

Panhel Council OK's IFC Dance Proposal

By LYNN KAHANOWITZ

Panhellenic Council last night unanimously approved a plan calling for co-chairmanship of the IFC-Panhel Ball, and discussed rushing and the proposed amendment to the All-College Constitution.

Presented by Stanley Wengert, Interfraternity Council president, the dance plan calls for a committee of two Panhel and three IFC representatives. Marlene Heyman, vice president, and Byrne Tetley, treasurer, will represent Panhel.

The vice presidents of each group will be co-chairmen of the April 4 dance, and the IFC secretary-treasurer will act as business manager. The business manager and the other Panhel representative will be co-chairmen of the Woody Herman Concert committee.

IFC Approves Plan

Profits will be distributed on the ratio of money contributed by each group. Fifty fraternities and 19 sororities give money to support the dance. Compensation will be paid after all the money has been distributed.

The plan was approved by IFC last Wednesday. It will be registered in the office of Associated Student Activities.

The plan is a complete reversal of one which was unanimously turned down by Panhel Feb. 5. The first proposal, backed by IFC, called for the IFC vice president to be sole chairman of the ball committee.

Olmsted Explains Amendment

James Wharton, IFC vice president, said he hoped the agreement would bring cooperation between the two councils.

David Olmsted, senior class president, explained the proposed amendment to the All-College Constitution concerning student fees. The plan calls for All-College Cabinet to take a statistical poll of the student body concerning fees if a petition has been signed by a sufficient number of students.

No Double Dating

The poll would be conducted by the All-College election committee. Jane Stieber, senior psychology major, pointed out that learning to conduct and analyze a poll was a four year job. The council voted to take the proposal back to the individual sororities.

Marilyn Levitt, Panhel president, pointed out that rushing rules forbid actives from double dating with rushees. Marion Whitely, rushing chairman, explained that any contact with rushees by actives outside the suites is considered dirty rushing.

Production Candidates For Inking to Meet

Students interested in learning production techniques for Inking, campus literary magazine, will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in 9 Carnegie Hall.

The production process used in offset printing will be explained and outlined, Milton Bernstein, managing editor, said yesterday, and production of the magazine will start next Tuesday.

Coed Elections Set for March

Spring elections of the Women's Student Government Association and the Women's Recreation Association will begin March 27 with the primaries and end March 29 with the final elections.

The dates, suggested by Joanne Williams, WSGA election chairman, were approved unanimously by the WRA executive board last night along with the complete election schedule and the recommendation that the present election plan be continued.

Under the current system coeds must nominate themselves for office. Applications may be filed in the Dean of Women's office from March 10 to 13. WSGA and WRA will hold

The Campaign Opens

THE FIRST SIGN OF a presidential campaign on campus was visible yesterday when students going to early morning classes saw this sign posted on the bulletin board outside Carnegie Hall. Three freshman women (left to right) Terry Mizia, Marcia Ferguson, and Gayle Thrush stopped for a minute to have a closer look. The sign was removed shortly after this picture was taken. No one seems to know who posted the sign in the first place.

'Ugly Man' To Be Chosen March 26-28

The second annual Ugly Man contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will be held March 26, 27, and 28 for the benefit of the Campus Chest. William Slepik, chairman, announced.

Selection of this year's Ugly Man, who must be a well-known eighth semester student, will be determined by voting in a booth set up on the Mall at Pollock road.

Voting for the Ugly Man will be done by placing money in jars representing the candidates. Anyone may vote as often as he wants. The money-votes will be turned over to the Campus Chest.

The man whose jar contains the most money at the end of the voting period will be named Ugly Man of Penn State for 1952. He will receive a silver key at the IFC-Panhel Ball April 4.

Entries for the Ugly Man contest may be submitted only by College organizations. The dead-

Haines Re-elected By Pollock

Joseph Haines was retained as president of Pollock Council last night in the semester elections of that group. Frank Schrey and William Tyson were the other nominees for the post.

Haines was a nominee for Junior class president on the Lion Party ticket last spring.

Other officers elected last night are James Hand, vice president; Richard Morman, secretary; and Donald Ludwig, treasurer. All the offices were filled on the first council vote.

Immediately Installed

Vice president Hand was named head of the council awards committee and treasurer Ludwig was appointed Pollock area fire marshal. A parliamentarian will be appointed at the council's meeting at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The newly-elected officers assumed their duties immediately. Michael Popowniak was named chairman of a committee to investigate area food problems. Also on the committee are Robert Barrattee and Enrico Rossi.

Barons Granted $25

A public welfare committee composed of Theodore McDonald, chairman; Howard Zeutzus, and Norman Bowne was appointed.

