

Cabinet Backs Fund Olympic Tryouts For Fire Victims

Olympic Tryouts Here April 25, 26

By BOB FRASER

All-College Cabinet last night approved an executive committee action taken earlier this week to aid students who lost their belongings in the Gentzel Building fire Monday.

The move, contrary to the program provided for by the Campus Chest which states there will be no other solicitations, was justified as an emergency measure, according to Marvin Krasnansky.

Asks Joint Solicitation

Krasnansky, Daily Collegian editor, said, "It is an emergency move and the quickest and best way to aid them."

Krasnansky said the students rooming in the building "lost an average of $300 per man." He asked that the presidents of the Association of Independent Men, Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, and Leonides cooperate in having unit, fraternity, and sorority leaders solicit from the student body.

He said both faculty members and students will be contacted and he hoped that an average of 25 cents per student could be collected. Solicitations will begin Monday.

The promotion staff of the Daily Collegian will aid the drive which is hoped to net approximately $2500. The estimated loss of the students was over $5000.

Walter Sachs, chairman of a committee investigating the possibility of a Central Promotion Agency, was appointed director of the CPA.

Oct. Goal Was 400

Millard Rehburg, Mineral Industries student council president and chairman of the blood drive, reported that to date 662 pints of blood have been received. The other pledges, he said, were rejected for various reasons, many of which were temporary. The final pledge total was 1002.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will return Dec. 12-13. The original goal of Oct. 1 was 400 pledges.

Cabinet approved a suggestion by George Donovan, manager of Associated Student Activities, to obtain pictures of former cabinet groups and have them framed and placed in the student government room.

The suggestion was presented to cabinet by Thomas Jurcak, All-College secretary treasurer.

Exam Schedules

The final examination schedules appears on pages 7 and 8 of today's Daily Collegian.

Committee To Consider Soccer Cup

By ANDY McNEILLIE

Clair George last night was named chairman of an All-College Cabinet committee to investigate the presentation of a trophy to the winner of the annual Penn State-Temple soccer game.

Herman Friedman, athletic committee chairman of Temple's student government, had requested cabinet to consider the trophy before last Saturday's game between the two schools. Cabinet, however, did not meet in time to act on the proposal.

George contended that too many trophies of the type which Temple proposed were already in existence, and since this year's game had already been played, he asked cabinet to take time to consider a trophy that would have more significance.

In other cabinet action, John Laubach, president of the Association of Independent Men, reported that local Crusade for Freedom representatives has requested scrolls be distributed through AIM, Interfraternity Council, and Women's Student Government Association.

James Worth, All-College president, gave the oath of office to the newly elected freshman and sophomore class presidents, Robert Smoot and Donald Herbein respectively. On cabinet, Smoot replaced Gerald Maurey, last year's freshman president, and Herbein took over for Arthur Rosfeld, who represented William Bair, sophomore president, who transferred to the Naval Academy this semester.

Penn State's Recreation Hall will be the site of the 1952 final Olympic gymnastics tryouts for the United States. The tryouts will be held April 25, 26.

The selection of Penn State for the combined Olympic and National Amateur Athletic Union tryouts was announced yesterday by Roy E. Moore, chairman of the United States Olympic Gymnastics Committee.

Moore is also the chairman of the NAAU committee.

Both men and women will vie for the US Olympic team and the NAAU championships. Approximately 150 men and 50 women are expected to compete in the two day event. The tryouts will be open to the public.

Near Unanimous Vote
Penn State was also host to the last Olympic gymnastics tryouts in 1948. However, they were limited to men only.

Penn State was selected by an almost unanimous vote over the University of Illinois. The selection of Recreation Hall for the second consecutive time was based on the great success which the tryouts had here in 1948.

Gene Wettstone, Penn State gymnastics coach, said he was very pleased to have the tryouts again.

"It was between Illinois and Penn State on the basis that both are gymnastics centers and could therefore draw more people," he said.

Liked State

"I recommended that Illinois be given a chance for the tryouts since we had them in 1948 but they (the competing gymnasts) thought that we did so well in 1948, that the tryouts should be held here again." The gymnasts liked Penn State as the site because they felt the spectators responded to their work and really appreciated it," Wettstone said.

In the 1948 tryouts, proceeds taken in at the one day session, exceeded those collected at any previous tryouts held by the Olympic committee. A capacity crowd of over 5000 sat in Recreation Hall until past midnight to watch the events. The Olympic committee described it as an ideal meet.

In the United States Gymnastics Manual, the 1948 meet was described as "the best handled meet." In the same publication, Moore, committee chairman, said the meet was "the most successful ever conducted."

2 Students Hospitalized By Accident

Two students at the College were injured seriously early yesterday morning when their English-made MG roadster struck a concrete abutment and turned over on Willowbank street in Bellefonte.

The injured are Gustave Wescott, 22, seventh semester student in Hotel Administration, a member of Alpha Sigma Phi, who suffered severe lacerations of the face and scalp, a possible fractured skull and other head injuries.

James Hamill, 19, Nittany Dorm 27, a freshman in Commerce and Finance, who received lacerations of the face, a possible fractured jaw, and had several teeth knocked out.

2 Taken to Hospital

Both were listed as in fair condition late yesterday in Centre County Hospital, Bellefonte.

State police who investigated the accident said the small auto, operated by Hamill, was going down the Willowbank street hill at about 12:45 a.m. when it went out of control and crashed into a concrete abutment, struck a telephone pole and rolled over into the yard of the Malcolm L. Peters residence.

