

Lion, State Split in Elections

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 52, No. 47

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 16, 1951

Sophs Elect Herbein, 2 Staters

By DAVE JONES

Donald Herbein, Lion Party candidate, won the sophomore class presidency last night, but the State Party continued its majority hold on class offices as it put its vice president and secretary treasurer candidates into office.

Harry Solomon and Lolita Robinson, won the vice presidential and secretary treasurer offices for the State Party over Lion candidates Charles Obertance and Virginia Moore. Herbein defeated John White for the presidency. White ran on the State ticket last year for vice president of the freshman class.

Herbein polled 383 of the 741 votes cast, winning the office by 25 votes, with a 51.6 percentage. Solomon defeated Obertance by only 18 votes, polling 379 of the votes cast, a 51.2 percentage. Miss Robinson carried 387 votes, defeating Miss Moore by a 35 vote margin, a 52.3 percentage.

The 741 votes cast by the sophomore class represented only 30.8 percent of the 2409 eligible to cast ballots. This same class in last fall's freshman class elections polled 62 percent. In last year's sophomore class elections, 44.6 percent of the eligible voters cast ballots.

Herbein said he was "naturally" (Continued on page eight)

Trapp Singers Open Concert Series Tonight

Trapp Singers See Picture Page 2

The Trapp Family Singers will open the Community Concert series at 8:30 tonight in Schwab Auditorium. The doors will open at 7:45.

The performance tonight is part of their 12th world tour which has taken them as far as New Zealand and Australia, and then to their native Salzburg where they were featured in the Salzburg Music Festival.

Four daughters, two sons, their mother, Maria Augusta, and the director, Dr. Franz Wasner, will present both sacred and folk music. Costumes, hand-made by Maria and Agathe Trapp to fit each type of music will be worn by the group.

Besides a capella singing, members of the family will perform on such instruments as the block-flute, spinet, and viol de gamba.

Leaving Austria 12 years ago in rebellion against the Nazis, the Trapps turned their pastime of group singing into a profession and became well known for their unusual organization.

Serving as transportation and hotel both, the bus used by the family is completely outfitted with facilities for cooking, sleeping, rehearsing, and family devotions.

When not on tour, the Trapps live on a farm in Vermont which they built in replica of mountain homes in Tyrol, Austria.

TODAY'S WEATHER

CLOUDY WITH RAIN LIKELY

Hearty Congratulations

RAY EVERT, (center) Lion Party chairman, receives congratulations from a group of students after the Lion Party's candidates for freshman and sophomore class presidencies were elected. Only 29 per cent of the two classes went to the polls to vote yesterday.

Colloquy Will Open With Banquet Tonight

The intercollegiate colloquy on "The Loyalty of Free Men," sponsored by the Penn State Christian Association, opens at 6 tonight with a banquet in the Nittany Lion Inn.

J. R. Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post, will speak at the banquet on "A Free Press and a Free Society."

After the banquet, Richardson Dilworth, newly-elected district attorney of Philadelphia, will address the first colloquy session in 121 Sparks at 8:30 tonight. He will speak on "Individual Rights in a Free Society."

Registration for the colloquy is being conducted all day today in the PSCA office, 304 Old Main. The registration fee is $1. The purpose of the colloquy, as stated on the colloquy program,

A few tickets for tonight's colloquy banquet at the Nittany Lion Inn are still available. They are on sale for $2 in the PSCA Office, 304 Old Main.

Registration is "to discover the relevance of religious faith in maintaining democratic tradition and to assist students and faculty in making an application of their religious faith to concrete political situations."

In addition to Wiggins and Dilworth, six other men prominent in religion or in politics will participate in the colloquy. They are Francis P. Miller, consultant to the State Department; James G. Fulton, congressman from the 31st district of Pennsylvania; Dr. John C. Bennett, professor of Christian ethics, Union Theological Seminary; Dr. Liston Pope, dean of the Yale University Divinity School; Father Charles Owen Rice, Duquesne University; and Harry Butcher, secretary, Committee of 70, Philadelphia.

Prexy Honorary Chairman President Milton S. Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the colloquy. (Continued on page eight)

The entire weekend's activities will be under the direction of the junior class president, who is named junior class weekend coordinator in the action.

Subcommittees appointed by him will arrange the coronation of the junior class queen, floats for the queen's reception at Beaver Field, and other weekend activities which may be established.

Hanek informed cabinet of suggestions for broadening the weekend and said they would be taken into consideration in planning the activities for next year.

Among the suggestions were: 1. A parade of costumed men to be held on Beaver Field at half-time of the football game to publicize fraternity houseparties.

2. The wearing of tags by members of the junior class to improve class spirit.

3. Inclusion in the publicity of weekend activities—a reference to junior class sponsorship. Florenz Fenton, editor of the InKling, reported to cabinet that the second issue of the publication might be ready before Christmas. The first issue last spring netted $175 profit, he said. All-College President James Worth appointed the following to (Continued on page eight)

Lions Take Both Presidencies, Capture Two Seats on Cabinet

By BOB FRASER

For the first time since its inception in 1948, the Lion Party gained a split in fall elections as it took both freshman and sophomore class presidencies and the freshman class vice presidency yesterday.

Only 29 percent of the total number of eligible voters participated in one of the closest elections in years. Only 1509 out of 5199 eligible voters cast ballots. No candidate received more than 53.9 percent of the votes.