The council granted the Barons, Nittany-Pollock social organization, $25 to finance a dance for the area. The time and place of the dance have not yet been decided.

The council also heard a suggestion for planning educational film shows in Pollock dormitories. Films for this purpose are available at Pattee Library at little cost.

Borough Blood Drive

The State College blood drive, under auspices of the Lions Club, has reached its 200 pledge goal. C. W. Stoddart Jr., Red Cross chairman, said last night.

A bloodmobile unit will be at the First Presbyterian Church today to secure donations, he said.

March of Dimes Officials Refuse Share in Fund

The Campus Chest will no longer consider the March of Dimes as a participating agency in future drives, William Klisanin, drive chairman, said yesterday.

This decision, Klisanin said, comes as the result of his meeting last week with National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis officials at which the foundation turned down money from this year's Campus Chest drive.

Prof. Evan Johnson, head of the local chapter of the foundation, said in January that his group could not accept the money because it is against the foundation's policy to accept money from joint fund-raising campaigns.

Re-distribution of Money

Klisanin said he has two plans he will present to All-College Cabinet for disposal of funds collected in this year's Chest drive for the March of Dimes:

1. Re-distribution of the money in proportion to the remaining Chest agencies.

2. Allocation of the money to another welfare agency not presently a beneficiary of the Chest.

Klisanin said foundation officials were "sympathetic to the idea of our campus being an abnormal condition and the way the Chest is set up here," but felt they could not make an exception without risking loss of control over fund-raising activities.

Since the Campus Chest is the only solicitation drive each year on campus, Klisanin indicated, it would be a violation of the Chest plan for the March of Dimes to secure funds from students other than through that drive.

Points Not Clear

Klisanin said the foundation based its policy on the fact that joint drives seldom meet the required goal and do not produce as much income as separate drives.

"The unfortunate part is that these points were not cleared in the Chest's inception in 1949," Klisanin said, "and the fact that

Seven Receive Parking Fines From Tribunal

Seven students were fined for campus parking violations last night at a meeting of Tribunal. Four of these were suspended fines.

Among those fined were two students who were charged with three parking violations and had disregarded previous summons to appear before Tribunal. One student was fined $2, and the other paid a $1 fine when he pleaded that he had not received the previous summons.

The other student fined was one who had appeared before Tribunal and pleaded guilty to charges levied against another student with a similar case.

One student whose fine was suspended said he was in the dispensary while he was charged with illegal parking behind Old Main. Others whose fines were suspended included parking near the library and in the West Dorm area.

The final case involved tagging a car with a parking permit. Tribunal promised the student that it would investigate further.

Richard Klingensmith, who presided at the session, said Tribunal is trying to enforce the overnight parking ban on Burrows Road.

Dr. Thomas, Past Prexy, Succumbs

The Rev. Dr. John Martin Thomas, President of the Pennsylvania State College from 1921 to 1925, died yesterday, at the age of 82.

Services will be held Friday at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Rutland, Vermont, with the Rev. Vedder Van Dyke, Episcopal bishop of Vermont, officiating.

When President Milton S. Eisenhower heard of the death, he said, "John M. Thomas was a vigorous advocate of the values of higher education and the need for such education in the modern world. He was especially understanding of the land grant college philosophy and its service to the Commonwealth.

"For the alumni, faculty, and trustees, I express profound sympathy to his family."

The School of Education and the Graduate School were started, President Eisenhower said, during Dr. Thomas' term here.

Aside from serving as President here, Dr. Thomas was also president of Middlebury College from 1908 to 1920, of Rutgers College from 1925 to 1930 and of Norwich University from 1938 to 1939.

He was born in Fort Covington, N.Y. and was educated at Middlebury College and Union Theological Seminary.

Dr. Thomas also served as pastor of several Presbyterian churches and served in World War I as an Army chaplain.

He leaves his widow, Mrs.leanor Thomas of Mendon, Vt., their home; two sons, Dr. John M., Jr., of Woodstock, Vt., and Henry S., of New Brunswick, N.J., and three daughters, Mrs. Amos W. Fox of Deruyter, N.Y., Mrs. Lloyd B. Gale of Mendon, and Mrs. Edgar G. Killary of East Montpelier, Vt.

Parking Tags Are Discussed By Committee

Plans for issuing new campus parking stickers and setting a time for a change in traffic regulations were discussed Monday night in a three-hour meeting of the All-College traffic committee.

The major problem presented by traffic at Penn State is that there are more cars than parking spaces, according to Walter Wiegand, head of the department of physical plant and chairman of the traffic committee.

Student representative at Monday's meeting was Clair George, replacing David Mutchler, who was out of town.
