

Coleman, Klaus Win Berths On Olympic Soccer Team

Choices Based On All-Star Game Showing

Penn State soccer captain Ron Coleman and center halfback Kurt Klaus are among the 16 players selected for the U.S. Olympic team by Dartmouth coach Tom Dent in the Olympic tryouts held over the weekend in Philadelphia.

The two Lions will team with Pennsylvania schools. The chosen players will have a match with an Eastern amateur team in New York City soon.

22 In Tryout Game

Besides Coleman and Klaus, other Keystone State representatives are Ed Tatoiian, Jack Dunn, and Len Oliver, Temple; Tony Puglisi, and Bill Engard, West Chester; and Joe Devaney, Penn.

The 16 selected players were screened from a group of 22 who participated in a North-South All-Star game Saturday at La Salle College. The North was a team of players from New England and New York, while the Southern team was made up of players from all other colleges represented at the game.

South Retaliates

The South won the game 3-2, rallying after trailing 2-0 in the first quarter. A fourth period goal by center forward Joe Polinski, Seton Hall, gave the Southern team the victory. The North took the lead with two field goals by Amherst's Howard Burnett.

The South retaliated less than a minute after the start of the second quarter when Dunn took a pass from Publisi to tally. Moments later, Larry Surrock, Baltimore, followed up a missed shot to tie the count at 2-2.

The victors were co-coached by Earle Waters, West Chester, and Jim Reed, Princeton. The Northern team was co-coached by Ross Smith, Cornell, and Allison Marsh, Amherst.

The contest was the first soccer game ever broadcast play-by-play. Don Yonkers, Drexel coach, did the announcing.

Only Score Counts

A study of Penn State statistics shows the Lions bested their opponents in every department of play except punting and scoring during the 1951 football campaign.

Stanky Expected to Sign As Cardinal's Manager

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals completed a deal with the New York Giants for Eddie Stanky today and the peppery little second baseman is expected to sign tomorrow as new manager of the Redbirds.

Stanky said at his home in Fair Hope, Ala., that everything is settled except the length of contract and "we will definitely straighten that out tomorrow." It's a matter of whether the contract is for two or three years.

Stanky goes to the Cardinals in exchange for veteran southpaw pitcher Max Lanier and outfielder Chuck Diering.

The three principals—the Giants, Cards and Stanky—completed details in a series of long-distance telephone calls after Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, had granted the Card owner permission to approach the veteran infielder.

Stanky said he planned to leave by plane early tomorrow for St. Louis and reach there shortly after 2 p.m. (CST). Saigh departed by train tonight.

The Giants said the deal was set—but they wouldn't disclose the players they will get—and that it was up to Stanky and Saigh to

Lion Cagers Meet Bucknell Tomorrow

Penn State's cage team will play its second game of the season when it meets invading Bucknell in Rec Hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow night. The fast-breaking Bisons will bring a two-game winning streak to State College, while the Lions won their opener with Ithaca, 51-21.

Bucknell has scored successive triumphs over Juniata and Western Maryland. The Bisons walloped Juniata 65-50, and scored a convincing 88-72 win over Western Maryland Saturday night.

Will See Action

Hardy Williams

Dick Savitt Lifted After Losing Match

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 10—(AP)—Big Dick Savitt caught a painful, straight set beating from Frank Segman of Australia today in a rainy final of the Victoria tennis championships and promptly was yanked from a singles berth in the inter-zone Davis Cup final against Sweden.

Captain Frank Shields really set the experts on their heels when, only 30 minutes after the end of the 8-6, 6-0, 6-4 match, he nominated veteran Ted Schroeder and the youthful gob, Tony Trabert, to have a go at the Swedes.

They had been expected to play doubles, but Savitt and Vic Seixas on their records, had been considered logical choices for the singles jobs.

come to an agreement on terms. Until the Giants gave permission, Saigh couldn't discuss the managerial position with Stanky because of baseball's rule against tampering.

Stanky will receive about $37,500 a year from the Cards, a $5,000 boost of the pay he reportedly received with the Giants for the past season. He succeeds Marty Marion, who was dismissed after he had led the Cards to third place in his first year at the helm. Marion since has signed as a player-coach with the rival St. Louis Browns.

This deal was the only big one to come to fruition at the minor and major league meetings in Columbus, O., and here.

Tomorrow the Yanks and Joe DiMaggio will hold a press conference to announce the Yankee Clipper's future plans. The consensus is that big Joe, long-time mainstay of the world champions, will call it quits as a ballplayer and sign a contract for some $50,000 to help telecast the Yankee games. An opening was created in the TV department when Dizzy Dean returned to St. Louis.

Lion mentor Elmer Gross watched the Bison-Western Maryland encounter and believes tomorrow night's clash will be one of the best home games of the season. "Bucknell is one of the good teams on our schedule, but if we can stop their fast-break it should be a close game," he said.

Six Veterans

The Bisons have their first six men back from last season and also have a valuable newcomer in Don Poff, a six-foot-five sophomore center. Other veterans are Connie DeLoca, Joe Gallagher, Bert McKibbin, Don Strasser, Bill Strella, and Jack Webber. Gallagher averaged 18 points per game last season. DeLoca, a six-foot-three forward, played a great rebound game against State last season.

Against Western Maryland, Strella led the Bisons scoring with 25 markers. DeLoca followed with 22 points, and Gallagher and Poff had 15 each. Gross reports that Gallagher has only been at practice since football season ended and is still off his shooting-form. Strasser, first string center last year, missed the first two contests but will be ready for the State game.

