

Rochester Group Plays Tomorrow

The Rochester Philharmonic orchestra will present the works of four composers in the third program of the Community Concert Series at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Under the direction of Erich Leinsdorf, the orchestra will open the program with the overture to "The Magic Flute" (Wolfgang Mozart), followed by Symphony No. 6 in F major—Opus 68, "Pastoral" (Ludwig van Beethoven).

Prof Noted For Service In Germany

Kalman J. Lejuhasz

The Department of the Army in Heidelberg, Germany, has awarded Kalman J. Dejuhasz, professor of engineering research, the Certificate of Appreciation for patriotic civilian service to the Department of the Army.

The presentation was made in Heidelberg, where Dejuhasz, who is on leave of absence, is serving as a scientific consultant with the army.

The award has been made in recognition of Dejuhasz's services to the Army in World War II. Dejuhasz is one of eight men to receive this honor in Europe.

Co-op to Fete Prexy, Wife

President and Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower will be guests of honor at dinner at 5:30 p.m. today at the College Co-op as part of the national "Co-ops on Campus Week" observance.

"Co-ops on Campus Week" began Sunday and will continue until this Sunday. The Penn State College Co-operative Society is one of 500 co-ops on college campuses observing the week.

The College Co-op will sponsor a display on the second floor of the Pattee Library in conjunction with the week. The co-op will also hold open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday at the co-op house, 244 E. Nittany avenue.

UJA Fund-Raisers To Aim for $4200

Solicitors for the United Jewish Appeal campaign to raise $4200 on campus are to meet with their captains today, according to Sara Bassel and Stanley Goldman.

Men's captains are Leonard Friedman, fraternities; Arthur Pollock, Nittany and Pollock Dormitories; Alvin Goodman, West Dorms; and Stanley Bushkoff and Henry Gerson, town.

Captains for women's dormitories are Phyllis Mermelstein, Atherton hall; Dina Tapper, McAllister hall and Woman's building; Judith Lippman, Simmons and McAllister halls; and Grace Bassel and Carol Perlmann, Thompson hall.

Dance Class Canceled

The Wednesday beginners' dancing class has been canceled for this week. Those scheduled for the Wednesday class may attend the Tuesday session from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., according to Paul Krisky, director of the class.

Two Students Vie Today in Chicago Bridge Tourney

Keith Smith and Joseph Norris will represent the Eastern United States at the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament today and tomorrow at Chicago.

Smith and Norris, both seniors in pre-med, placed first in the final qualifying round for the tournament that was held here by the Penn State Duplicate Bridge club, last month.

Sixteen pairs representing eight districts of the United States will participate in the finals which will decide the champions of the intercollegiate bridge nationals, according to Prof. H. G. Barone of the Mathematics Department. He is advisor of the Penn State Duplicate Bridge Club.

PSCA Radio Will Feature Hutchon Talk

The Penn State Christian Association, radio program at 7:15 tonight will feature a talk by Joan Hutchon, co-chairman of the PSCA Round Table. She will explain the organization and functions of this group.

This program will end a series of three broadcasts designed to explain the set-up of the three major divisions of the association.

The International Affairs Committee was explained two weeks ago by Richard Smith, and LaVerne Applegate and David Howell described Freshman Council on last week's program.

The radio committee, headed temporarily by William Griffith until a chairman is selected, is seeking members. Anyone interested in this work should contact Joseph Bitner at 5051-1168.

Conducted with Met

Leinsdorf, 39 year-old conductor of the group, has been conducting leading symphony orchestras and opera companies in this country and abroad since he was 23 years old. A native of Austria, he studied at the Vienna State Academy, and was graduated with honors.

Leinsdorf's first performance in the United States was with the Metropolitan Opera, New York, in 1937. Since then he has been guest conductor for many musical groups.

Supported by 12,000

After a brief term in the Army during World War II, the conductor was given a permanent position with the Rochester Philharmonic in 1946. Leinsdorf is the fourth permanent conductor the group has had in the 29 years since it origin. The three men who preceded him were Albert Coates, Eugene Goossens, and Jose Iturbi.

