New Parking Plan Announced

Campus Driving Limited While Classes in Session

A new parking plan that will prohibit students living in the borough from driving on campus during class hours and will restrict driving of on-campus and commuting students was released yesterday by the All-College traffic committee.

The committee intends to put the plan into operation around July 1 for staff members and at the start of the fall semester for students.

The plan is designed to alleviate the overcrowded parking conditions on campus. There are only 2562 parking spaces for about 4000 student and staff cars.

The plan will include registration of all student and College staff member cars, designation of restricted parking areas, and issuance of special parking stickers.

Enforcement Periods
According to Walter H. Wiegand, head of the committee, students living on campus who have cars will be given stickers that will permit them to park in designated areas but not to drive on campus during the hours the regulations will be in effect.

The plan will be enforced between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday. There will be no restrictions for other periods, Wiegand said.

Commuting students will be given a different type of sticker that will permit them to park in certain areas and to drive on campus. A commuting student is defined as one coming from an area outside the corporate limits of the borough.

1562 Spaces for Staff
Wiegand said the latest count of campus parking space shows 2562 spaces available, including about 500 in the Nittany-Pollock area where on-campus students may park.

"Another 500 have indicated that they need cars to commute to campus, leaving about 1562 spaces for staff members," Wiegand said. "In the survey last fall to clarify what the demand was on our parking facilities, about 1900 staff members indicated they drove their cars to campus."

Wiegand said the various deans and department heads will be allotted quotas of parking spaces, and they in turn will designate which staff members will be given parking stickers. These stickers will bear a parking area number in which the car is to be parked. Wiegand heads a five-man committee that worked out the details of the plan. He said a larger committee has been studying the plan. (Continued on page eight)

Comedy Opens Run At Schwab Tonight

Fireworks, kittens and the whole lovable Sycamore family will be on the Schwab Auditorium stage tonight as Players open "You Can't Take it With You," a comedy by George Kauffman and Moss Hart.

Scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. for a three-night run, the play is the first comedy to be presented at Schwab this year.

AIM Delays Drinking Resolution

By ANDY McNEILLIE

The Association of Independent Men last night referred to committee the West Dorm resolution that the AIM president request an All-College Cabinet study of the drinking problem on campus. John Laubach, AIM president, appointed Charles Brewer to head a committee to take up the matter with the administration and draw up a more definite resolution. Brewer had introduced the resolution to the West Dorm Council Monday night.

In its original form, the West Dorm would have asked cabinet to study the problem of drinking by minors and women at social affairs at the College.

The drinking resolution was voted to be referred to committee after members of the board declared the resolution, in its present form, did not make any different approach to solve the problem than had been previously attempted by cabinet. Cabinet dissolved the drinking colloquy last week.

AIM also approved cabinet's preferential seating committee proposal to seat volunteers in section EH of Beaver Field to establish a flash card system for the 1952 football season. The approved means that Laubach will vote for the proposal at the next cabinet meeting.

Robert Schultz, AIM publicity chairman, was nominated as the AIM entry in Alpha Phi Omega's Ugly Man contest to be held later this month.

Laubach appointed Brewer temporary social chairman of AIM after the resignation of William Cole.

Tickets for tonight's performance, priced at 60 cents, are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Seats for tomorrow and Saturday night cost $1.

The play is under the direction of Warren S. Smith, associate professor of dramatics, whose last production was "Tartuffe," a Center Stage show.

The "live for today and have fun doing it" philosophy of snake-lover Grandpa and the rest of the eccentric Sycamores is at the root of the play, which was first presented by Players in the spring of 1939, two years after it was first produced in New York.

Mesrop Kesdekian has a double job for the production. He is technical director and also holds the role of Grandpa, the head of the family. Grandpa, who delights in attending Columbia University commencement exercises, went to work one day many years past and gave it up as a waste of time. Income tax is also a bother to him—so he simply forgets about it.

Mary Alice Hodgson will portray the role of Grandpa's wife. (Continued on page eight)

Senate May Discuss Cut Plan Today

The plan to add one credit to the normal graduation requirements as a penalty for cutting classes immediately before and after vacations may be taken from the table when the College Senate meets at 4:10 p.m. today in 121 Sparks.

Dr. B. A. Whisler, head of the Civil Engineering department and sponsor of the plan, indicated yesterday that he would attempt to reopen the plan to consideration. It has lain on the table the required period of one month.

The tentative College calendar for 1953-54, tabled by the Senate at its February meeting, is also expected to be brought up for consideration.

A committee report on "functions and purposes of the Senate" is also due to be presented at the meeting.

Slepin to Take State Workshop Chairmanship

William Slepin will take over as the chairman of the State Party workshop program at its meeting at 7 tonight in Sparks building.

Slepin was elected vice president of the party at a clique meeting Sunday night. In the future, the party vice president will automatically be the workshop chairman.

