

Dram Group To Go on Air

The Dramatics 480 class will present a play entitled "The Test" on station WMAJ tomorrow on the program, "Wednesday at 9."

The play, written by James Russell, is directed by Dr. Walter Walters, instructor of dramatics. Members of the cast are John Price, Jolly Oswalt, Marcia Yoffe, Richard Anderson, Don Colbert, Prim Diefenderfer, Alan Adair, Ruth Devlin, and Gordon Greer.

Heads of the crew are Pete Farrell, assistant director; Phyllis Brenckman, technical director; Anthony Kibelbeck, announcer, and Fran Stridinger, sound director.

Crew assistants are Donald Barton, Connie Melvin, Marion Whitely, Ruth Lyne, Joyce Rife, Carolyn Harrison, Sonia Goldstein, Richard McDonough, and Betty Lou Morgan.

The play features flashbacks into the childhood romance of two persons who grew up and married different persons.

June Grads Can Apply For New York Jobs

Any student expecting to receive his bachelor's degree by June 30, 1952, may apply for New York state government jobs.

The "college series" examinations offered by the state will be given Jan. 12, 1952, and will be used to select candidates for nearly 400 jobs.

Information and application forms may be procured by writing to the State Department of Civil Service, Albany, New York.

Ag Hill Observatories Opened to Public

The College astronomical observatories on Ag Hill will be open for public observation from 7 to 8 p.m. on each clear Tuesday and Friday night during the winter months.

Groups and individuals interested in the program are asked to contact Paul Jackson, 6 Osmond Laboratory, for further information.

The public observation program is sponsored by the Physics department in conjunction with Alpha Nu, Astronomical Society.

Ayrshire Completes Production Record

Lindy Miss Ann, Penn State's two-year old Ayrshire, has set a production record of 11,085 pounds of 4.5 per cent milk and 492 pounds of butterfat in 305 days on a strict twice-a-day milking schedule.

This record equals 13,702 pounds of milk and 608 pounds of butterfat when figured on a mature equivalent basis, C. T. Conklin, executive secretary of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association, Brandon, Vt., announced yesterday.

Wendt Is Division Head

Dr. Gerald Wendt, former dean of the school of Chemistry and Physics at the College, has been named head of the division of teaching and dissemination of science in the department of natural science of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization. Among his duties is the editorship of the scientific quarterly, "Impact of Science on Society." He also will direct the program of public information in science.

White, Hartenbach Win National 4-H Awards

Dorothy White and Vivian Hartenbach, home economics students at the College, have received national 4-H awards.

Miss White won an all expense paid trip to the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Her project was clothing achievement.

Miss Hartenbach, whose project was homemaking leadership, will compete in a sectional contest to determine whether she will be a trip winner.

PS Club to Meet

The Penn State Club will meet at 7 tonight in 405 Old Main. A treasurer will be elected at the meeting and plans for the forthcoming talent show will be discussed.

Legion -

Legion "deplored" an editorial in the Daily Collegian which said the state senate was acting in an un-American manner in giving a 46-0 endorsement to a bill which would outlaw the communist party in Pennsylvania. The editorial appeared in the Nov. 29 issue of the Daily Collegian.

Charges were Libelous

The resolution also charged that the Daily Collegian had not printed a letter to the editor by Hugh Manchester, chairman of the 23d district's Americanism committee, which named names.

Marvin Krasnansky, Daily Collegian editor, said yesterday that printing the charges would have made the Daily Collegian subject to libel. "Under the laws of libel," Krasnansky said "the Daily Collegian would be just as responsible for the libelous statements as Hugh Manchester."

"Perhaps Hugh Manchester is willing to climb out on the limb, but we do not have to follow him out there," he added.

Krasnansky pointed out that Beardlee, commander of the Legion district, did not wish to subject himself to possible libel. "He too fears libel action," Krasnansky said.

Sunday's action was a follow-up on a similar charge made by the district July 22. At that time the district called for state investigation of "un-American influences and activities" at Penn State. A resolution presented to the Legion's state convention in Pittsburgh calling for the investigation of Penn State was changed to call for an investigation of all state-supported colleges.

President Eisenhower said at that time that it was his "considered judgment" that the members of the faculty "are loyal Americans, devoted to the principles of democracy."

Two Students Caught in Attempted Theft

Two students from Philadelphia were committed to the county jail Sunday on charges of larceny.

Police said William Shaffer, 21, and William Sanlin Jr., 19, were caught in an attempt to steal an air filter from a car in the lot of the Antes Motor Company in Ferguson township. They were unsuccessful in getting the filter but had nuts and bolts which they had removed in their pockets.

The students were scheduled for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Guy Mills of State College yesterday.

West Dorm Area To Sponsor Mass Exchange Dinner

Discussion of a pre-holiday mass exchange dinner between men and women in the West Dorm area highlighted a meeting of West Dorm Council last night.

The dinner, which will be held Sunday, Dec. 16, will be followed by informal record dances in all area lounges.

Caroling through the campus and town will follow.

Charles Brewer, West Dorm social chairman, also announced that a dance in the main lounge has been scheduled Dec. 14 from 7 to 10 p.m. and that individual Christmas parties in the small lounges will be held Dec. 15.

Small trophies for the window decoration contest will be awarded to the winning man and woman in the area after a scheduled choral recital in the West Dorm lounge Sunday, Dec. 16.

EE Group to Hold Panel Discussion

The Society of Electrical Engineers will discuss "Should the Electrical Engineering Curriculum Be Broadened?" at a faculty-student panel discussion at 7:30 tomorrow night in 220 Electrical Engineering Building.

Participants will be Francis Hall Jr. and Paul Shields, instructors in electrical engineering; Macklin John, sociology professor; and John Sparhawk, editor of the Penn State Engineer.

A question-answer period will follow the discussion which is open to all engineering students.

Laskey Will Explain Naval Program Tonight

A detailed outline on the Naval Aviation cadet program will be explained to interested students at 7 tonight in 200 Engineering E by Lt. Robert Laskey, naval representative from Willow Grove Naval Air Base.

Lt. Laskey will be available to answer any questions pertaining to the program tomorrow at the NROTC Unit, second floor, Engineering E.

E. E. Ambrosius, M. S. Gjesdahl, G. M. Dusenberre, C. C. DiIlio, and E. P. Nye, all of the Department of Mechanical Engineering at the College, attended the national convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers last week in Atlantic City, N.J.

Olympics -

tus of Bob Mathias, Olympic decathlon champion and star Stanford halfback. On the question of whether the new stand would affect Mathias, Brundage answered, "If it is proved he is subsidized on athletic talent alone, he would be a suspect."

Brundage was quick to point out that this was only a repetition of a ruling he had made scores of times, and that "Olympic rules on amateurism are there... have always been the same, and amateur groups should know them." He stressed that his group was going to be "tougher about them than ever."

"There is a difference," Brundage said, "between regularly distributed scholarships in which an athlete receives grants-in-aids on the same basis as any student, and outright payment for his athletic services."

W. Dorm to Hold Decoration Contest

Prizes will be awarded by the West Dorm Council for the most appropriate window decorations in the West Dorm area.

Both men and women in the area have been asked to take part in the decoration contest. Prizes will be given for the winning window in Thompson Hall and for a similar window chosen from the other area dormitories.

In addition to the contest a decoration committee has been appointed by West Dorm Council to decorate the lounges of the area.

Ralph Griffith, chairman of the committee, announced that all persons interested in serving on the committee should attend a meeting in 127 Hamilton at 6:30 tonight.
