

Lions Host West Va. Tonight

Cagers Seek Repeat Win Over Mark Workman and Co.

Big Mark Workman will head the West Virginia Mountaineers in their invasion of Rec Hall at 8 tonight. The West Virginians will seek a turnabout of a 61-60 decision handed them in Morgantown last month by the Lions.

Since the State defeat the Mountaineers have been unbeatable and have a 21-2 record. This week's Associated Press basketball poll listed them tenth in the nation.

Workman, six-nine center, missed two weekend games with Clemson but is expected to return to action against the Lions tonight. He will probably wear a special mask to protect his fractured cheekbone, black eye, badly bruised cheek, and chipped tooth which he suffered in a game with Washington and Lee last week.

Walloped NYU

The All-American center has had a great season. He has scored 520 points in 21 games for an average of 24.7 per game. Last winter the skyscraper star ranked second in major college scoring with a 26.1 average. This season he cracked the school's career total of 1009 points.

One of West Virginia's top accomplishments of the campaign is its 100-75 walloping of New York University in Madison Square Garden. Workman had 24 points in the outburst, and teammate Harry "Moo" Moore had 26 to snap NYU's 12 game winning streak.

Because of this amazing performance and the probability that they will win the Southern Conference championship the Mountaineers may go to the NCAA tournament.

Mountaineer Starters

Gangling Workman has had some other outstanding performances this season. He made 36 points against Niagara, 37 in the Richmond contest, and 30 tallies against Maryland.

Other starters for Coach Red Brown are Captain Jim Coalter (6-5), Jack Shockey (6-2), Ken Alessi (5-7), and Moore (6-2). Ed Becker (6-0) is one of the top reserves. Mac Isner, a sophomore, sees plenty of action.

Coach Elmer Gross' quintet hopes to rebound from three successive defeats, two in overtime. The Lion dribblers will also seek to tie another school record. If they can win tonight's battle it would give them 18 wins for the season and tie the total win mark established by the 1941-42 quintet.

Every Point a Record

Jesse Arnelle, six-five freshman ace, will get the job of stopping Workman. Arnelle had 30 points against Syracuse Saturday and has 400 for the season. He has averaged 26 in his last six games.

In their first meeting at Morgantown, Arnelle held Workman to 13 points while getting 14 himself. Every point the New Rochelle, N.Y. phenom gets will be a new State record since he has already broken the one season scoring mark.

Gross will probably stick with his usual starting lineup of Jack Williams at the guards; Arnelle, center, and Herm Sledzik and Joe Piorkowski, forwards. Ron Weidenhammer, Co-captain Tiny McMahan and Ed Haag will see heavy duty.

After tonight's game the Lions have only two remaining contests—a home game with Pitt Saturday, and a trip to Bucknell, March 8.

Strickland Signs

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26—(AP)—Shortstop George Strickland returned his signed 1952 contract to the Pittsburgh Pirates today. Fourteen Bucs still remain unsigned.

The greatest snowfall in the United States, 74 feet, occurred at Tamarack, Cal., in the winter of 1906-07.

ACE Thinks Own Program Is Competent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The American Council of Education told Congress today that it feels its own recommendations will go far toward cleaning up college sports.

The councils' attitude was expressed in a letter from President Arthur S. Adams to the House rules committee. The committee is considering a proposal to investigate sports, including intercollegiate athletics.

"Since the rules committee is considering the need for a study of athletics," Adams wrote in a letter made public by the council, "it has occurred to me that you may be interested in knowing what educational organizations themselves are doing to improve the conduct of intercollegiate sports."

Adams mentioned the special committee named by the council and the report it submitted. This is the report that calls for strict controls on recruiting and subsidizing and a ban on all spring football practice and post-season bowl games.

Adams didn't come right out and tell the rules committee that he feels a congressional investigation would be pointless. But he did say the council feels the colleges can do the job themselves.

3 More IM Cage Squads Win Titles

Pi Kappa Alpha, Trace A.C., and the Foresters won the championships of their respective IM cage leagues Monday night by bolting past their last regularly scheduled opponents.