The orchestra, which was organized around the Eastman Theatre Orchestra, is supported by the world's largest community music organization, with more than 12,000 subscribers.

Campus Chest Returns To Be Released Today

Up-to-date figures on Campus Chest returns will be released this afternoon and available for publication tomorrow, William Klisanin, drive chairman, said yesterday.

Klisanin said figures would not be complete because returns have not yet been made by veterans. Veterans will donate to the Chest through their book receipts March 28. Proceeds of the Alpha Phi Omega Ugly Man contest will also go to this year's Campus Chest.

Handbook Staff

Editorial and art candidates for the Student Handbook will meet at 7:30 tonight in 104 Willard Hall. The advertising staff will meet at the same time in 9 Carnegie Hall.

37 Entrants to Vie For Ugly Man Title

Thirty-seven entrants have been made in this year's Ugly Man contest to be held March 26 to 28. The contest is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Voting will take place on the Mall at Pollock road. Students may vote for their favorite ugly by placing money in a designated container. The contestant with the most money-votes at the end of the contest will be "Ugly Man of 1952."

The Ugly Man will receive a silver key at the IFC-Panhel Ball on April 4 in Recreation Hall. The sponsor of this year's Ugly Man will receive a plaque. Proceeds of the contest will go to the Campus Chest.

Entrants in this year's contests and sponsoring organizations are John Albarano, Theta Kappa Phi; Milton Bernstein, Phi Sigma Delta and Alpha Epsilon Phi; Carroll Chapman, Thespians; Roger Clinton, Kappa Sigma; Ronald Coleman, Alpha Tau Omega and Alpha Xi Delta; Lawrence Cooney, Pi Kappa Alpha; Bryson Craine, Pi Kappa Phi; Andrew Daneff, Alpha Omicron Pi; Myron Demcio, first-floor Hamilton Hall; Edward Erotas, Sigma Pi; Peter Fairchok, Theta Chi; William Ghost, Chi Phi; George Glazer, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Ralph Griffith, West Dorm Council; Thomas Manna, Women's Secretarial Association; William Hockersmith, Alpha Chi Sigma and Chem-Phys Student Council; Lynn Illingworth, Delta Upsilon; Burton Johns, Penn State Club; Thomas Judge, Delta Tau Delta; Thomas Jurchak, Agriculture Student Council; Robert Leyburn, Sigma Nu; Stanley Lindner, Omega Psi Phi; Charles Lintz, Pi Lambda Phi; Richard Morman, Pollock Circle Council; William Park, College Co-operative Society; Joseph Piorkowski, Theta Xi; John Price, Radio Guild; George Rippel, Acacia; Robert Shultz, Association of Independent Men; John Schwering, Phi Kappa Psi; Edward Shanken; Liberal Arts Student Council; David Stabler, Alpha Gamma Rho; Alfred Von Arx, Phi Kappa; Stanley Wengert, Panhellenic Council; Peter Whelan, Phi Kappa Sigma; Hardy Williams, Alpha Kappa Alpha; Paul Zahoni, Town Council.

According to entrance regulations, all entrants are eighth semester students and each entrant is sponsored by a College organization.

Observatories Open To View Mercury

The College observatories were open last night, and will be open from 6 to 7:30 today and tomorrow for students, faculty, and townspeople to view the planet Mercury through the telescopes. Mercury will be clearly visible to the human eye since it will be at its greatest distance from the sun.

Mercury, the planet closest to the sun, is so visible to the naked eye about two or three times each year, Carl A. Bauer, assistant professor of physics, said.

When looking at Mercury through the telescope, it will look like a crescent or a half-moon, since it is the furthest distance it can get from the sun, and only one side of the body will be sunlit. The planet will continue to be visible from several days to two weeks depending on whether favorable weather conditions prevail.

Dr. Bauer said members of Alpha Nu, astronomical society, will be at the observatories to assist interested observers. The observatories are reached through the parking areas north of the Jordan Soil Fertility plots, which may be entered from Shortlidge road, east of the TUB.

