

Party Officers Will Be Elected

The nominations and elections of party officers of both the Lion and State parties will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday. The Lion party will meet in 10 Sparks, while the State Party meeting will take place in 119 Osmond.

Thomas Farrell, State Party clique chairman, also announced that the State Party steering committee would hold an open meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday at Beta Sigma Rho. According to Farrell, this is the first time in the history of campus politics that a steering committee session has been thrown open to all students.

Windcrest Posters Explained

Posters that appeared in the Windcrest area last week which said the area would close June unless "the residents take an active part in the election of the governing body of this community," were distributed to assure high election returns. John McConnell, of the election committee, said yesterday.

The posters appeared in the area prior to last week's area elections. The posters were signed "Election Committee." At the time, Russell E. Clark, director of the department of housing, said the College had no plans for closing Windcrest in June.

McConnell said it is necessary to have a strong council to manage area affairs efficiently if Windcrest is to remain open. It is necessary to get out a high vote to show the College that residents are interested in keeping the area open, he added.

The area is run on a year to year basis, he said. The College has assured residents there that the area will remain open as long as it is needed, McConnell said.

McConnell said this semester's election returns topped last year's. He said there are less residents in the area this year.

Eleven Chosen For Monthly Reading Hour

Eleven students were chosen as finalists to read at the Speech department's monthly reading hour, five of whom will be chosen to represent the College at two separate reading festivals.

The reading hour will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in 304 Old Main. The meeting is open to the public.

Four of those chosen will represent the College here May 1 and 2 for the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival which was originated by the College. Approximately 80 colleges have been invited to participate.

The other festival is the Eastern Intercollegiate Poetry Reading Festival to be held at Long Island University April 5. One representative will be sent.

Semi-finalists are Myron Cole, Richard Hartle, Barbara Klopp, Paul McWilliams, Mary Melvin, Elizabeth Morgan, Joada Oswald, Madeleine Sharp, Carolyn Scheff, Francis Stridinger, and Marcia Yoffe.

Bible Fellowship to Hear Presbyterian Minister

The Rev. Henry L. Woll, of the Manoa United Presbyterian Church, Manoa, Pa., will speak to the Penn State Bible Fellowship at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main.

His topic will be "Romans 8-A Chapter of Realization."

Under the proposed expanded steering committee plan presented at the last party meeting, the group would consist of all the party and class clique officers, the permanent committee heads, representatives of each school, and representatives of independent men and women, fraternity men, sorority women, and Windcrest students.

Party Officer Vote
Party officers will be elected at the Lion Party meeting. Senior and junior nominations will be opened. At last week's meeting only one nomination, that of Alan Maloney for financial manager, was made.

Elections Delayed
The elections of the State Party clique officers were held last Sunday, but final nominations and elections of the senior and junior class clique officers are scheduled for this Sunday's meeting. At previous meetings Jules Lippert was nominated for senior clique chairman, Robert Sherman for senior vice clique chairman, Jerome Feinburg for junior clique chairman, and Anne Quigley for junior secretary.

Lion Party elections were delayed until the new party constitution was approved. The major change in the party set-up as provided for in the constitution, which was approved last Sunday, is a cut in the power of the party chairman. The constitution provides that the chairman be responsible for many of his actions to the executive committee which is made up of the four party officers and the party class officers.

Another change makes any party member eligible to become a member of the platform committee.

Matrimony Gets Ha Ha Treatment

HA! HA! BAY, Que., March 6 —(P)—Don't laugh. This is serious. There is a course in marriage preparation here which has 104 prospective brides and grooms enrolled.

It was formed in 1946 and to date has had 319 enrollments. The course is conducted by the clergy, physicians, and other civic leaders.

The name of the town has nothing to do with it, except possibly the way participants can laugh off problems of marital life as a result of the lectures and studies.

"You Can't Take it With You" tickets are $1 for both nights. The Moss Hart-George Kaufman comedy is now playing at Schwab Auditorium.

25 Attend State Party Workshop

About 25 students attended a combined committee meeting of the State Party workshop last night to discuss plans for the coming party nominations.

Several proposals for planks to be included in the State Party platform were heard and discussed by the group. The group laid plans for setting up a tentative platform for the party.

Discussion of platform led to the naming of George Rubin as head of a committee to investigate possibilities of suggested party planks.

William Slepik, who was elected vice clique chairman earlier this week, spoke to the committee about ward procedure and ward meetings. Thomas Farrell, recently elected All-College clique chairman of the State Party, addressed the group and described future plans, including plans for clique and committee meetings this weekend.

The workshop also heard explanations of the tallymen and tallywomen system as it will be applied in the approaching campaign. The group discussed several suggestions on methods of soliciting men and women to serve as tallymen and women.

Surplus Equipment To Be Auctioned

College departments have been asked to report surplus equipment to Harry J. Smith, property custodian, not later than March 15, as a public auction of equipment is planned for early April.

The request applies particularly to equipment that cannot be used elsewhere in the College. If the equipment is sold, the budget of the department disposing of the equipment is credited with 90 per cent of the sale price. The remaining 10 per cent covers the costs of handling the sale.

Ugly Man Applications Due Today

Today is the last day to file applications for this year's Ugly Man contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. The contest will be held March 26 to 28.

Names of campus uglies must be submitted to the Student Union desk in Old Main by noon today if they are to be entered in the contest. An entry fee of fifty cents is required.

Contestants this year are restricted in three ways. They must be eighth semester students submitted by a College organization and are to be well-known campus personalities. These restrictions, contest officials said, will allow for a higher concentration of ugliness among the contestants this year.

Voting for Ugly Man will take place on the Mall at Pollock road. Students may vote for their favorite ugly by placing money in a designated container. The contestant with the most money-votes will be Penn State's Ugly Man of 1952.

The new Ugly Man will be crowned at the IFC-Panhel Ball on April 4 in Recreation Hall. He will receive a silver key. The sponsoring organization will receive a plaque.

Proceeds of the contest will go to the Campus Chest, William Slepik, contest chairman, said. Last year, $90 was donated to the student scholarship fund from the contest. Last year's winner was Joseph Lindsay.

Those interested should sign up today in 304 Old Main.
