

Worth Appoints BX Committee

New appointments to the Book Exchange committee and senior finals committee were made by All-College Cabinet President James Worth at Thursday night's meeting.

Howard Giles and Robert Smoot, freshman class president, were added to the BX committee and Robert Lynch will replace Jay Headly as treasurer.

Appointed to be co-chairmen of the senior finals committee were David Olmsted, senior class president, and Robert Amole, former chairman of the State Party.

Michael Hanek, junior class president, asked about the possibility of appointing juniors to the committee since they will be confronted with the problem next year.

Worth replied that there would be juniors on the committee. A committee, he said, will be appointed later. Olmsted and Amole were recommended for appointment by the senior class.

Edward Shanken, president of Interstudent Council Board, announced that it will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in 204 Old Main, the student government room.

The Board of Publications would like information from all student publications to help it in a study of the need for a student press, Marvin Krasnansky, board president, announced.

Information needed is the average cost per issue, frequency of publication, a sample copy, and the number of copies printed per issue, Krasnansky said.

John Laubach said the director supplement committee was Andrew Jaros, Shirley Pritchard, Daniel Fagan, Robert Schultz, and John Stoudt.

Petroleum Eng Society Elects New Officers

The Petroleum Engineering Society has elected new officers and outlined plans for this semester's activities.

New officers are Harold Meabon, president; James Boylan, vice president; Roy Brunjes, treasurer; James Davies, secretary; and Franklin Kone, corresponding secretary. The adviser is Dr. John C. Calhoun, Jr., professor of petroleum and natural gas engineering, and faculty sponsor is Charles R. Killins, research assistant in the same department.

Plans made for this semester include a booth to be set up during Spring Week, speakers March 11 and April 17, and a senior banquet in May.

The society is affiliated with the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

College Given Research Aid

The College has been granted one of 14 fellowships by the Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. for advanced study and research in various fields of petroleum science.

The fellowships, valued at $1250, plus tuition and laboratory fees, are available to all qualified graduate students upon application. Selection will be made by the College in cooperation with Stanolind.

This is the 16th year that the company has granted such fellowships. The program was begun in 1937 with a fellowship at the University of Texas.

Naval Honorary Elects Bascum Commander

Clifford Bascum has been elected commander of the Quarterdeck Society, naval science honorary, it was announced recently.

Bascum will succeed Gordon Robinson, who was graduated in January.

Other elected officers include William Hogg, vice-commander; Samuel Kutz, ship's secretary; Laird Kinnaird, corresponding secretary; John Walsh and Robert Gehman, executive committee members; and Ronald Kinsey, representative on the military ball committee.

Windcrest Burgess, Councilmen Elected

George Smith has been elected Burgess of Windcrest. Smith received 88 of 192 votes cast for the office, defeating six other candidates for the position.

Windcrest residents also elected one councilman for each of five zones and five councilmen-at-large.

Results of the council-at-large elections show James Johnson, 65; John Alt, 48; Thomas Stayer, 32; Albert Zeiss, 18; Dale Weitner, 13.

Elected councilman in each of the five zones were Charles Calhoun, zone one; Thomas Inter, zone two; William Forrest, zone three; John Warfel, zone four; Edmund Zellner, zone five.

International Students To Have Reception

A reception for international students on campus will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in Atherton Hall. Dr. Halford E. Lucecock, Sunday's Chapel speaker, will be guest of honor.

Sponsored by the international affairs committee of the Penn State Christian Association, the reception is open to all international and American students.

Stormbound On Cape Cod Road

Owners start to dig out their cars stalled all night at Plymouth, Mass., on the main road from Cape Cod to Boston during the worst snowstorm in 50 years to hit the popular vacation area. Summer cottages surrounding the central play area around Cape Cod, usually lightly hit by New England snowstorms, were snowed in. Winds reached 80 miles an hour, while the snow totaled 20 inches.

Korea Talks Hit Snag on Soviet Issue

MUNSAN, Korea, Saturday, March 1—(AP)—Korean armistice negotiations reached their most critical impasse in seven months Friday when a high-level United Nations command decision barring Russia as a neutral truce inspector was delivered to the Communists.

Angrily the Communists demanded that the Allies withdraw their statement and accused the UN command of "an unreasonable, arbitrary and aloof attitude."

UN negotiators had informed the Reds that "under no circumstances will there be a change in the decisions." The rejection of Russia was called absolutely "final and irrevocable."

The Allies also announced there was no possibility they would abandon their stand against forcing prisoners to return to the Communist side if they did not want to go back.

In this unyielding frame of mind, Allied negotiators prepared to go to Panmunjom once more today for a staff officers' session.

Dr. Laurence LeSage, professor of French, has reviewed the book "Le Theatre de Jean Giraudoux" by Hans Sorensen, in the February issue of The Romantic Review.

Design Contest Open to Students In Architecture

The Tile Council of America, in co-operation with the Beaux-Arts Institute of Design, has announced a national design contest open to architectural students in colleges and universities throughout the United States.