Dr. Bauer pointed out that even though Mercury is a celestial body of the first magnitude, it is seldom observed. The first three days of this week are the best days of the present one or two week period to view the planet. The planet on these days will be at its greatest distance from the sun so that it remains above the horizon for a short time after the sun has passed below the horizon.

Dr. Bauer also said that the planet Jupiter is now visible in the sky. During the next few evenings, the planet visible between the sun and Mercury is Jupiter, another celestial body of the first magnitude.

Ticket Deadline For SDX Grid Banquet Set

Deadline for picking up tickets to the thirteenth annual Gridiron Banquet, sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, is noon Saturday.

Tickets for the lampoon dinner to be held 6:30 p.m. March 26 at the Nittany Lion Inn can be obtained at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Tickets are priced at $3.

Moylan Mills, Sigma Delta Chi president, said that invitations to the banquet would have to be shown at the Student Union desk in order to get a ticket.

The banquet, patterned after the Washington Gridiron Banquet, will lampoon student, faculty, fraternity and town events and personalities. Louis H. Bell, director of public information, will defend the administration in a rebuttal speech.

President Milton S. Eisenhower and Bell will be guests of honor.

Ceramists to Hold Penn State Night

The annual joint meeting of the Pennsylvania Ceramic Association and the Philadelphia section of the American Ceramic Society will be held on Penn State Night, tonight, in Philadelphia.

Dr. E. C. Henry, professor and chief of the division of ceramics at the College, will report on ceramic activities of the School of Mineral Industries. Dr. Henry, who is managing director, and R. G. Ehman, assistant professor of ceramics and secretary, will attend a board of directors meeting.

ADD Distinction
To Your photographs
paintings
documents
with custom-made

PICTURE FRAMES
from the Treasure House
E. College Ave.

Ed Group To Attend Music Meet

Seven faculty members and a group of students will represent the College at the Music Educators National Conference, which will open Friday and close March 26 in Philadelphia.

Headquarters for the estimated 5000 people from the United States who will attend will be the Bellvue-Stratford Hotel and the Academy of Music.

Dr. Hummel Fishburn, professor of music education, and Frank Gullo, associate professor of music, will present a demonstration of group singing techniques in the meeting for elementary education teachers.

Dr. Fishburn will also serve on the committee for music in higher education, and the national research council. James W. Dunlop, associate professor of music education will serve as a member of the national committee for instrumental music.

Members of the faculty who will attend the conference include Dr. Fishburn, Gullo, Dunlop, Elmer C. Wareham, instructor of music; Mrs. Willa Taylor, associate professor of music education; Joseph Cordan, associate professor of music; and Theodore Karhan, associate professor of music and music education.

2 Men Voted Into Barons

Two men were voted into the Barons, Nittany-Pollock social organization, last night at a meeting designed to attract new members.

The men, William Altemus, and Dorn Howlett, both of Dormitory 1, were voted into the organization as squires. New members are voted on by the group and, if elected, become squires. This position is held for an indefinite length of time until the squires are voted in as barons.

The group also decided to start with Dormitories 1 and 21 in signing up men for an exchange dinner on March 28. The dinner will be followed by an open dance in the Temporary Union Building. The Barons will sign up men by numerical order of dormitories until the quota is filled. If the exchange dinner is successful, dormitories not covered at this time will be contacted in order at a later date.

Quarterdeck Society To Meet Tonight

Quarterdeck Society, naval science honorary, will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Navy Wardroom, Engineering E.

Clifford B. Ascom, commander, said the society will select new members at the meeting.

RELAX WITH A BOOK
a Best Seller
from . . .
Our Rental Library
Here Are A Few
From Our Selection Of The Latest and The Best.

"Mrs. McGinty's Dead"
by Agatha Christie
"Evil Became Them"
by Pat Root
"Jane Hadden"
by Rosamond Marshall

COLLEGE BOOK STORE
129 W. Beaver Ave.