

Tough Foes Lie Ahead Of Matmen

By JAKE HIGHTON

Penn State's mat team, nearly half-way through its season without any of the four defeated teams providing a serious threat to the Lions' 15-match winning streak, will face a tough second-half season schedule against five squads which State cannot afford to relax against.

Army, Nittany foe at West Point Saturday, Syracuse, Navy and Princeton form an imposing lineup of future opponents which stand between the Lions and a second successive undefeated season.

Fornicola Ineligible

To meet the pressure of the coming matches, Coach Charlie Speidel is well supplied with reserves in the event of injuries.

The fact that freshman Larry Fornicola isn't eligible for the rest of this semester hurts the Lions' depth, yet Speidel has Don Maurey's brother Gerry still in reserve for the 137 pound class.

Maurey

In the loss of Fornicola, Maurey's keenest competitor for the 137 job, Captain Don lost his best friend. The Bellefonte freshman drew in the Lehigh meet and won a 7-5 decision against Pitt last semester in two varsity starts and kept pushing State's EIWA champion Maurey.

Three Top Maimen

Yet State, with a second team that many opposition coaches probably would like to own, still has such calibre as PIAA champion and undefeated freshman Gerry Maurey to bolster the 137 weight division.

Against Army Saturday the Lions will be facing a squad which can show only one win, one tie and three loss record but which packs three individual performers who placed in the top three spots of the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament held here last March.

Army's big three are Bob Karns, Al Paulekas and Captain Don Swygert. Paulekas, at 177, and Swygert, at 157, took third places in the EIWA and Karns came out with 123 pound runner-up honor in the championships.

Lost to Pitt

As to team performance, however, Army has been running far behind its 5-3 record last year. The Cadets, who last year gave the Lions their closest match, losing only 15-11, opened their season with a 22-8 win over Brown.

Since that initial win, the strong Cornellians took the Cadets 21-16. Army tied Columbia 12-12, lost to Pittsburgh, 17-10, and was defeated by Syracuse, 22-12. The only mutual foe, Pitt, was beaten by State, 25-5.

7 Sororities Net IM Wins

Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Phi Mu, and Alpha Xi Delta all entered badminton wins in the WRA intramurals last night. Alpha Gamma Delta and Thompson A netted bowling victories.

Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Delta, and Phi Mu took both badminton singles and doubles over Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Sigma Sigma, and Alpha Omicron Pi. By taking two singles, Alpha Chi Omega, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Chi Omega took their matches from the Theta Phis, Tri Deltas, and AE Phis. In the Kappa Delta-Delta Zeta matches, KD's Norma Curico had to play an extra tilt to win from Kathy Nicoll to decide the winner. In the other badminton game scheduled, last year's champs, Leonides, forfeited to Atherton West.

The Alpha Gamma Delta bowlers hit the pins for a total of 471 to top Beta Sigma Omicron's 412. Shirley Miller from the loser's team was evening high with 129. Thompson A came through with 443 to stop the Sigma Delta Tau keggers 443-415. High for the game was Elinor Forman with 115.

Come on Ball, Get in There

CO-CAPTAIN TINY McMAHAN (12) waits for a rebound during last night's Lion 66-52 win over Rutgers. Larry Gordon (18) of the Scarlet tried unsuccessfully to grab the ball. The win tied the all time Penn State record at 12 victories in a row. The Lions entertain Georgetown in Rec Hall Saturday night.

Arnelle opened the night's scoring as he dropped a rebound through the cords. The 6-5 frosh scored nine of his tallies in the opening frame and was largely responsible for the Nittanies' huge first quarter lead.

Lions Get Hot

State eased up in the second ten minutes of action and only tabulated nine markers against the Scarlet's 12. This reduced the Lions' lead at intermission to 30-18, the closest the visitors got after the first eight minutes.

The Lions really got hot after intermission and displayed some of the shooting prowess which has guided them to 12 straight wins. During this ten minute period they connected on 11 of 25 field goal attempts and racked up 24 tallies.

Arnelle Connects

Co-captain Hardy Williams bore the brunt of this third quarter outburst with eight of his 15 points. Sharpshooting Joe Piorowski also hit with two sets and a one-hander to break open Rutgers' troublesome defense. State led 54-32 at the end of this frame. Arnelle made two beautiful one handers and showed some fancy defensive work at the start of the fourth period. Herm Sledzik, who played most of the contest under the handicap of four fouls, got five tallies and the Lions zoomed to a commanding 61-32 margin.

Host Georgetown

After this 29 point lead the Lions were content to relax and Coach Don White's visitors outscored them 20-12 in the period. Arnelle fouled out after three minutes and reserves played the remainder of the tilt.

