

Britain Prepared for Red China Break

Authority Says Truce Violation Would Cause Diplomatic Split

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(P)—An authoritative British source indicated today Britain is ready, if need be, to break diplomatic relations with Red China should the Chinese Communists violate any truce which may be negotiated in Korea.

The Churchill government, this informant said, will not permit British-American differences over recognition to stand in the way of a strong common policy to meet new aggression in the Far East.

20 Tunisian Agitators Arrested

TUNIS, Tunisia, Jan. 18—(AP)—The French cracked down today on restive Tunisia with the pre-dawn arrest of 20 nationalist and communist leaders agitating for an end to French rule over this north African protectorate.

French authorities charged the jailed leaders with fomenting civil war and sparking demonstrations yesterday in which three Tunisians were killed and at least 50 wounded when police fired on mobs at Ferryville and Bizerte.

Seething Arab nationalism which the French say the communists are backing—threatens to blow the lid off this strategic Mediterranean dependency as it does in some other parts of North Africa and the Middle East where the British and French have ruled for decades.

Moslem Pakistan already has promised to support the Tunisians in their formal request, made last Monday, that the Security Council intervene.

Among those caught in the French police dragnet was Habib Bourguiba, president of the independence-seeking Neo-Destour (new constitutional) party. Bourguiba had just returned from a 6-month tour of world capitals where he pleaded his case for Tunisian independence. Also arrested were Mongi Slim, secretary general of the Neo-Destour party, and Maurice Nizard, secretary general of the small communist party.

Vishinsky Talks Tough to Win Aims-Delegate

PARIS, Jan. 18—(P)—A high United States delegate said today Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky talked tough on the Korean armistice in an effort to force concessions from the United Nations.

The United States delegate, who preferred not to be identified, said this was his opinion of Vishinsky's warning yesterday that there is "no hope" of an armistice in Korea so long as the Americans continue making what Vishinsky called unreasonable demands.

The United States and other delegations, especially those with fighting forces opposing the communists in Korea, indicated strongly that the UN will not make the concessions they said Vishinsky apparently wants. They did not state the nature of these concessions in their speculation.

Draft Headquarters Orders 906 Re-exams

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18—(P)—State draft headquarters today issued calls for re-examination of 609 registrants previously turned down because of failure to pass mental tests.

Col. Henry M. Gross, state draft director, said the re-examinations were ordered in compliance with a new federal draft directive. Persons to be re-examined are now classified 4-F.

Stassen Challenges Ike To End 'Khaki Curtain'

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18—(P)—Harold E. Stassen tonight challenged Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to come out from behind his "khaki curtain" to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

At the same time, the former governor of Minnesota, himself an avowed candidate, said he does not believe the nomination "is already zipped up in a plush lined bag" for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Stassen predicted, in a speech prepared for a dinner meeting of the Republican national committee, that the voters in primaries beginning in March will establish the most popular candidate. He added he thinks he may be that man.

Eisenhower has said he is a Republican and available for the party nomination but won't join in the campaigning prior to the July nominating convention in Chicago.

Taft has claimed he already has strength which, if translated into votes in Chicago, will give him the nomination on an early ballot.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(P)—Democrats who hope President Truman will run for re-election got a little more grist for their mill today when a House member quoted Truman as saying, "I never quit under fire or ran away from anything."

Rep. Sieminski (D-N.J.) said the President made that comment while they chatted at the White House today. The congressman is one of those trying to persuade Truman to seek another term.

Asked if he thought the President would do so, Sieminski told newsmen:

"If there is a fight and he's asked to join, he'll fight—he'll never quit—that's my opinion."

Holtzinger to Talk To Altrusa Club

Dr. Albert H. Holtzinger, director of the chemistry laboratories, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Altrusa Club of State College at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Hotel State College.

Dr. Holtzinger, district governor of the national organization of Lions, will speak on "The Function of a Service Club."

Dr. Pauline Beery B. Mack, president, reminded members that an important business meeting will follow the program.

2 Churchill Actions Surprise U.K., U.S.

Prime Minister OK's Appointment Of U.S. Naval Head

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(P)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today yielded to the appointment of an American as supreme allied naval commander in Atlantic waters, but won a promise of a million tons of scarce U.S. steel for Britain.

The steel will be exchanged for British tin and aluminum, badly needed in America's rearmament program.

Churchill's acceptance of an American to head the North Atlantic Treaty naval forces came as something of a surprise concession during his farewell conference with President Truman at the White House.

Navy quarters said the most logical choice as the new "seagoing Eisenhower" would be Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, now commander of the U.S. Atlantic fleet.

A Navy spokesman said an official announcement could not be made until certain formalities have been completed.

British leaders had balked at the selection of an American, contending that Britain's traditional "Rule Britannia" naval prestige pointed to the appointment of a Briton.

It was also argued, in London, that through long experience British sea commanders were better qualified to protect the supply lines to Britain and Europe against submarine warfare.

President Truman and Churchill announced the metals "swap" agreement in a joint communique. They said the pact will enable the two countries "to carry out more effectively their common task of contributing to the strength and security of the free world."

British Diplomats Raise Eyebrows At Suez Proposal

LONDON, Jan. 18—(P)—British diplomats second-guessed Prime Minister Winston Churchill today on his bid for token forces from the United States, France and Turkey to line up with British troops in the Suez Canal zone.

They expressed fear he had blundered.

Eyebrows raised as they studied a sentence from the Prime Minister's speech to Congress in Washington yesterday:

"It would enormously aid us if even token forces of the other partners in the four power proposal (for a Middle East defense command) were stationed in the canal zone as a symbol of the unity of purpose which inspires us."

Egyptians immediately attacked the statement, in Paris and in Cairo. That was a reaction in keeping with Egypt's three-month campaign to oust British garrisons from the zone. An Egyptian spokesman at the United Nations, Dr. Mahmoud Azmi Bey, told reporters the proposal "constitutes a new attack on the sovereignty of Egypt."

British forces are in the canal zone under a 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance which Egypt has torn up. International law would be breached if other foreign troops were brought into the area without Egypt's consent.

Such a move would be resented by the entire Moslem world.

If the United States and the other nations reject the idea of sending in token forces, the Egyptians might be justified in thinking that Britain stands alone in the bitter Suez dispute.
