Bell to Give Rebuttal At Banquet

Louis H. Bell, director of public information, will be rebuttal speaker at the annual Gridiron Banquet to be held at the Nittany Lion Inn March 26.

Bell will make the rebuttal for the College administration after students, faculty, administration, and town personalities have been "roasted" on the gridiron.

Louis H. Bell

The personalities will be "toasted" in a series of satirical sketches written and presented by members of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, which sponsors the affair.

President Milton S. Eisenhower will be guest of honor, along with Bell, at the banquet. The theme of this year's affair is "The South Shall Rise Again."

Moylan Mills, president, said that invitations to approximately 300 student, faculty, administration, and town figures would be sent out at the end of this week.

Five to Read In Festivals

Five students were chosen Monday at the Speech department's monthly reading hour to represent the College at two separate reading festivals.

Paul McWilliams will participate in the Eastern Intercollegiate Poetry Reading Festival to be held at Long Island University April 5.

The four others will attend the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival to be held at the College May 1 and 2. They are Myron Cole, who will read short poems; Mary Melvin, a long poem; Elizabeth Morgan, a dramatic selection; and Joada Oswalt, a short story.

The Pennsylvania festival was originated by the College four years ago. Approximately 80 colleges have been invited to participate this year.

Dramatics 61 Movie

Dramatics 61 students will see the Charlie Chaplin movie "A Burlesque on Carmen" at 7 tonight in 119 Osmond.

Produced in 1915, the film was intended as a burlesque on Cecil DeMille's production of the opera Carmen. The musical score is also composed by Chaplin.

Journalists To Attend Conference

Nearly 50 Pennsylvania newspapermen and women will meet at the Nittany Lion Inn March 28 and 29 under the sponsorship of the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors to hear nine authorities discuss various problems in the field of government.

Some of the problems for discussion are those of increased taxation and more equitable assessments.

Speakers from three major Pennsylvania universities, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and the College, have been obtained. Dr. M. Nelson McGeary, professor of political science, will be chairman.

Charles F. LeeDecker Jr., acting executive secretary of the Institute of Local Government, will be one of the discussion leaders.

Registration for the seminar is limited to the first 50 applicants. Arrangements are being made by Hugh G. Pyle, supervisor of informal instruction, General Extension Services, and by Theodore A. Serrill, general manager of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Hugh Wagnon, president of the society and executive editor of the Easton Express, will preside at the Friday night dinner.

Glenn Reports Infection Over

There has been a marked reduction in the number of students affected by the upper respiratory infection, Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of College Health Service, said yesterday.

The infection is for all practical purposes over, Glenn reported.

Charles Crofford, sixth semester journalism student who suffered a fractured skull in a fall from a truck last week, was reported to be in very good condition. Glenn said that after he goes home for a few more days' rest, he will be all right again.

Glenn also said that all the cases of measles have been dismissed from the infirmary.

'Ugly Man' Contest Gets 19 New Entries

Nineteen more candidates for the 1952 Ugly Man contest were named yesterday by William Slepina, contest chairman. The contest will be held March 26 to 28. Proceeds will go to the Campus Chest.

The nineteen new candidates and their sponsoring organizations are Lawrence Cooney, Pi Kappa Alpha; Bryson Craine, Pi Kappa Phi; Andrew Danef, Alpha Omicron Pi; Myron Demcio, first floor Hamilton Hall; William Ghost, Chi Phi; George Glazer, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Lynn Illingworth, Delta Upsilon; Burton Johns, Penn State Club; Thomas Judge, Delta Tau Delta; Robert Leyburn, Sigma Nu; Stanley Lindner, Omega Psi Phi; Charles Luitz, Pi Lambda Phi; George Rippel, Acacia; Robert Schultz, Association of Independent Men; John Schwing, Phi Kappa Psi; Edward Shanken, Liberal Arts Student Council; Peter Whelan, Phi Kappa Sigma; Hardy Williams, Alpha Kappa Al-

Blue Band Concert Tour Opens Today

The Penn State Blue Band will present concerts today and tomorrow in four Pennsylvania towns.

The ninety members of the band, accompanied by James Dunlop, professor of music education, and Theodore Karhan, assistant professor of music education, and Theodore Karhan, assistant professor of music and music education, left this morning by bus for the two-day tour.

Today the Blue Band will perform at the high school auditoriums in Brookville and Sharon. Tomorrow they will travel to Slippery Rock State Teachers College and to the high school in Brockway.

David Fishburn, trombonist, will be featured soloist for the concerts. A French horn trio consisting of Robert Manning, Grayce Jeffries, and Neil Andre, and a clarinet duet of Thomas Hahn and Richard Crosby will also play special numbers.

The program for the concert tour will be presented locally on March 30 in Schwab Auditorium.