Hamill, a member of the varsity cross country team, was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist, and Wescott was later taken to the hospital in the Logan Fire Company ambulance.

Parents Arrive

The hospital said Mr. and Mrs. James Hamill, Coatesville, arrived yesterday afternoon and are preparing to have their son transferred to a Coatesville hospital.

Wescott's parents also arrived from their home in Lansdowne yesterday, the hospital said.

Police estimated damage to the car at $1000.

Two Plans Devised To Locate Students

Plans have been devised for locating students in emergency situations.

During office hours, the recorder's office (Ext. 789) should be called.

At night or during weekends, the College operator should be notified. She will locate a member of the Campus Patrol who will have facilities for locating the student and will deliver the message in person to the student.

Movie Stars to Visit State College Today

A group of movie stars will visit State College today as a part of the "Movietime U.S.A." program.

Among the stars who will appear at a short speaking program at 12:30 p.m. in front of the main gate of the Mall will be Frank Lovejoy, star of "I Was a Communist for the F.B.I."

The nationwide tour is a part of the 50th anniversary of the motion picture industry.

Collection For Clothing To Be Held

The Penn State Christian Association, Hat Society Council and A.I. will jointly sponsor a Korean will jointly sponsor a Korean clothing drive at the College Dec. 8 to 15.

Heading the drive will be William Slepik, Alpha Phi Omega; Nancy McClain, Hat Society Council, and Jean Lathlaen, PSCA.

Bags in which students may put their contributions will be placed in all dormitory units and fraternity houses. A representative of the drive committee will be appointed in each dormitory unit or house.

Letters will be sent to all-campus organizations Saturday asking their support for the drive.

This is one of a series of drives being sponsored throughout the country by the American Relief for Korea committee, headed nationally by Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

In a radio broadcast over CBS ARK has said, "Another bitter Korean winter is almost on top of us. Civilian casualties last winter, due chiefly to exposure, were appalling. They can be cut appreciably this winter if the American people will respond generously to ARK's clothing appeal."

Home Ec Sets Special System

The School of Home Economics has announced special regulations for pre-registration in that school Monday and Tuesday.

Section cards may be obtained in 117 Home Economics Building on those days in the following order:

Seniors—after 8 a.m. Monday
Juniors—after 1:30 p.m. Monday
Sophomores—after 3 p.m. Monday

Freshmen—after 8 a.m. Tuesday
Section cards will be given only to students who have scheduled signed by their advisers. It is therefore necessary to make appointments with advisers as soon as possible.

In order to avoid long lines in the corridors, numbers will be given out and a loudspeaker system will be used to announce the progress of registration.

Services at Hillel Scheduled Tonight

Sabbath Eve Services will be conducted at 8 tonight at the Hillel Foundation, 133 W. Beaver avenue.

Rabbi Benjamin M. Kahn will officiate. He will be assisted by members of Alpha Epsilon Phi, who will also serve as hostesses at a reception to follow.

Moliere's 'Tartuffe' Opens at 8 Tonight

"Tartuffe," satirical comedy by the 17th century playwright Moliere, opens at 8 tonight at Center Stage as Penn State Players' first costume production presented in the "round" theater.

Tickets for the five-act play are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

"Tartuffe" is a typical Moliere play ridiculing the follies and pretenses of social types and individuals of his day. In the case of "Tartuffe," which was banned by the clergy after its first performance in 1664, the caricature is believed to be on Louis the XIV's confessor.

Broad in Title Role

Jean Baptiste Poquelin, real name of Moliere, has set the play in Paris at the home of Orgon, played by Lee Stern.

Jay Broad is the title role of "Tartuffe," a religious hypocrite and impostor who uses "religion" as the means of gaining money and covering deceit, is taken up by Orgon, a man of property. Orgon promises his daughter in marriage to Tartuffe until his hypocritical character is exposed.

Helen Jaskol as Elmire, wife of Orgon, and Sonia Goldstein as the impertinent servant to Orgon share the leading roles with Broad and Stern.

Other members of the cast are

Guyla Woodward as Madame Pernelle; Yvonne Badwey as Filpote; Moylan Mills as Damis; Jane Montgomery as Mariane; Kaye Vinson as Cleante; Richard Han Haynes as Valere; Sy Rubinfeld as Loyal; and Michael Forgacs as an Officer.

Costumes Cost $200

Players' Associate Director Warren S. Smith is directing the play and Mesrop Kesdekian is the technical director and designer. Forgacs also serves in the capacity of stage manager.

Costumes, which Players have spent $200 dollars on, are designed by Charles Schulte.

Production staff heads are Adele Gillespie, make-up manager; advertising manager, Frank Dektor; sound manager, Bob Durr; light manager, Frank Baxter; property manager, Eleanor Pupo; costume manager, Ruth Harding; house manager, Don Barton; Wigs, Nancy May; and bookholder, Yvonne Badwey.

Churches Plan Varied Parties For Tonight

Westminster Fellowship club members will be guests this evening at a "necking party" in the University Baptist Church. A scavenger hunt will highlight the activities with 21 prizes pertaining in some way to the neck. Anyone may attend. Admission charge is two cents for every inch around the neck of the party goers.

A Foundation Fair will be held at 7 tonight in the gym of St. Paul's Methodist Church. The party, given by the Wesley Foundation, will include games of skill, square dancing, and group singing. The callers include Ross Lytle and Robert James. Refreshments will be served, and the affair is free to the public.

The United Student Fellowship of the Faith Reformed Church will hold its first meeting for those students interested in acting in the Christmas play at 7 tonight in the social room. The meeting will be for carpenters and prompters, as well as for actors.
