

—Photo by Sussman

EUGENE KOLBER quizzes contestants Barbara Holzka and Thomas Judge in the speech department radio studio in Sparks as they take part in the 7 p.m. half-hour show, Tag-A-Tune. Tag-A-Tune was one of the shows given during the seven-hour radio day presentations yesterday.

Students Enjoy Radio Hookup

Good experience, lots of fun, and a lot of work rated high on the list of opinions of participants of "Radio Day," but all stressed the need for adequate equipment.

The seven-hour production included 23 programs and spot commercials, and was broadcast from 304 Sparks. The listening audience heard the show in 305 and 306.

Frankel, Ryder Will Perform 8 Pantomimes

Filled with pantomime to make them more understandable, eight numbers will be performed by Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder, modern dance team, when they appear at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

It is the only modern dance program from the outside, which will be seen on campus this year, Robert Reifsnider, assistant professor of dramatics, said.

Miss Frankel and Ryder are giving their performance here prior to giving the same show in New York at the Young Men and Young Women's Hebrew Association hall, where it will be judged by most of the critics in New York.

They asked that tickets be sold for a low price so that they would have a large enough audience to get an accurate reaction to their show. The reserved seat tickets are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main for 60 cents.

Names of numbers to be presented are "Haunted Moments," "Duet," "Irresistible Force," "Jacob Loved Rachel," "Chaos and Counterpoint," "Ballad of the False Lady," "Biography of Fear," and "People and Things."

The two dancers are being sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics honorary.

Harshbarger to Speak

The Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, College chaplain, will speak in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church tonight as part of the annual Week of Prayer services sponsored by Centre County ministerial groups.

TODAY'S WEATHER

CLOUDY AND COLD

State Courtmen Top Orange, 61-57

By DAVE COLTON

In one of the roughest, but most thrilling games on Rec Hall court in many seasons, Penn State's fighting cagers won their sixth game of the season in seven starts over Syracuse last night. The final score was 61-57.

Although Coach Elmer Gross' dribblers played one of their poorer games of the season, they were able to capitalize on Orange fouls. The visitors played a majority of the game without the services of their star center, six-eight Ed Miller.

State hit on 23 of 31 foul shots. Syracuse made 25 of 36.

Jesse Arnelle, freshman center, once again topped the Lions in scoring with 18 points. The grid-iron end also missed part of the contest, riding the bench with three first-half fouls.

Joe Piorkowski and Hardy Williams of the Nittanies and Frank Reddout and Dave Kline of the Orange left the tilt via personal fouls.

Co-captain Williams only scored five markers for the victors but his poise and ball-handling were a major factor in the Lions' win. Herm Sledzik was runnerup in scoring honors for State with 11 points and Piorkowski chipped in with eight.

Bucky Roche, Syracuse's outstanding sure-shot guard tied Arnelle for the scoring leadership with 18 tallies. Roche scored 13 of his points in the first half and was instrumental in leading the Orange to their 31-30 half-time margin.

The Lions started fast and grabbed a 7-0 lead before Roche broke the ice and converted a foul for Syracuse. The Orange made nine shots before they scored a field goal to make it 7-3.

With six minutes of play gone in the first quarter the visitors

(Continued on page six)

Two Men Debate Mt. Mercy

Two College men debaters will meet two women from Mt. Mercy College tonight in a traditional debate at 7:30 tonight in 121 Sparks.

The debate, which is open to the public, will be in the lighter vein, according to Clair George, debate manager. Each year the participants are encouraged to introduce a humorous note into their speeches in order to gain experience along the line of the Oxford Union, English debating society.

Introduced by Roberts

This year's topic is "Resolved: That day nurseries should be established and maintained at public expense in all cities of over 15,000 in Pennsylvania."

This question was first introduced by H. M. Roberts, author of "Roberts Rules of Order," in his parliamentary law class in 1915.

It has been used often since that time, according to J. F. O'Brien, debate coach, especially during or following wars because of the influx of women into industry at those times.

Non-decision Debate

Edward Shanken and Samuel Nowell will argue on the affirmative side against the negative women's team.

The non-decision debate will be held in cross-examination style, with each team having opportunities to question the opponents.