20 to Discuss Possible Use Of Offering

A committee of approximately 20 persons, headed by Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in 201 Old Main to discuss plans for use of the Chapel offering after June 30.

The money has for the past forty years been turned over to the Penn State-in-China committee. At first it was contributed to work at Lingnan University, Canton, China, but since the Communists took over China, the funds were sent to support the work of G. Weidman ("Daddy") Groff and Richard Pride at their research station on Oriental plants in Florida.

It was hoped that these men would soon be able to return to their work at Lingnan, but since this now seems improbable, the committee will consider other possibilities for use of the funds and make recommendations.

pha; and Paul Zanoni, Town Council.

Yesterday's entrants bring to 28 the total contestants in this year's competition. Applications for the contest may be submitted at the Student Union desk at Old Main until noon tomorrow, Slepina said.

Applicants must be eighth semester students sponsored by a College organization. Slepina asked that well-known campus personalities be entered in the contest.

Pictures of the contestants will be taken from 6:30 to 9 p.m. tomorrow night in 411 Old Main.

Voting will take place on the Mall at Pollock road. Students will be able to vote for their favorite contestant by placing money in a designated container. The contestant with the most money votes will be crowned Ugly Man of 1952 at the IFC-Panhel Ball on April 4.

Money Needed to Offset Judging Teams' Expenses

By JIM GROMILLER

The School of Agriculture Student Council last night instructed its president, David Stabler, to carry to All-Col-

The action followed a report by James P. Gallagher, lege Cabinet a proposal to raise all student fees ten cents a semester to help offset the expenses of the agricultural judging teams of the college.

To Present Plan

chairman of a committee appointed to investigate the fee raise.

The nine teams have in the past been partially financed by a 75 cent a semester fee paid by students in the School of Agriculture; the remaining costs, averaging $44.80 per member, according to the committee's report, must be paid by the individual team members.

The report was accepted and recommended to cabinet by a 36 to one vote with one abstention.

Stabler will bring the proposal to cabinet's attention at its next meeting, March 20. Cabinet has no final say in the levying of student fees. If acceptable to cabinet, the fee proposal would be presented to the College Board of Trustees, which is scheduled to meet the last week in March, for final action.

$2603.21 Contributed

The committee report, in reporting favorably on the fee proposal, pointed out that the College's judging teams compete with 42 schools from 40 states and Canada. Every year the nine teams travel an average of 22,968 miles to ten major exhibitions and shows attracting exhibitors from throughout the country and visitors from all over the world.

Last year students in agriculture contributed $2603.21 to defray the costs of lodging and transportation for the teams.

According to the present setup, team members must pay their own expenses for food and insurance while traveling during competition and all expenses on practice judging trips.

Ag Teams Willing

The cost to team members for intercollegiate meets alone, the committee pointed out, comes to $1692.80. On some teams the personal costs are $87.20, the report stated.

"Although some members are not students in the School of Agriculture, it is admitted that most of them will come from that school," the report said. "Therefore, students in agriculture are willing to contribute a larger part of the money to support these teams."

If the plan is approved students in agriculture would pay 68 per cent of the costs, about $2942 a year, or 85 cents per semester for each student.

Non-agricultural students would pay 32 per cent of the total, about $1533, or ten cents a student for each semester.

No college credits are earned by team members except those on the livestock and meats teams who earn two and one credits, respectively.

The nine teams are dairy cattle, dairy products, livestock, meats, wool, fruit, crops, poultry, and flowers.

Rail Strikers To Return To Work

CLEVELAND, March 11 (AP)—Three railroad brotherhoods bowed to a federal court order today by instructing 6000 striking engineers, firemen and conductors to get back on their jobs immediately.

Telegrams and telephone calls began flowing from here at 4 p.m. (EST) to brotherhood officers directing the walkout. It was called Sunday morning against the New York Central West of Buffalo and the St. Louis Terminal Line.

The New York Central said the first crews reporting, probably on the 11 p.m. shift, would begin moving perishable cargoes now on sidings.

No passenger service is expected anywhere in the struck portion of the system before tomorrow, the rail road said, and it will be Thursday before operations can be restored to normal.

The three brotherhood heads had no immediate comment on the strike-ending injunction or on how fast or complete a response they expected to their instructions. Their word to subordinates was:

"Because the federal court today restrained the strike, the strike is immediately terminated, and you are instructed immediately to take all steps to get our members back on the job."

2 Korean Vets Named to Staff

Maj. Herbert A. Johnson Jr. and M/Sgt. Henry A. Aten, both veterans of the Korean War, have been assigned to the Department of Military Science and Tactics.

Major Johnson, of Putnam, Conn., entered the Army in 1940 as a second lieutenant and served in the European theater during World War II. In July, 1950, he was assigned to the Second Infantry Division in Korea.

Sergeant Aten of Lancaster entered the Army in 1941, and served with the First Cavalry Division in Japan and Korea.
