'Heiress' Engrossing But Not Great Show

By BETTIE LOUX

Although probably not destined to be Players' greatest show of the year, "The Heiress," which opened last night in Schwab Auditorium for a three-night run, provides over two hours of quick-tempoed entertainment sparked by dry sarcasm and occasioned pathos.

Credit for this goes to director Walter H. Walters, who has kept the pace at a remarkably fast clip, important in the drawing-room type play where mental, rather than physical, action predominates.

The beautifully sensitive script portrays the change of a weak naive girl whose character develops until, in a fine dramatic scene, she has the strength to leave her lover knocking futilely upon the door.

It is disappointing, however, to feel that the play in general was carried along on a somewhat superficial level. There seems to be some misunderstanding among members of the cast as to whether they are playing high melodrama or presenting a simple, touching story.

The play lacks style in that the personalities of Dr. Austin (Continued on page eight)

Officials Study Visa Violation

Special to the Daily Collegian

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17—(P)—Immigration and Naturalization officials studied today a charge against a Chinese student of overstaying his permit in the United States.

He is Lien Yueh Tu, 40, a graduate student at Penn State College. Tu was arrested Jan. 4 after his latest application for an extension was turned down.

The Chinese originally entered the U.S. in 1948. He had been granted yearly extensions of his visa.

Herman Williams, trial examiner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, indicated after a hearing it will be at least two weeks before he files his recommendation. The final decision will be made by the commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization in Washington, D.C.

At a preliminary hearing, the government questioned Tu at length over the founding of the Penn State chapter of the Scientific Workers Association.

Tu testified that the Red Chinese Government had been discussed at some meetings of the association. He said the association since however has been disbanded.

Negro Sorority To Ask Senate OK

No Joint Customs Planned

There will be no joint enforcement of women's and men's customs for incoming freshmen, Joan Yerger, chairman of the Freshman Customs and Regulations Board, said yesterday.

Miss Yerger stated, however, that the plans for joint enforcement are not dead. She said she and David Mutchler, Tribunal chairman, planned to continue working on a policy of joint enforcement that can be put into effect next fall.

120 Freshman Expected

Because so few freshman women will be coming to the campus for the spring semester, Miss Yerger said she and Mutchler could see no necessity for changing the current customs set-up.

(The Admissions office said yesterday that it expected approximately 120 freshmen to enroll for the spring semester, an estimated 45 of whom will be women. At present, 56 men and 38 women are actually enrolled.)

Men's Customs

Miss Yerger also said that there would be no changes in women's customs for the incoming freshmen.

According to Mutchler, men's customs will remain virtually unchanged. The only major addition to the program is a plan which will require all frosh men to meet at specific places on campus at least once a week. At these meetings hatmen will question the new students on customs rules and lead them in cheers and songs.

All frosh are required to buy their customs at the Book Exchange, where their names will be checked off a master list.

Senate Group To Consider Petition Today

A petition requesting a charter for Alpha Kappa Alpha, Negro sorority, will be presented to the Senate committee on student welfare when it meets this afternoon. The meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m.

Should the group be granted a charter, it would become the first Negro sorority on campus.

It was indicated that the Senate group would approve the charter, but that because of the press of previous business, approval might not come at today's meeting.

Petition Consideration

"There is absolutely no opposition to the group," R. Wallace Brewster, professor of political science and chairman of the committee, told the Daily Collegian yesterday. Although action by the committee is not final, approval of such action is generally made in a routine report to the Senate.

The petition for a charter was first presented to the committee several weeks ago, but consideration was delayed because of a full high priority agenda, it was learned.

At present there are 37 Negro women on campus, Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston told the Daily Collegian last night.

Committee Members

According to Yvonne Carter, Women's Student Government vice president and a member of the sorority, five coeds are now members of the local group. In addition, she said, seven other campus women have become af-

Trustees May Reopen AA Proposal

A recommendation by All-College Cabinet to increase student representation on the Athletic Advisory Board may be reopened at the meeting of the executive committee of the College Board of Trustees tonight.