The same topic will be argued at Mt. Mercy March 20.

1 Donation Listed For Gentzel Fund

Only one donation for the Gentzel fire fund was turned in at the Student Union office this week, according to George Donovan, manager of associated student affairs.

That donation was $5.92 from the West Dorms, which brings the total to $240.20.

Edward Shihadeh, president of the Interfraternity Council board of control, reported that a renewed appeal for funds from the fraternities was made at the IFC meeting Wednesday night.

Froth Girl Contest

Deadline Wednesday

The deadline for submission of photographs for the February Froth Girl of the Month contest has been set at 4 p.m. next Wednesday. Photographs may be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Froth girl contestants may be sponsored by fraternities or other groups, or women may enter themselves. Name, semester, and college address are required with each photograph.

Botany 22 Conflict

The Botany 22 conflict examination will be on Jan. 22 at 10:20 in 208 BL instead of 1:20 as listed.

Officials Seek New Rifle Range

Complaints from residents on the ground floor of Atherton Hall over the noise created by the Army ROTC firing range located in the dormitory basement have resulted in the College administration seeking another location for the range.

The range was transferred from the Armory to the basement of Atherton Hall when an increase in the staff of the Air ROTC necessitated the construction of additional office space in the military headquarters.

Under construction since the resumption of classes in September, the Atherton firing range was put into operation Monday, the Daily Collegian learned. An administration source said that since going into use, the range has been used two hours on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, and one hour yesterday morning.

In a letter to the Daily Collegian, signed by "The Girls of the Ground Floor, Atherton," it was indicated that the disturbances had been for a longer period of time.

"We are trying to find a location for the range elsewhere," an administration official told the Daily Collegian yesterday. He indicated that if the disturbance is too great, the College may decide to discontinue the use of the range until a more suitable range could be found.

The same official said that the decision to place the range in the Atherton Hall basement was made after a study of available facilities failed to disclose another suitable site for the range. He said that the decision to place the range in Atherton was the "only practical solution" although it was realized at the time that the site was not completely satisfactory.

Use of the range was supposed to be restricted to the hours between 5 and 7 p.m. on weekdays, according to Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston. According to Maj. William H. Cox, assistant professor of military science and tactics, it was the understanding of the military that the range could be used until 7 p.m. from Monday through Thursday and until 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Use of the range was supposed to be restricted to the hours between 5 and 7 p.m. on weekdays, according to Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston. According to Maj. William H. Cox, assistant professor of military science and tactics, it was the understanding of the military that the range could be used until 7 p.m. from Monday through Thursday and until 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

'Need' Theme Set For Religion Week

"This Meets Your Need" will be the theme of this year's Religion-In-Life Week, to be held Feb. 17 to 21, according to Ralph Cash and Jane Montgomery, co-chairmen of the RILW general committee.

George Peters and Miss Montgomery have been placed in charge of publicity for the week, while David Kincaid is chairman of the religious culture committee.

In other years it was the custom for each local religious denomination to invite a speaker to represent it in RILW. This year, however, the RILW committee decided to accept the recommendations of Inter-Religious Council, sponsors of the affair, to eliminate denominational speakers, except in cases where groups feel that they are not represented by the four major speakers of the week.

The three groups which will invite speakers are the Unitarian Fellowship, Christian Science Organization and the Penn State Bible Fellowship.

The four main speakers for the week are the Rev. A. T. Mollegem, Virginia Theological Seminary, and the Rev. John Dillenberger, Columbia University, representing the Protestant point of view; and Rabbi Arthur Lelyveld, national director of Hillel Foundations, and Otto Herberg, noted author, representing the Jewish tradition.

A feature of RILW this year will be services conducted in the Little Theater each noon in the manner of one faith.

Senate to Discuss Cabinet Proposals

The Senate committee on calendar will meet this afternoon to consider three proposals recently made by All-College Cabinet.

The committee will discuss proposals that would begin and end all vacation recesses at noon, provide two "floating" holidays to be used by the student body for special events, and continue the two-day recess for registration now in effect.

Student spokesmen said the policy of ending vacations at noon would allow students to reach their homes without driving at night and would also give coeds more time to leave the dorms before they close.