

WSGA Senator Has Variety of Activities

By GINGER OPCZENSKI

"A meal-ticket checker is also a messenger from roommate to roommate and a date bureau for the waiters," Esther Beck, an active graduating senior, comments from experience.

Becky, as she is known to all her friends, held the job of checker in Simmons for a year. She enjoyed it very much because she "got to know all the girls in the dorm," and worked with "a wonderful group of waiters."

As senior senator of the Women's Student Government Association for the past semester, Becky was chairman of the coed coordinating committee, made up of vice presidents of women's campus organizations.

Interviews

"The girls were all so cooperative it was a real pleasure to work with them," the sociology major said.

Becky's place as head of the committee, which works out plans for the junior-senior faculty reception, will be taken by Lila Barnes, who was appointed by the WSGA Senate.

When, after her election, Becky was placed on the board interviewing candidates for WSGA freshman senator and treasurer, she said it was a new feeling to sit back and know exactly how the candidates felt.

Athletic Interests

A member of the women's intercollegiate debate team her sophomore year and president of Delta Alpha Delta, women's professional speech fraternity, the next year, Becky has been interested in debate since high school days. She competed in two intercollegiate tournaments.

Other student government positions Becky has held include Leonides representative, president of her dormitory unit, and vice president of off-campus women at Edinboro State Teachers College, where she spent her freshman year.

Athletics has always interested Becky, and in the spring of 1950 she played in a tennis tournament at the College.

Office Typist

"I played in only one match, which I won, because it was the end of the semester and I had to leave," the 21-year-old senior recalled. She also played in IM-volleyball for Simmons.

Becky won a $200 scholarship from McKeesport High School, where she was graduated 13th in a class of 772.

She has maintained a 1.8 All-College average, and appeared in "Who's in the News" both her junior and senior years.

For two summers Becky worked as a typist in an insurance office in Pittsburgh, although she never had instruction in typing.

Summer Resort Waitress

She taught herself the "Beck and Peck" method, as she calls it, and worked up enough speed to pass the company's test.

"The only trouble with my system is that I have to look at the copy, memorize it, and then I look back at the keys to see what I'm typing," Becky said.

She worked another summer as a waitress in Ocean Grove, N.J. Her comment was, "Fun, but not for life's work."

As yet, Becky has no job for after graduation. She would like to do personnel work for a year, and then go on to graduate school.

Memories

Among the memories of Penn State that Becky says she will take with her are "all the new friends I've made—several of whom will be life-long friends."

"Time of Your Life," the first play I saw produced arena style . . .

"The beautiful autumns with the most varied colors of any part of the state I've ever seen . . ."

"And the wrestling matches, which are my favorite sports events." Becky will see her last Penn State match of the season tonight.

L.S./M.F.T.-Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

I'm quite an athlete in school,
And many I have raced.
There's just one thing that can't be beat—
It's Luckies' better taste!

Harris Freedman