Gallagher Dangerous

DeLoca, Gallagher, McKibbin, and Strella are seniors and have been playing together for three years. DeLoca weighs 220 pounds and is rough under the boards. Gallagher, a southpaw, uses a one-hand shot effectively, and never hesitates to shoot. Gallagher injured his right knee in the Juniata opener but it hasn't slowed him too much on the fast break, Gross reports.

The Lions will have height advantage, since Poff at six-five is the Bisons' tallest man. Gross can counter with Co-Captain "Tiny" McMahan, six-seven, "Whitey" Makarewicz, six-five, Jim Hill, six-six, and Jesse Arnelle, six-five.

Gross expects to start the same five letter men who opened against Ithaca. Co-Captain Hardy Williams and Joe Pioroski will be at the guards; McMahan, center, and Makarewicz and Herm Sledzik, forwards.

Williams was ill Friday and missed practice and Makarewicz has been bothered with an infected tooth. But Gross expects both to be ready for tomorrow's battle with the traditional rivals.

Basketball Probe Will Continue

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—(AP)—The District Attorney's office said today it is not through with its investigation of scandal-riddled college basketball.

Thirty one players from seven schools thus far have been drawn into the point-fixing jobs.

Assistant District Attorney Peter Andreoli said the probe still is continuing when he appeared before Magistrate Ambrose J. Haddock.

Haddock postponed until Dec. 24 bribe charges against 38-year-old Joseph Serota of Brooklyn. Serota and Jackie Goldsmith are accused of giving $2000 to Harvey (Connie) Schaff, former New York University cage star, to hold down the points of the NYU-Cornell game last Jan. 1.

Pardon My Glove!

—Photo by Hammonds

DON McCORMICK, TKE 175-pounder, (against ropes) smashes a long left right on the button of Beta Theta Pi's Dick Cameron in last night's IM boxing card. Cameron outpointed the TKE entry and remained unbeaten in his weight class. Referee Glenn Hawthorne watches the action.

Hamilton, Cameron Cop Wins In Ring Tourney

By GEORGE BAIREY

Last year's 128-pound champ, Sam Hamilton, and Dick Cameron, last year's 165-pound winner, both from Beta Theta Pi, picked up wins in yesterday's 12-bout IM card. The Beta's double win moved it to within two matches of the current 1951 fraternity pacesetter, Sigma Nu.

Hamilton put away Tom Shaw, Delta Tau Delta, in 35 seconds of the second round in their 135-pound go. The slight Hamilton dealt out mixed punishing shots to both the head and body throughout the first round, never giving Shaw a chance to rest. Cameron and Don McCormick, Tau Kappa Epsilon, started hay-makers rolling at the opening bell, and continued their merry pace for three hectic, action-packed rounds. Cameron got the decision.

DU Advances Three

Three bouts were fought in the 145-pound division, two fraternity and one independent. The independent match ended in 54 seconds of the second round with Paul Zanoni halting George Arters. George Watson, Sigma Phi Sigma, and John McCall, Alpha Tau Omega, advanced in the fraternity half of the bracket. Watson's sharp punishing infighting earned his nod over a larger Glenn Wiggins, Alpha Gamma Rho. McCall ousted Theta Kappa Phi's Bob Lansberry with flurries of overhand rights and lefts that scored throughout the fight.

Delta Upsilon moved up three men, one in the two extreme weight classes and one by forfeit. DU's Lynn Illingworth scored an 18 second third round TKO over Joe Sutovsky in the unlimited bracket and in a little-man go, John Baffa, although dropped momentarily midway in the final round, outpointed Mickey Webb, Chi Phi.

155-Pounders

Two other fights were halted by referee Glenn Hawthorne, before the minute mark in the final round. Dick Zucker, Phi Sigma Delta, caught Kurt Zaspel, Delta Upsilon, at the 45-second mark of the last round with power-laden portside shots in their 175-pound go, while Sigma Chi's Frank Rich got to and stopped Rudy Mion, Phi Kappa Tau, in 47 seconds of the final two-minutes for his win. The 155-pound class was featured by two fraternity matches. Fields, Kapp Alpha Psi, struck

Bowling Rates Won't Affect Gym Classes

The increase in the assessment of the Dux Club bowling alleys will not effect physical education classes until the second semester, P. H. Gentzel, owner of the alleys on South Pugh street said yesterday.

"I'll personally stand for the losses of the physical education classes until the balance of the semester is over," Gentzel said.

The difficulty was brought about when C. Otis Gromer, Gentzel's assessor, received unanimous support from the commissioners to up the assessment $1000, from $7000 to $8000. The assessment was originally upped $1500.

Gentzel said "that the College is having enough financial trouble now, and I am not going to make it any tougher."

Thus far, the students enrolled in bowling have been paying 15 cents per line, 10 cents under the regular fee charged to regular bowlers.

"Either the bowling prices must be increased or else the alleys must be closed, Gentzel said.

"In the past several weeks, I have made strenuous efforts to combat discriminatory tax assessment in State College," he said.

sharply for a split-verdict win over Bob Barkley, Phi Kappa Psi, in the lone 128-pound clash.

Joe Bonchonsky, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Fred Brown, Delta Tau Delta, each posted wins. Bonchonsky decided Mike Bassarik, Phi Kappa Tau, while Brown solved the southpaw offerings of Dick Moran, Sigma Nu, for the nod.

ROAN'S

Delicatessen Snack Bar

400 E. College Ave.