Election Returns

Sophomore Class
President
	mar-	votes	Ptc.
	gin
D. Herbein (L)	383	25	51.6
J. White (S)	358		48.4
Vice President
H. Solomon (S)	379	18	51.2
C. Obertance (L)	361		48.8
Secretary Treasurer
L. Robinson (S)	387	35	52.3
V. Moore (L)	352		47.7
Freshman Class
President
R. Smoot (L)	406	44	52.8
D. Lewis (S)	362		47.2
Vice President
J. Apgar (L)	392	19	51.2
B. Kay (S)	373		48.8
Secretary Treasurer
P. Powell (S)	413	60	53.9
D. Ebert (L)	353		46.1

In last year's fall elections, 62 percent of the freshman class voted, and 44.6 of the sophomores cast ballots, for a combined percentage of 50.7.

Harry Solomon, winner of the sophomore class vice presidency, won by the narrowest margin, 18 votes. John Apgar, winner of the same office in the freshman class, won by 19 votes. Phoebe Powell, secretary treasurer of the freshman class, was elected by the greatest margin, 60 votes.

Win Cabinet Seats

The split was the first in political party voting on campus since the fall elections of 1943 when a now defunct Lion Party tied with the Key Party. That was the first time party voting was used at the College. In all other elections one party gained at least a majority of offices.

Although a split resulted, the Lion Party holds the top offices in that they control both seats on All-College Cabinet.

A total of 741 out of a possible 2409 sophomores voted for a percentage of 30.9. The percentage of freshmen voting was 27.5 with 768 casting ballots out of 2790.

Officials Disappointed

"Although the vote was close, there was a majority of split ballots. I was glad to see so many of them," Carroll Chapman, All-College elections committee chairman, said.

Chapman said he was sorry to see that so few members of the classes voted. Both party clique officers, Robert Amole of the State Party and Ray Evert of the Lion Party, expressed the same opinion.

"The split was a good thing for Penn State student politics, but I wish we could have gotten the class presidents," Amole said.

Expected 80 Percent

He was still claiming the Lion Party exceeded its $150 budget limit at the conclusion of the ballot counting.

Amole expressed disappointment in the turnout and said he had hoped for about 80 percent turnout instead of the 29 percent of both classes that voted.

"Students voted intelligently—I was glad to see so many split ballots," Evert said.

He added that the elected Lions Party officers will "do a good job and will live up to their promises."

James Worth, All-College president, said he was disappointed in the turnout and added that if better student government is to be obtained, more students will have to take an interest in voting.

Smoot Cops Frosh Class Presidency

By ANDY McNEILLIE

Lion Party candidates took two of three freshman class positions yesterday with the election of Robert Smoot as president and John Apgar as vice president.

Phoebe Powell, State Party candidate, was elected freshman class secretary treasurer.

Only 27.5 per cent of the freshman class voted in the elections, or a total of 768 of 2790. Last year, 62 per cent of the freshman class voted in the fall elections.

Has 44-Vote Margin

Smoot's 406 total votes gave him a margin of 44 votes over the State Party's candidate, David Lewis. Apgar polled a total of 392 votes to Barry Kay's 373, Kay was State Party candidate for vice president. Phoebe Powell piled up a 60 vote margin—highest of the election—over Dorothy Ebert, Lion Party secretary treasurer nominee.

Smoot said the total vote of the freshman class was "very disappointing." When asked if the Lion Party would be able to carry out its platform planks, he said, "I'll stay quiet on that." Smoot will replace Gerald Maurey, last year's freshman class president, on All-College Cabinet.

Second in Class

In high school, Smoot was second in a graduating class of 65 and was on the editorial staff of his school paper. He also participated in scholastic football, lacrosse, and track.

Smoot carried 52.8 of the votes cast for class president, while Apgar, vice president elect, received 51.2 per cent of the votes for that office. Miss Powell gained 53.9 per cent of the votes cast.

Warnock Featured In 'Times' Article

The late Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men emeritus, is featured in the "Press" section of the current issue of Time magazine.

The article, titled "Deadline Missed," tells the story behind the late dean's reason for writing his last "Colyum."

At a memorial service yesterday in Schwab Auditorium, John H. Frizzell, chaplain emeritus, said that Dean Warnock's services as dean of men were not routine, but "were a matter of big-heartedness that most of us were too slow to see."

The Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, chaplain, assisted Chaplain Frizzell with the service.

Blood Donors Give 185 Pints To End Drive

Penn State students donated 185 pints of blood yesterday in the last day of the campus blood drive. Yesterday's new one day high brought the final four day donation total to 652.

Red Cross officials who conducted the drive at the TUB termed the operation a "big success." They said they had not expected such a large turnout during the donation period.

The unit will return Dec. 13 to the State College American Legion to secure blood from about 200 students who pledged but did not donate due to time limitations. Those students will receive appointment cards in the future, drive officials said.

Few students failed to keep their appointments Elizabeth Jankowiak, staff nurse in charge yesterday, said. She said the number turned away for health reasons was remarkably low. About 18 students donated blood yesterday without appointments, by merely walking into the processing line.

'Who's in the News'

The deadline for submitting biographical sketches for "Who's in the News at Penn State" has been extended to Monday, Nov. 19, 5 p.m. Editor Len Kolasinski announced yesterday.

The forms should be mailed to 115 Carnegie Hall.