

2 Lions Advance to ELBA Finals

Looks Like a Double Knockdown

CATHOLIC U's Joe Walsh (left) bares his mouth-piece at Bill Banerdt, Virginia, in their 125-pound go during the opening session of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Championships in Rec Hall last night. The two flyweights have just wrestled each other to the canvas. Banerdt got up quickly and went on to win a decision. He will meet Paul Driscoll of Army in the semi-finals this afternoon.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 8, 1952

Lion, State to Conduct Elections, Nominations

Party officers will be elected and senior and junior officer nominations will be opened at the Lion Party meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 10 Sparks, while at the State Party meeting at the same time in 119 Osmond, final nominations and elections of senior and junior class clique officers will be held. Only one nomination for party officers, that of Alan Maloney for financial manager, was made at last week's meeting.

Service Test Applications Due Monday

Monday is the deadline for the April 24 Selective Service Qualification test applications, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, has announced. Students who wish to take the April deferment test must obtain application blanks at the nearest local draft board and all applications must be postmarked not later than midnight Monday. The draft board closest to State College is in the Bellefonte post office.

To be eligible to take the test, an applicant must be a selective service registrant requesting deferment as a student, must be pursuing a full-time college course leading to a degree, and must not have taken the test before.

Students will be considered for deferment on the basis of test results and their class standing. Local boards make final decisions in deferment cases.

At previous meetings of the State Party, Jules Lippert was nominated for senior clique chairman, Robert Sherman for senior vice clique chairman, Jerome Feinburg for junior clique chairman, and Anne Quigley for junior secretary.

The State Party also announced a steering committee meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow at Beta Sigma Rho. The meeting will be open to all students, thus setting a precedent in campus politics. Previously all steering committee meetings were closed.

The Lion party recently approved a new constitution which provided, as a major change, a cut in the power of the party chairman. The constitution now provides that the chairman be responsible for many of his actions to the executive committee which is made up of the four party officers and the heads of each class.

Another change provided for by the new constitution makes any party member eligible to become

Dye Named Editor Of the 'Engineer'

Willard Dye was named editor of the Penn State Engineer, and other staff positions were announced last night.

15-7 Cabinet Tally Listed In 'Poll' Vote

The following is a breakdown of the voting on the proposed amendment to the All-College Constitution which proposed that a statistical vote be taken on any change in student fees when a petition signed by 1000 students is presented to cabinet.

The amendment failed to get the necessary 18-vote three-fourths margin at Thursday's meeting of cabinet. Fifteen voted in favor, seven against, and one abstained.

Voting in favor of the amendment were Thomas Jurchak, Edward Shanken, Marian Whitely (for Ralph Egolf) Edda Iannelli (for Edna Baylson), Charles Falzone, Betty Anders, Millard Rehburg, Meredith Williamson (for Marilyn Williams), Donald Maurer, John Laubach, Robert Hosterman (for William Mihalich), Michael Hanek, Kendall Tomlinson (for David Stabler), David Olmsted, and Bryson Craine.

Voting against the amendment were Stanley Wengert, Marilyn Levitt, Carroll Chapman (for Clair George), Marvin Krasnansky, David Mutchler, Donald Herbein, and Robert Smoot.

Mary Jane Woodrow abstained. According to Barr Asplundh, cabinet parliamentarian, members of cabinet cannot be "compelled" to vote as they are instructed by the bodies they represent.

Flore and Kois Victors; Butler, Spotts Eliminated

By DAVE COLTON

Penn State definitely established itself a threat for team honors as the Lions advanced two men into the finals in the opening session of the 29th Intercollegiate Boxing tournament in Rec Hall last night. A small crowd of about 450 watched the fights.

The Nittanians' Tony Flore, 139 pounder, and Adam Kois, 178 pounder, captured semi-final battles to move into tonight's finals.

New Chest Drive Head Appointed

Sam Nowell, seventh semester student in civil engineering, has been named chairman of next year's Campus Chest. Nowell was appointed to the post by All-College President James Worth at the All-College Cabinet meeting Thursday night. He replaces William Klisanin.

Worth also named Walter Sachs to replace Clair George as chairman of the encampment committee. Appointments were also made to three committees.