The competition calls for the planning of an airline bus terminal. In judging, special emphasis will be given to the use of clay wall and floor tile for its decorative value and durability. The contest closes May 17 and will be judged between May 27 and June 3.

Students competing through the College are eligible for a $25 local prize as well as the $100 national award. Further information concerning this contest can be obtained from the Department of Architecture.

Fourth Reading Fest Finalists To Be Chosen

Finalists for the Fourth Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival will be chosen this Tuesday from 1 to 5 p.m.

This festival was originated by the College and will be held here May 1 and 2 with approximately 80 schools invited.

Those interested in trying out must contact either Mrs. Harriet Nesbitt or William Hamilton of the Speech department to make a specific appointment.

Four representatives will be chosen of whom two will read poetry, one drama, and one prose. A representative will also be chosen to attend the Eastern Intercollegiate Poetry Reading Festival to be held at Long Island University April 5.

Margarine Law Violations Cited

Eating establishments in Centre County yesterday were warned of violations of the oleomargarine law by a spokesman for the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry of the state Department of Agriculture.

The law, PL 1154, warns that eating establishments may not use oleomargarine or butterine in the preparation of food. It also says that "it shall be unlawful for any hotel, restaurant, public dining room or public boarding house to serve to customers or to have on the premises any oleomargarine, butterine, or other similar substances made or colored so as to look like yellow butter . . ."

Penalties for violations are fines or jail sentences.

Reynaud to Try to Pick Fr. Cabinet

PARIS, Feb. 29—(AP)— wartime Premier Paul Reynaud, a firm backer of Western defense plans, agreed tonight to try to form a government to replace that of the retiring Edgar Faure.

President Vincent Auriol summoned Reynaud back to Paris from London to take over the leadership of a fight for military strength and economic solvency that split the National Assembly wide open early today.

A deputy of the right-wing Independent Republicans and holder of several ministries in the past, Reynaud had made a speech in London on the proposed unified European army when he received the call from Auriol.

Premier Faure's cabinet resigned early today when the National Assembly, after pledging him the money to honor France's defense commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, refused to okay Faure's plan for a 15 per cent increase in taxes to assure the full amount would be raised.

Essay Winners Will Get Trips

Plans for five summer trip scholarships at home and abroad have been announced by Justin J. Cline, executive director of American Youth Hostels.

Cline said the scholarships will be awarded to the five persons who submit the best essays entitled "Why I Would Like to Go Home to America."

The winners of the trips are scheduled to go to various parts of North America. All expenses, he said, including transportation, food, and lodging in hostel style, will be paid for by the scholarship.

Cline defined hostels as a simple overnight accommodation supervised by houseparents, who usually own the property used by the travelers.

If a contestant is physically handicapped, Cline added, a cash award will be made.

Further information is available, he said, from the headquarters of the AYH, 6 East 39th Street, New York 16, New York.

Friends Speaker

Munroe Husbands, of Boston, will speak at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Friends Meeting House. His topic will be, "Religious Revival and Liberalism—Impressions of a Tour Through the South." The meeting will be sponsored by the Unitarian Student Group.

New Varied Program in Gym Available for Sophomore Men

By CHUCK OBERTANCE

Sophomore men are being subjected to a new type of physical education this semester.

For eight weeks the students will bowl, swim, or take part in some activity in Recreation Hall such as basketball, handball, or another indoor sport. For the other eight weeks, they will attend lectures and see motion pictures pertaining to health, recreation, and athletics.

This new program is designed to give students a more general knowledge of physical education, health practices, and athletics. Material covering the entire field will be taken directly from the School of Physical Education.

Classes meet twice a week in White Hall with Ray M. Conger, assistant professor of physical education in charge of student recreation, acting as organizer and administrator. Eight sections having a total of 580 students will attend one lecture and one movie a week.

One aim of this eight week course is to present a wholesome and socially sound picture of the present health status in Pennsylvania. Dr. A. F. Davis, professor of public health, speaking to the classes last week, explained how a good public health service program could be possible in Pennsylvania at a reasonable cost. Doctor Davis also explained new enactments by the state legislature towards the realization of this goal.

Fred M. Coombs, professor of physical education, will speak next week on the recreational services in Pennsylvania and possible recreation in the lives of student at the College. E. C. Bishoff, professor of physical education, will speak the following week on intramurals at the College, why they are here, and how they are set up.

Speakers scheduled in the future are Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics; Joseph Bedenk, head baseball coach, and possibly Rip Engle and Elmer Gross, head football and basketball coaches respectively.

The purpose of these speakers is to give students a chance to become better acquainted with the sports, either in participation or appreciation as spectators. General techniques and a few tricks of each game will be discussed with the students. Emphasis is placed on the team sports because they are most difficult for participants and spectators to understand.

During the latter class period of each week, students will see movies about health and recreation. Last week, students saw "There Is No Substitute," a Red Cross film about blood donors and the processing of blood before it is used for a transfusion. Future movies are "Playtown USA" and "Leaders for Leisure."