The meeting will be adjourned in time for the participants to attend the All-College Cabinet meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. in 201 Old Main, Slepin said.

The ward committee of the workshop program, with Ernest Famous as head, will meet in 11 Sparks. Joseph Simone and Melvin Rubin will co-chair the platform meeting in 12 Sparks. The publicity section will be led by Robert Kritt in 13 Sparks. Rae DelleDonne will conduct the membership meeting in 14 Sparks. The campaign group will meet in 124 Sparks under the direction of Irvin White and the distribution section will meet in 125 Sparks with Franklin Reese in charge.

The workshop meetings count toward the two meeting attendance requirement for clique membership.

Radio Guild Presents Corwin Play Tonight

"The Voice of Norman Corwin," an original script written and directed by John Price, will be presented at 8 tonight over WMAJ by members of the Radio Guild.

The script tells the story of Norman Corwin, radio writer, director, and producer, and contains excerpts from several of his best known programs.

5 in WSGA Vote

Of the five voting members at the Women's Student Government Association meeting last night, three voted against and two voted for the proposal to the All-College Cabinet constitution requiring a statistical poll of student sentiment on changes in fees in the event of the appearance of a petition asking for the poll signed by ten per cent of the student body.

The number who voted does not constitute a quorum of the eleven eligible members.

Politics Poll Starts Today

Penn State students will have a chance to express their preferences in this year's Presidential race by casting a ballot in the political poll now being conducted by the Daily Collegian.

The ballots may be placed in the ballot boxes either today or tomorrow. The boxes are located at the Student Union desk in Old Main, in the lobby of the West Dorm lounge, and in the lobby of the Agriculture Building.

Results of the poll will be printed as soon as final tabulations are completed.

Boxes Open at 9 a.m.

The poll will be one of a series conducted to determine student preference in the coming Presidential elections. Another poll is planned for later this semester, and a third just before the November elections. In this way the trend of student thinking as the campaigns swing into full operation will become evident.

The ballot boxes will be open from 9 a.m. to noon at all three locations and from 1 to 5 p.m. at the West Dorm lounge and the Agriculture Building. The Student Union ballot box will be open in the afternoon from 1:30 to 5 p.m. All boxes will be open both today and tomorrow.

Favored Dewey in '48

In a similar poll conducted in 1948, 53 per cent of the students questioned favored Thomas E. Dewey over President Harry S. Truman and other candidates. The students at Penn State weren't alone, however, in picking the wrong man. In seven other colleges and universities, where a similar poll was conducted, Dewey was preferred by 73 per cent of those surveyed.

Union Votes To Set Date For Strike

By JIM GROMILLER

Nearly 200 service employees of the College, members of local 67 of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFLE), last night voted unanimously to call for a special meeting to set a date for a work stoppage.

Union officials indicated that the special meeting will probably be held March 19.

The union membership has been variously estimated at from between 300 and 800 of the 1800 employees of the College.

The action came after a union spokesman indicated that the College apparently had no further plan under consideration to iron out the union's grievances.

The union opposed the variable raise granted Feb. 1 and instead is advocating an across the board increase.

The College has explained that the wage adjustment which gave increases of from $5 to $20 a month was designed to eliminate inequality in salaries.

The raise offered by the College in the February pay amounted to an average of $15 monthly, and raised service employees wages about $32 a month, on the average, over what they were July 1, 1951.

Sunday Collegians

Copies of the Sunday Sports Extra of the Daily Collegian are needed for binding and other filing purpose. Students who have extra copies of the paper are requested to leave them in the editor's office of the Daily Collegian on the ground floor of Carnegie Hall.

Amendments on Agenda

The final reading and vote on the proposed amendment to the All-College Constitution regarding the change of student fees and the presentation of an amendment to Article 8 of the constitution pertaining to the Board of Publications are on the agenda for the All-College Cabinet meeting at 8 tonight in 201 Old Main.

The fee amendment, presented by David Olmsted, senior class president, provides for a statistical poll of a representative cross-section of the student body upon the presentation to cabinet of a petition signed by ten per cent of the student body within one week after a proposal to change student fee has been made.

The new amendment to be proposed by Marvin Krasnansky, chairman of the Board of Publications, would change Article 8 to read: "The Board of Publications shall consist of the editor and managing editor of Collegian, editor and managing editor of La Vie, editor of Froth, editor of Inking, editor of the Penn State Engineer, editors of the Penn State Farmer, Forester, and Scientist, and their respective business managers. Additional members shall be determined by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Board of Publications present and at two consecutive meetings."

Under the constitution, a proposed amendment must be read and discussed at three consecutive cabinet meetings, with a final vote after the last reading. A three-fourths vote of cabinet is required to pass the amendment.

According to Barr Asplundh, cabinet parliamentarian, 18 of