Pi Kappa Alpha, led by Bill Thorpe's 15 markers, smacked Acacia, 40-22, for its seventh straight victory in League F. Acacia, 3-4, still has one game left.

Foresters Win 62-3

Trace A.C. had to come from a 13-13 halftime deadlock to hand the Junior Rovers a 28-20 setback. The loss was the first suffered by the Junior Rovers who entered the game tied with Trace A.C. for first place in League E.

The Foresters, who were assured of at least a tie for the League F crown before the game, took no chances as they pounded Dorm 34 by the lopsided margin of 62-3. The Foresters, 7-0, were led in their league-clinching game by Gail Bimber and Bill Buck who scored 17 points each.

Double Forfeit

In games that had no effect on any league championships, Zeta Beta Tau topped Chi Phi, 19-11. Theta Kappa Phi won its fifth of the season by edging Alpha Zeta, 26-24. Delta Sigma Phi rounded out the play in League F by trouncing Alpha Chi Sigma, 30-14.

The Lions of League E won their first victory of the year by handing the Iron Men their seventh consecutive loss, 31-21. The Clippers forfeited to Dorm 29 to set the winners' slate at 3-4. The Eroonies and Comets were guilty of the first double forfeit of the IM season with the result being the third loss of the year for both teams.

Albarano, Koszarek Form Lion 'Gold Dust Twins' Combination

By BOB VOSBURG

Brooklyn's famed "gold dust twins" combination of Pete Reiser and Pee-Wee Reese had nothing on a pair of Penn State boxers, Captain John Albarano and Lou Koszarek, when it comes to being alike.

Since their high school days in Western Pennsylvania's soft coal region, when they faced each other across football scrimmage lines, up to the present time, these two have been operating like carbon copies.

Lou and Johnny met while the former as captain and guard of Portage High School's football team and the latter as captain and guard of Lilly High School's football team were throwing blocks at each other.

Freshmen at Altoona

Johnny who was graduated in 1947, was a three letter man in football and a four year man in basketball, captaining the team for two years. Lou, on the other hand, was a three letter man in football and was the discuss man on the track team.

When the two enrolled at Penn State, they both, in keeping with tradition, were sent to the Altoona center for their freshman year. The boys had no opportunity to continue their athletic careers at Altoona where there were no varsity sports.

In coming to the campus in their sophomore years both boys went out for the boxing team, and both proceeded to win first string assignments.

Lou Started at 155

Fighting at 135-pounds, Johnny did the better of the two in the sophomore campaign, winning four, losing one, and tying one. He reached the semi-finals of the national tourney at Rec Hall before losing to the eventual champ, Everett Conley of Washington State.

Lou broke in as a 155-pounder and shifted between that and the 165-pound class, winning three, losing two and drawing one. His big achievements were a win over Syracuse's Jim Palmiotto and a draw with Joe Miragliotto of Virginia.

Last year, the tide was turned when Koszarek posted the better record, moving through seven bouts, losing none and tying two, while Albarano dropped two matches in seven outings.

Eastern Champions

Not to be outdone by the other, however, both boys won Eastern championships, with Johnny beating John Pardee of Syracuse for the 155-pound title and Lou besting Bill Mahar of Catholic U. for the 165-pound crown.

This year so far, Johnny has won three while losing one, and Lou has split in four bouts.

Johnny cites his biggest thrill in intercollegiate boxing as being named as captain of this year's team, while Lou jokingly says that he hasn't had his biggest thrill, as yet.

Face Army Careers

Both boys pick Syracuse men as their toughest opponents, with John picking Ben Dolphin and Lou naming Joe Palmiotto. Lou does, however, say that Wisconsin's Dick Murphy is among the tops he had met.

As one might expect, both boys look to the same careers after graduation. The Army will be their first job, with Johnny receiving a commission through his lieutenant-colonel rating in ROTC. Then both want to go into engineering and coach boxing on the side, Lou as an industrial engineer and Johnny as a mining engineer.

Lou says his greatest ambition is to travel throughout the country with a boxing team of his own, while Johnny hopes to coach at some small college.