Named to the Campus Chest committee with Nowell were David Bain, Thomas Farrell, Joseph Haines, Patricia Jones, Franklin Kelly, Robb Kenner, John Laubach, Cordell Murtha, Virginia Opczenski, Elsa Pasline, Sachs, William Slep, Allan Wampler, and Marian Whiteley.

Sophomore Dance Committee

Named to the sophomore class dance committee were Harry Solomon, general chairman; James Hand, Charles Obertance, band; Virginia Moore, decorations; Gerald Maurey, John White, tickets; Bernard Ambrose, Rod Snyder, publicity.

Final Vote Next Week
In other action, cabinet heard a motion by Thomas Jurchak, All-College secretary treasurer, to allocate $300 each to the freshman and sophomore classes for their class dances.

Jurchak said that although the allocations have been made regularly, no provisions are made for them in the budget. Cabinet will take a final vote on the motion next week.

David Mutchler, voting as All-College vice president, asked cabinet to take the recently announced campus traffic plan back to their campus traffic plan back to their groups for consideration. He asked to have the plan added to next week's agenda. Mutchler is the student representative on the committee.

Fifty Students Protest Service In Dining Halls

Fifty residents of Hamilton Hall caused the dormitory dining hall to remain open fifteen minutes after the scheduled closing time last night in protest of the poor service they felt they were receiving.

This group, part of the 400 that are regularly fed on Friday evenings, were protesting events climaxed by a delay at the noon meal which resulted in many not being served until 1 p.m. and causing many to remain in line 40 minutes.

The delay, according to Richard Mills, president of the West Dorm Council, who conferred with Hazel Fall, supervisor of the West Dorm dining halls, was caused by a heavy demand for second servings. Mills also said the West Dorm food committee, headed by Ralph Griffith, will investigate the situation.

Organizers of the strike said they thought the late line would have been longer if it had not been Friday night when many have evening engagements. They also suggested the possibility of

The finalists automatically earned points for their respective teams. Five team points are awarded to the champion in each weight class, and three points are given to the runnersups.

Champ Wins

Although Penn State has two contestants in the finals Army has the most men still in contention. Three Cadets won their bouts last night to give the West Pointers a total of seven in the running for individual titles. Four Cadets drew byes and automatically advanced to the semifinals.

Among the victorious West Pointers was the defending 178 pound champion, Jim McInerney. The hard punching Cadet avenged a regular season meet by outscoring Bill Roberts of Virginia in a semifinal match. Kois will meet McInerney in the finals tonight. The Army mauler already owns one dual meet decision over Kois.

Two TKO's

Virginia, Syracuse and Penn State tied for the second highest number of contestants still in contention. All three schools have six men left while Catholic University has two men remaining.

Two technical knockouts highlighted the night's action. In the third bout of the evening John Granger of Syracuse stopped Jack Poirier of Army in 1:37 of the second round in another semi bout. Granger will swap punches with State's Flore for the 139 pound title.

Hughes Wins

The other TKO came in the final bout of the program. Virginia's Joe Mehalick, who lost an upset to State's Bob Potter Saturday, went into the semis as he mauled Pete Larsen of Catholic U. into submission. The affair was stopped after one minute and 58 seconds of the second round. Potter and Mehalick will square off this afternoon.

In another important fight as far as Penn State's title hopes are concerned, Jeryl Hughes, Army, used his height advantage to outpoint Syracuse's Vince Rigolosi.

'Ugly Man' Deadline Extended

The deadline for applications in this year's Ugly Man contest has been extended to noon Friday, William Slep, contest chairman, said yesterday.

Slep said there are now about 20 entries in the contest. Proceeds of the contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will go to the Campus Chest.

"The Ugly Man contest is a type of popularity contest," Slep said yesterday, "and it is for that reason that we would like to have well-known campus personalities entered in the competition." The contest is open to eighth semester students sponsored by College organizations.

Applications may be made at the Student Union desk in Old Main. The entry fee is 50 cents.

Voting for the Ugly Man will take place at the Mall on Pollock road on March 26 to 28. Students may cast votes by placing money in designated containers. The contestant with the most money-votes will be crowned "Ugly Man of 1952" at the IFC-Panhel Ball on April 4.

The winning contestant will be awarded a silver key and the sponsoring organization will receive a plaque.

Slep said tentative plans are to publish a booklet entitled "Who's Who Among Ugly Men at Penn State in 1952." The booklet would contain a story and cartoon on each entry, he said.
