Beginning Polish Course Proposed

In answer to student demand, a course in beginning Polish is being proposed for the spring semester.

Students who have already indicated interest in the course and others who wish to take it should schedule three credits fewer than the desired load at pre-registration, William B. Edgerton, who will instruct the course, advised. When the course is officially approved students will then be able to add it without dropping other courses, he said.

Class hours will be scheduled by appointment with interested students so that they will fit in with the rest of the students' schedule. Eighteen students have signed up for the course.