There's one big interest that Johnny has that Lou hasn't. This is a family orchestra in which John and his father play the trumpet, his sisters play an accordion and drums, and his brother plays the clarinet.

Kentucky Five Selected No. 1 For 5th Week

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—(AP)—The University of Kentucky, already champions of the Southeastern Conference, heads into tournament play Thursday and victory as expected would cement for Coach Adolph Frederick Rupp's club rating as the season's No. 1 basketball team.

Penn. State was not mentioned this week.

For the fifth week in a row, Kentucky was ranked on top of the cage heap today in the twelfth weekly nationwide poll of the Associated Press.

Tops in '49, '50

Next week's poll will be the final one of the season, and if Kentucky goes through the Southeastern Conference tournament all victorious, Rupp's mighty men undoubtedly will be rated No. 1 again. This would make Kentucky the No. 1 outfit for three of the four seasons that the AP poll of sports writers and sportscasters has been conducted.

Kentucky was voted the top team in 1949 and 1951. In 1950, when Bradley won the No. 1 honors, Kentucky finished No. 3, with Ohio State No. 2.

Regains Lead

In the 12 previous polls this season, Kentucky was the No. 1 team seven times. Kentucky was No. 1 Dec. 10 in the first poll, dropped to No. 2 behind St. John's in the second. Then Kentucky met and massacred St. John's, and moved back into the No. 1 spot—but only briefly. St. Louis hung a one-point defeat on Kentucky in the Sugar Bowl Tournament, and Kansas took over as the top team three weeks in a row. When Kansas faltered, Illinois was No. 1 for the week, and Kentucky dropped to No. 3.

But Kentucky regained the No. 1 ranking Jan. 29, and has stayed there since.

Batts Eager To Make Good With Detroit

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 26—(AP)—Matt Batts, eager to "show the Red Sox" they booted one by letting him go, is happy to be with Detroit and hopes to land the No. 1 catching job.

The onetime Boston second-stringer came to Detroit from St. Louis about 10 days ago in a seven-man swap. But he spent his entire career with the Red Sox organization until they shunted him to the Browns last May.

"I felt pretty bad when the Red Sox let me go. Sort of insulted. But maybe it was the break I was waiting for."

"In Boston I was in the background to Birdie Tebbets most of the time. When he went, they decided they wanted a ready-made ball player and got Les Moss from St. Louis for me."

When I went over to St. Louis I hit about .407 against the Red Sox. It was a wonderful feeling but it would be even better to do it with this club."

Going To Have Spirit

The 28-year-old Texan from San Antonio said he almost signed with Detroit out of high school in '42. But the Tiger scout didn't match the money the Sox offered.

"I already had about 10 days of spring training with the Browns. That Hornsby (Manager Rogers Hornsby) is going to have good spirit and hustle on that club. I sort of knew what Hornsby was going to tell me when he called me in to tell me about the trade."

Seven Advance In IM Handball

Seven more men have advanced to the second round of the fraternity division of the 1952 IM handball tournament in matches played Monday night and last night on the Rec Hall courts.

Ken Minchin, Phi Delta Theta, and Doug Schoerke, Pi Kappa Alpha, were extended to three sets in moving up. Minchin eased past Ray Stetler, Sigma Chi, 12-21, 21-9, 21-12, while Schoerke outlasted Alvah Davidson, Sigma Phi Alpha, 21-20, 9-21, 21-17.

Robert Koons, Sigma Pi, and Robert Kauffman, Phi Sigma Delta, also moved into the second round in matches played last night. Results of later matches were not known when the Daily Collegian went to press. Koons ousted Alpha Phi Delta's Anthony Pinnie, 21-5, 21-9 and Kauffman edged Richard True, Delta Chi, 21-20, 21-16.

Late Monday night's results included: James Dooley, Sigma Phi Epsilon, over Robert Jackson, Phi Gamma Delta, 21-2, 21-3; Charles Teller, Sigma Phi Sigma, over Charles McCaffrey, Chi Phi, 21-18, 21-6; Lou Gomic, Alpha Tau Omega, over Jay Poser, Phi Sigma Delta, 21-15, 21-11.