The plan to increase student representation by two members was tabled for further study at the committee's last meeting, Dec. 9. The 13-member board now has three student representatives. Cabinet had suggested that the All-College secretary treasurer and the president of the Women's Recreation Association be added to the committee.

Unauthorized Items

The executive committee also referred to a special committee a proposed change in the operation of the Book Exchange. The committee presumably will report at tonight's meeting.

The request was made by the BX to enable it to handle items not originally authorized in its charter. The special committee to which the matter was referred was set up several years ago when the BX was first proposed. It is composed of Howard J. Lamade, William D. Harkins, and W. Stewart Taylor, all members of the board.

Standing Committees

The annual election of officers will be held tomorrow afternoon when the full board of trustees meets. Members of the executive committee will also be named at that time.

Standing and special committees of the board have special meetings slated for this afternoon and tomorrow morning.

Foreign Grad Students Finish Studies at State

Fourteen foreign students will complete their studies in vocational education at the College, S. Lewis Land, director of vocational teacher education, has announced.

Holding administrative and supervisory positions in vocational educational institutions in their native lands, the students are spending six months in the United States. The graduate students will travel in this country for two to three weeks before returning to their homes, Land said.

Louis Cantave, Haiti; Farhang Heshamat Rad, Iran; and Phanom Smitananda, Thailand are studying agricultural education, while Teresita Sono Trejos, Costa Rica, is in Home Economics.

Studying Industrial Education are Harald Anderson, Norway; Carl Richard Backlund, Finland; Sami Bilgin, Turkey; Felizardo Camilon, Elias Caray and Isias Gregorio Gervasio, Philippines; Hans-Peter Klose and Hans Kloth, Germany; Ole Nicolai Lund, Norway; and U. L. Nayak, India.

Gentzel Fire Fund Distribution Halted

Distribution of funds collected during the drive for money to aid Gentzel fire victims will be held up until some local stores, which have offered to contribute to the drive, turn in their donations.

The drive ended yesterday with less than $300 collected. The amount which the borough stores will contribute is not known at present.

A fire fund committee meeting will be held after the final collections to determine a basis for distribution of the money.

Informal Bids. Not Binding

The informal verbal bids now being extended to first semester freshmen are only indications of a fraternity's interest in a man, and are not binding on either party, Stanley Wengert, Interfraternity Council president, said yesterday.

The policy, voted on by fraternity rushing chairmen and put into effect Tuesday, will remain in effect until 8 a.m., Feb. 16, when formal pledges may be extended.

Wengert said the informal bid arrangement would not be used at the end of next semester unless the IFC decides to make it a permanent part of its rushing code.

'Tartuffe' Not Scheduled

There will be no performances of "Tartuffe," current Center Stage production, this weekend, because of final examinations. The Moliere satire will resume its eight-week run next semester.

Semester Classes End At Noon Tomorrow

Classes for the fall semester will close at 11:50 a.m. tomorrow. Final examinations will start at 1:20 p.m.

Commencement exercises are scheduled for 2 p.m. Jan. 29, and the semester will end at 5 p.m. on that date.

Registration for the spring semester is scheduled for Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 and 2, and classes will begin Feb. 4.

Cagers Win Ninth Top Devils, 89-45

Special to the Daily Collegian

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 17—(P)—Just like old man river Penn State's cage team kept rolling along to their seventh straight victory of the season with a lopsided 89-45 record-setting win over winless Dickinson here tonight.

The 89 points which the Lions tallied broke the record of 85 which they set last night against Gettysburg.

It was the Lions' ninth win of the season against a lone loss.

Jesse Arnelle, freshman center, raised his season total to 171 points with 20 points.

Arnelle once again controlled the backboards over his smaller opponents. The towering grinder received offensive support from Coach Elmer Gross used reserves much of the game. Arnelle played only a little more than half of the contest.

The game was not too thrilling due to the one-sidedness of the contest. State jumped off to a lead in the opening minutes of the game and never relinquished it.

Wiedenhammer contributed eight points to the victors' cause and was outstanding with his floor play.
