked

A committee to investigate the problem of night bluebooks was appointed by Edward Shanken, council president, at the liberal arts student council meeting last night.

Complaints have been made that bluebooks have unnecessarily been scheduled at night and have interfered with student activities. Council members pointed out instances in the language and economic departments where such bluebooks have been scheduled. Lois Pulver and David Lewis were appointed to investigate this problem.

Guyla Woodward reported that the liberal arts council is in charge of the international understanding activities for December. Plans for the month include a mixer for foreign students, foreign student discussions, a language department sing, and a possible speaker.

Reporting on the liberal arts bluebook file committee, Donald Wood said that such a file does exist in the library and has not been kept in operation. Both librarians were against the idea of setting up the file, Wood said. After hearing the report the council voted to eliminate the bluebook question.

Funeral Held For ME Prof

Clarence G. Vandegrift, associate professor of mechanical engineering, died at 4:15 a.m. Saturday at his home. He was 44.

Funeral services were held at the Koch Funeral Home in State College and the burial took place in Cumberland, Md. yesterday.

Prof. Vandegrift received his BS from the University of West Virginia in 1929 and his MS from Penn State in 1945.

In 1929 he was appointed an instructor in mechanical engineering at the College. He was made an assistant professor in 1938 and an associate professor in 1945.

He was a member of Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honor society, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of the Sigma Xi, and the American Association of University Professors.

Arts, Crafts Show Gets Contributions

Friends of Amy Gardner, former head of the Home Art Department of the School of Home Economics, have donated display articles for the arts and crafts exhibit to be held in 220 Home Economics Building, Nov. 29 through Dec. 2.

Included in the exhibition will be paintings, ceramics, examples of weaving, silver and copper metal work, and fabric designs. These contributions along with Christmas greens and cookies will go on sale for the benefit of the Amy Gardner Memorial Garden Fund.

The Amy Gardner Memorial Garden, located near the Home Economics Building, will cost approximately $1000.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests.

No. 28...

THE OVENBIRD

Past Grand Master of the Royal Order of Gourmets and Raconteurs—our outspoken friend knows how to find the proof of the pudding. Especially such a thing as cigarette mildness! A "quick puff" and a "single sniff" left him hungry for facts. Smokers everywhere have tried the same tests and discovered the one true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...
