Opinions on Airport Asked of Countians

Centre Countians are now being asked to give their opinion on the recent proposal for an all-weather county airport.

The Centre Daily Times launched a countywide poll on the question yesterday. In addition to the ballot appearing in The Times, several hundred telephone calls will be made to all sections of the county to seek answers to the following questions:

Physical Plant Plans Projects

The department of physical plant is undertaking two maintenance projects on campus, Walter W. Trainer, supervisor of maintenance, said yesterday.

The area in front of the main gate is being resurfaced with a rectangular, close-fitting flagstone as a temporary move to keep the region free from mud, Trainer said.

The space was formerly covered with irregular paving that allowed mud to seep between the stone. The new stone now being placed there was removed from the tri-dorm area last year, Trainer said.

Several trees along Shortlidge road in front of the women's dormitories are being moved into an open area for freer development, he said. Trainer said a heating tunnel which runs beneath the sidewalk next to the trees has been hampering their growth. Moving the trees back will allow better development and will also provide more parking space along the road, he said. Future plans may call for a curb along the road, Trainer indicated.

Student Group To Broadcast at 8

A radio roundtable discussion by four members of the men's debate team will be broadcast at 8 tonight over WMAJ.

The topic for the half-hour program will be this year's national intercollegiate debate topic, "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a permanent program of wage and price control."

Robert Amole, John Baron, Jay Headly, and David Swanson will informally discuss the question. Prof. Joseph F. O'Brien, coach of the men's debate team, will be moderator.

Ag Ec Club to Hear Shaw Speak on China

Mark Shaw, past member of the Friends Relief Service Organization in China, will be the guest speaker at Monday night's meeting of the Agriculture Economics Club. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Alpha Gamma Rho.

Shaw will speak on the current economic problems facing China. Slides paralleling his topic will be shown.

3 Committee Heads Set By Laubach

Three members of the Association of Independent Men were appointed last night by John Laubach, president, to head committees.

Joseph Haines will be in charge of a committee to plan distribution of keys; Paul Zanoni will head a committee on the national convention which will be held April 10 to 12 at Oklahoma University, and Ralph Griffith will head a committee to consider a joint project with Interfraternity Council to sponsor a displaced person.

Proposed Weekend. The Foster Parents Association, New York City, sent AIM a letter requesting sponsorship of a DP, and Griffith will investigate the possibilities of having a joint sponsorship project.

William Cole, social chairman for AIM, is meeting with Leonides to discuss the proposed Independent weekend, but no definite action has been taken yet.

Laubach asked floor leaders in the West Dorms to contact men interested in religion to get together and determine some possible topics for discussion during RILW, Feb. 16 to 24. He also said that each floor would have a speaker in an informal after-dinner meeting during the week.

Elections Planned. Pollock Council will meet next week to elect new dormitory officers who will take their place on the AIM group at its next meeting, Feb. 20. Nittany and West Dorms will elect officers also to replace those who have been graduated or have left the dormitories.

Laubach also announced that the nominations committee should have at least two nominations for the four AIM offices for next fall by April 2. The tentative date for elections is May 14.

Concert Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for the State College Choral Society's presentation of the Budapest string quartette and the Philadelphia woodwind quintette are now on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Priced at $3, the tickets are for the series of two concerts. No single admissions will be sold.

The Budapest quartette concert will begin at 8 p.m. Feb. 27 in the State College High School auditorium. Selections by Haydn, Mozart, and Beethoven will be played.

William Kincaid, first flutist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, will appear with the woodwind quintette March 31 in the high school auditorium. They will play compositions from the works of Haydn, Hindemith, deWally, Beethoven and Milhaud.

Foreign Relations Series to Start

The first of a series of international relations meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 100 Horticulture. The Future Farmers of America club is initiating the program, proposed by the Agricultural Student Council because of the large number of foreign students on campus.

Pedro von Achenbach, Uruguay, a graduate student in poultry husbandry, and Alvaro Chaparra of Colombia, South America, a graduate student in agricultural economics, will be the guest speakers. An informal discussion of living conditions and farming methods of the Latin American countries and a film on the countries below the equator will also be included in the initial meeting.

All agriculture students are invited to attend the meeting.

Spanish Club to Meet

El Circulo Espanol, Spanish club on campus, will meet at 7 tonight in the home economics living center.

Norman Duffy, vice president, will preside while President Kay Limer is student teaching. Plans for a spring play will be discussed and committees will be selected.

Drug Is Proved Growth Stimulant In Tests Here

Aureomycin, one of the antibiotic drugs which is to be highly effective as a growth stimulant in pigs and poultry, was found to bring about increased growth responses up to 72 percent for the first four weeks in dairy bull calves in tests made by Dr. C. B. Knodt at the College.

