

Between the Lions

By DAVE COLTON

Lou Lamie, captain of the Lion basketball team last season, and holder of the Penn State three-year scoring record of 666 points and one season total of 319 tallies is playing center for the Medical Replacement Training Center 'Caduceans' at Fort Meade, Maryland. Lamie's high scoring totals show that the soldier hasn't lost the art of his "hesitation shot".

Ithaca was one of the poorest court teams that we've seen play in Rec Hall. Many spectators were highly critical of the Lions and wondered where the fast break was. But remember it's tough for any team to look good against poor opposition, and better competition should bring out the best in the Lion five.

Although State only scored a comparatively low 51 points they still have a potentially high-scoring outfit. Jack Sherry and Whitey Makarewicz, especially, were below their scoring potential. Jesse Arnette looked good in his court debut, but was somewhat off form in his shooting. A few more weeks of practice should help the big freshman.

Co-Captain Hardy Williams fulfilled his job of playmaker in his usual calm style. Teamed with Joe Piorkowski these two should give the Lions a dangerous, good ball-handling duo. The height of the team this season makes the famous zone defense even more effective. With a team averaging six-four constantly moving with extended arms, its tough for opposing teams to get many good shots.

Mark Workman, West Virginia's great center, who set a new Mountaineer scoring record of 1,118 points Monday was erroneously referred to as "Chuck" in yesterday's Daily Collegian. The six-nine center has averaged 21 points in his first two games. The Mountaineers meet State in Rec Hall, Feb. 27.

Dr. H. C. "Doc" Carlson, Pitt's amiable basketball coach, has one of his youngest and tallest teams in many seasons. Carlson, an exponent of possession basketball and precision ball-handling, usually has a "seven-dwarf" squad. But this year his first six men are all six-foot or over. The tallest is center Don Virostek, six-four. Two juniors, Art Boyd and Mickey Zernich, are both six-three and are expected to do much of the Panthers' scoring. The only senior on the team, Captain John Kendrick, is six-one, and sophomore Dutch Burch and junior Scott Phillips are both six-footers.

Pittsburgh Pirates Sign Young Outfielder

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6—(AP)—Paul L. Smith, 20-year-old outfielder, is the latest to join the list of Pittsburgh Pirates who will train in California next spring. Smith began his baseball career with Tallahassee in the Class D Georgia-Florida League in 1950. In 1951, he jumped to Class B with Waco, Texas, in the Big State League.

A left-handed hitter and thrower, Smith hit .319 in 139 games for Tallahassee.

Princeton's Kazmaier Heads AP All-America Grid Selections

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Dick Kazmaier, the phenomenal triple-threat star of Princeton, heads the Associated Press All-America football team for 1951, repeating his 1950 honors.

He leads a spectacular backfield, other members of which are Larry Isbell of Baylor, Hugh McElhenny of Washington, and Hank Lauricella of Tennessee.

Three others with Kazmaier are repeaters from the 1950 All-America: Bob Ward of Maryland, offensive guard; Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma, defensive tackle; and Les Richter of California, linebacker.

Tennessee and Michigan State, the number one and two teams of the land, each won two places on the squad.

This is the team:

Offense:
Ends—Bill McColl, Stanford, and Bob Carey, Michigan State.
Tackles—Bob Toneff, Notre Dame, and Don Coleman, Michigan State.

Guards—Bob Ward, Maryland, and Marvin Matuszak, Tulsa.
Center—Doug Moseley, Kentucky.

Backs—Dick Kazmaier, Princeton;

Hank Lauricella, Tennessee; Hugh McElhenny, Washington; Larry Isbell, Baylor.

Defense:

Tackles—Jim Weatherall, Oklahoma, and Pug Pearman, Tennessee.

Vois Get Three
The offensive and defensive All-America team takes into account the complete season's games through Dec. 1 and was selected in consultation with a board of 11 newspapermen representing every section of the nation. Hundreds of writers and sportscasters served as advisers. Tennessee's great powerhouse placed Lauricella in the first offensive backfield, Pug Pearman as defensive tackle on the first team, and Ted Daffer, a defensive guard on the first team last year, in the same spot on the second team.

Maryland Represented
Michigan State is represented by Bob Carey at end and Don Coleman at tackle on the first offensive team.

Maryland, the number three team, has Ward on the first team, and the Modzelewski brothers on the second—Ed in the backfield and Dick at defensive tackle.
