

Altoona Manufacturer Arrested in Collegiate Cage Bribe Scandal

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP)—District Attorney Frank Hogan announced today the arrest of Daniel Lamont, 44, Altoona shoe manufacturer wanted here in the collegiate basketball bribe scandal.

He said Lamont was seized at his home in Altoona early today on a fugitive warrant and now is being held for an extradition hearing.

Hogan said Lamont was the "money man" who put up the cash for Jackie Goldsmith and Joseph Serota to bribe Harvey (Connie) Schaff, former New York University star in connection with the NYU-Cornell game last Jan. 1. NYU, a heavy favorite, lost by 69-56.

Hogan said Lamont wanted to race horses which he owned in New York in 1948 but the Jockey Club refused him a license because of his alleged gambling connections.

Point Spread

Hogan said that when the detectives accosted Lamont in Altoona he was carrying a paper bag which he tried to throw behind a bush. It contained a gun, the prosecutor reported.

He said Lamont told them he had a permit to carry the weapon.

Of Lamont's alleged participation in bribery, Hogan told newsmen:

"This was a deal for NYU to go under the point spread in the Cornell game. Schaff falsely represented that he had a teammate going along with him in the deal. 'NYU lost and presumably those who were in on it cleaned up.

Beefing Got More

"The arrangements were that Lamont would place a $2000 bet for the players and that sum would yield a $4000 pay-off. But shortly after the game Lamont gave Goldsmith and Serota $3000, explaining it was an afternoon game and he could not get heavy bets down."

Hogan said that Goldsmith and Serota, "in turn, gave Schaff $1900 and when Schaff kept beefing about the amount, each gave him $50 more, making the total $2000."

US Soccer Tryouts Begin Today

Captain Ron Coleman, inside right, and Kurt Klaus, center halfback, will compete with 20 other soccermen in the Olympic tryouts which begin today at River Field, University of Pennsylvania.

Final selection of 16 players will be made by Tom Dent, Dartmouth University soccer coach, on Dec. 8, the date of the North-South All-Star match at McCarthy Stadium, LaSalle College.

Other men who will be making bids for the select group will represent 10 colleges: Temple, Penn, West Chester, F. and M., Slippery Rock Teachers, Maryland, Princeton, Lehigh, Seton Hall, and North Carolina.

Temple and West Chester will send the most with the Owls sending five and West Chester four.

Temple, the eastern representative for the New Year's Day Soccer Bowl in St. Louis, will have practically its entire forward wall in the tryouts.

Bob Casey, center forward; Eddie Tatoi, inside left; and Jack Dunn, inside right, will be three tough men to beat out for their respective positions, as all three played together while in high school. The two other Temple players on the tryouts squad are Len Oliver, center halfback, and Arnold Menge, right fullback.

Other players who faced Penn State during the season, and who will be seeking Olympic berths are Ken Foy, North Carolina, and Eric Baer, Maryland's standout goalie.

Football Meeting

Members of Penn State's football team will meet at 12 noon today in 121 Sparks to elect a captain for next season and for presentation of letter awards.

It is important that all members of the team be present for the meeting.

Close Gap

Don Supreme racked up 22 points to become the night's high scorer when he led the Cats to a 49-33 triumph over Dorm 26. Anthony Richards tallied 18 points for the losers. In the other League B game, Dorm 30 piled up a 17-7 halftime advantage and held the Pythons on even terms in the second half to notch its first cage victory.

Sigma Nu Boxers Take Lead in IM's

Sigma Nu, with two wins and a forfeit in yesterday's 19-bout IM boxing card, sailed past the co-defending champs, Beta Theta Pi, for the current fraternity leadership. Sigma Nu boxers have scored in nine matches.

Dave Girard, Sigma Nu, won a close decision from Dave Odiorne, Delta Tau Delta, in the lone heavyweight scrap. Chuck Frey scored on continuous beautiful one-two shots to the head of Bill Beatty, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, for his Sigma Nu 121-pound victory.

Earlier Dave Bischoff was awarded a forfeit win over Bob Hartman, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, for the other part of the Sigma Nu triple. Beta Theta Pi's Bruce Wagner ousted McKinley Wardlaw, Kappa Alpha Psi, in a 145-pound match to keep the Betas in the running.

145 Pounders

Lefty Dick Zucker, Phi Sigma Delta, put away Dick Zimmerman, Sigma Pi, in 47 seconds of the second round in their 175-pound go.

Stanley Davidson, Theta Xi, and Lloyd Murray, Sigma Phi Alpha, advanced in the fraternity 145-pound proceedings. Davidson got up off the floor for his decision over Sigma Pi's Dick Dennis, while Murray dropped John Lauer, Phi Kappa Sigma, in the final round to clinch the nod.

Sprengle, Fields Win

Four 165-pound bouts, three fraternity and one independent, were fought. Independent Jack Hoy outlasted Vince Chepauskas in a close, rough fight. Fraternity 165-pound winners included Ed Kocjanic, Tau Phi Delta, Nick Casale, Phi Delta Theta, and Frank Rich, Sigma Chi. Kocjanic's wild but power-laden overhand right, helped to decision Dwight Upstead, Phi Gamma Delta. Casale completely dominated his bout with a smaller John Spacht, while Frank Rich ousted Sil Cerchie, Tau Kappa Epsilon, after dropping Cerchie midway in the second round with a left to the head.

Other action in the fraternity 145-pound division found Fred

Sprengle, Delta Tau Delta, and Don Fields, Phi Sigma Kappa, each posting wins. The DTD boxer cut loose with devastating shots to the stomach and ribs of John Donnal, Phi Gamma Delta, to pick up his decision and Fields clinched the nod with a well-placed right hand in the final round that floored Tom Orr, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Looping Rights

One independent clash and two fraternity bouts were waged in the 135-pound bracket. A sharp-jabbing Jim Coffin, independent, scored freely in his match with Rishel with rapid-fire action to gain the victory. Coffin was in control all the way. Jim Darcy, Phi Kappa Psi, and Sam Butler, Alpha Gamma Rho, moved up in their respective 135-pound brackets.

McMahan got the tipoff and then scored a layup. Cordones tied the game at 2-2 with two fouls. Williams put the Lions ahead at six minutes with a one-pointer. Byrne retaliated with a foul to knot the score again at 3-3. This was the last time the visitors were in contention.

Piorkowski and McMahan made shots to give the Blue and White a 7-3 first quarter lead. With the opening game tension off, the Lions started to open up and tabulated 16 points in the second ten minute period.

The home dribblers zoomed to a commanding 34-8 lead in the third period before the Bombers scored their first field goal. Piorkowski, Williams, Sledzik, and Arnelle paced the Lions in this period. By the end of the quarter Ithaca narrowed the margin to 35-13 as they hit on several shots.

Gross used reserves much of the final period. Arnelle, and McMahan headed the Lions. State's courtmen held a 46-19 lead when field goals by Arnelle and DeSalle and a foul by Sherry completed the scoring.