Calves receiving aureomycin gained an average of one pound per day for the first four weeks and 1.57 pounds per day for the next eight weeks, according to the published results.

However, calves receiving the same diet without aureomycin average only .58 pounds per day for four weeks and 1.30 pounds per day for 12 weeks.

Dr. Knodt, professor of dairy husbandry, estimated that the use of milk replacement can save at least $10 to $15 per calf and recommends the use of an aureomycin supplement in the formula.

Dr. Knodt has also tested penicillin in calf feeds with somewhat unfavorable results.

Chem Society To Hear Talk By Dr. Willard

Dr. Mary L. Willard, professor of chemistry at the College, will be the principal speaker at the 181st meeting of the American Chemical Society at 7:30 p.m. Monday, 119 Osmond.

The annual awards of the central Pennsylvania section to outstanding chemistry students of Bucknell, Juniata, and Penn State will also be presented at this meeting.

Dr. Willard's topic will be criminalistics. She will lecture on the new and improved methods of forensic science. Dr. Willard has developed many of these methods. Not only the use of several of these methods as successfully applied to several individual investigations but also modern research will be discussed.

The lecture is open to all members of the section and their friends.

Mixer Planned By Ed Council

The Education Student Council Tuesday night voted in favor of a mixer to be held at some time during the current semester. The council voted 9-1 in favor of the mixer over a handbook for next year.

A committee of five was appointed to plan the mixer, the date of which was not set. The committee is composed of Edward Crossley, Joyce Beiber, Charles Brill, Joan Yergler, and Georgene Huber.

Jane Steiber and Ruth Diehl were voted in to fill the vacancies in the council left by Jack Beiter and Joseph Gronick, who graduated last semester.

Marian Whitely, who is acting as president of the council while Ralph Egoft is student teaching, said students may submit suggestions to the council in the suggestion box on the first floor in Burrows.

Students Warned Of Coat Thieves

Coats are being stolen from coat racks outside classrooms, Philip A. Mark, captain of the campus patrol, warned students yesterday.

Mark said two coats were stolen yesterday afternoon from a third floor rack in Willard Hall and at least one coat has been stolen each week during the winter.

Anyone may return a coat by hanging it on the rack from which it was taken or giving it to a janitor who will ask no questions, Mark said.

PRR Signal Difficulty Testified

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 6—(AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad supervisor of telegraphs and signals testified today that another engineer had reported difficulty with train signals on the day the Red Arrow express ploughed into the rear of the Philadelphia night express.

Charles B. Darrah gave that testimony at the trial of Francis B. Yentzer, 62-year-old engineer of the Red Arrow express who is charged with involuntary manslaughter and negligence in the wreck which killed nine persons and injured 123 at Bryn Mawr last May 18.

Darrah and Assistant Supervisor Benjamin R. Eberle, however, both stated that signal tests after the wreck indicated that nothing was wrong with the system.

Darrah's statement concerning another engineer's report was made under cross-examination shortly before the state wound up its testimony.

Burt R. Carson, superintendent of engines for the railroad, acknowledged under cross-examination he often found conflicting signals in the area where the wreck occurred.

Under direct examination, Carson testified he made a test run between Paoli and Bryn Mawr the day after the wreck and found all signals operating perfectly.

2 New Centers Open to Sophs

Two Penn State Centers, Ogontz and Behrend, will offer sophomore training beginning with the fall semester.

The two additions bring the College's two-year programs to a total of six—Altoona, DuBois, Hazleton, and Pottsville already being in operation.

President Milton S. Eisenhower explained that the action is a result of repeated requests from parents of students enrolled at the centers. Ogontz is near Philadelphia, Behrend near Erie.

President Eisenhower also made it clear that students would not be under obligation to spend both years at these centers. He said that they would be permitted to transfer to the main campus here or to another school at the end of any semester.

Both centers were opened since the end of World War II. Enrollment at Ogontz is 250, Behrend, 64.

Ex-College Athlete Receives New Post

John M. Stocker, graduate of the College in the class of 1935 and captain of the basketball team of that year, has been appointed license contracts manager in the Commercial Development Division of Merck & Co., Inc., manufacturing chemists, of Rahway, N.J.

Stocker received his bachelor of science degree in physical education from the College and his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1941. While at the College he played varsity baseball and basketball. He also served as president of the Athletic Association, the junior class, and his fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Advertising Majors To Exhibit Work

Advertising majors in the Department of Journalism will present an exhibit of layout and campaign work at the convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

The convention will be held in Harrisburg this weekend according to Donald W. Davis, professor of journalism, in charge of the department's advertising sequence.

Attending the convention besides Davis will be Richard Byers and Ronald Hicks, instructors of journalism.