The Lions will attempt to break the College's consecutive win skein when they host Georgetown in Rec Hall Saturday. After the Hoya battle Gross' courtmen will play five away games.

Candidates for second assistant track manager are asked to report at the balcony in Rec Hall today at 4 p.m.

Williams Keyman In Cagers' Success

By DAVE COLTON

When an athletic coach has as many young performers on his team as cage mentor Elmer Gross does this season he needs a steady veteran to guide the newcomers. Gross fortunately has such a valuable player in Hardy Williams, senior co-captain from Philadelphia.

Williams has been the dependable playmaker and inspirational leader in the Lions' amazing surge to a 14th position among the country's basketball powers. The 21 year-old guard reached the top of his collegiate career when he calmly sank a beautiful set shot Saturday night to give the Lions a dramatic one-point up-set of nationally rated West Virginia. Williams' clincher came with less than 15 seconds of play remaining.

Steel Bowl Splurge

Hardy has never been a terrific scorer, since most of his value comes from his ball handling and versatility. But this season, the six-foot, 170 pounder has been rolling along at a nine-point per game clip. His 115 tallies in 13 contests rank him third on the team.

Hardy's biggest point splurge of the campaign was a 19-point outburst against Pitt in the finale of the Steel Bowl tournament. The Panthers ganged up on the Lions' freshman center Jesse Arnelle, so Williams took over the scoring slack with 18 tallies in the second half. Williams' scoring paced State to the tourney championship, and earned him a second team berth on the All-Tournament squad selected by Pittsburgh papers.

On Dean's List

State's captain seems to like the Pitt field house, for he also led the scoring attack in the second Panther fray. Another game Hardy remembers well is the Bucknell game last season in which he scored 18 points and played one of his greatest floor games.

Although Williams has spent three seasons on State's court squads and will be a three-letter man, he has not neglected his studies. He is familiar with the Dean's list and has maintained a 2.6 All-College average in pre-law. The agile basketeer plans to complete his education at Penn.

He was graduated in 1948 from West Philadelphia High School, where he was varsity performer in three sports — baseball and football, besides basketball. Williams was selected to the second All-Public grid team, and earned honorable mention among All-Public dribblers. His classmates voted him the outstanding athlete in the '48 graduating class.

Hardy attended Cheney State Teachers College his freshman year. He came to State in the fall of 1949 and has become one of the Nittany Vale's most popular athletes. Last spring in the All-College elections he was chosen secretary-treasurer of the Athletic Association.

Army Poses Next Hurdle For Boxers

By BOB VOSBURG

With its opening-match draw with Catholic U. in the past, Penn State's boxing team can turn its full attention to Saturday's match with Army at West Point.

In meeting the Cadets, the Nittany men will be up against a team which has already fought three matches. Army was rudely bounced by Michigan State in its opener, 7-1, and then after trouncing the University of Toronto, 8-0, fell prey to an always-powerful Syracuse crew, 6½-1½.

Hughes Undefeated

Although the West Pointers can boast only one undefeated regular, there does appear to be the possibility of a couple of terrific bouts when they and the Lions clash. Army's big man, in more ways than one, is defending Eastern intercollegiate champion at 175 pounds, Captain Jim McInerney. Fighting at the 178 pound post McInerney will be meeting the Lions' rugged new light-heavy Adam Kois. Kois stopped his Catholic U. opponent in 35 seconds of the first round in his first intercollegiate fight Tuesday night.

McInerney, however, isn't the Cadets' undefeated first stringer. This distinction goes to 165-pounder Jerry Hughes. The Army captain dropped his opening match against Michigan State, but with little disgrace since the man who beat him was the Spartans' Captain Chuck Speiser, national 175-pound champion.

Kozzarek Meets Hughes

In the Syracuse meet, McInerney continued his dominance over Eastern opposition when he decided his old nemesis, George Kartalian, whom he beat in the finals of last year's Eastern tournament.

Cadet Hughes' match with the Lions' undefeated middleweight Lou Kozzarek should also be a dilly. Hughes, however, does have a draw marring his record, this with Vince Rigolo of Syracuse.

Lions Finished Second

The only other Army boxer returning this year is Cadet Jim McGee, who fought last year at 147 and has dropped down to 132 where he has a record so far of one and two. Lion Captain Johnny Albarano beat McGee, 30-27, in last season's Army meet.

If past history means anything, it might be interesting to note that it was with a 4½-3½ victory over Army last year that the Lions found themselves and went on to runner-up honors in the Easterns.

Identical Twins

There are sets of identical twins competing in both wrestling and gymnastics at Penn State.
