

West Parking Area Set As Spring Carnival Site

The West parking area, which lies directly behind Sigma Chi and Sigma Nu, will be the site of this year's spring carnival, James Geffert, Spring Week committee chairman, announced yesterday. The carnival will be held May 15.

Geffert said the area will accommodate at least 100 booths. Approximately 55 booths were entered in last year's carnival, which was held on the Osmond parking lot. The Osmond area was not available this year because of construction work.

Frosh Council Recommended Alterations

Four recommendations for changes in the Women's Student Government Association constitution pertaining to Freshman Council were made at a meeting of the council Monday night.

- These are:
1. Presidents and vice presidents of freshman living units will be voting members and the two freshman senators will be ex-officio members of the council. The constitution states that only presidents shall be members.
  2. Three officers will be elected in each living unit—president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer.
  3. If the elected president becomes ineligible, the vice president will take her place and a new vice president will be elected.
  4. Council meetings will be open to freshman women.

Students May Apply For Vacation Work

Students who will be in State College during Easter vacation and desire jobs should report when they will be available to the Student Employment office, 112 Old Main, John J. Huber, supervisor of part-time student employment, said yesterday.

Huber also said that students who registered for employment and who haven't filled out registration forms with their new schedules should do this immediately.

Greek Week to Stress Civic, Religious Activities

This is the second in the series of articles explaining the Greek Week program. The week starts this Saturday and will be concluded April 5 with the IFC-Panhel Ball.

Religion plays an important role in every fraternal organization. With this in mind the fraternities and sororities have chosen as the theme for the week, "Civic Responsibility," and emphasis is being placed on the observance of the principles and concepts of brotherhood that have been achieved in college.

The committee is encouraging better fraternity and sorority church attendance. Each Greek president has been asked to list the members of his group who will be attending Church March 30 and the name of the church they will be attending.

A member of the church attendance committee stated yesterday that over 500 fraternity men and about 380 sorority women have signed the list to attend church. He said further that the ministers were very enthusiastic about the idea and felt it was an excellent step in the right direction. Special recognition for the visiting students will be made in the services.

Egli to Talk Today To Quarterback Club

The Penn State Quarterback club will meet at 11:45 a.m. today at the Hotel State College. John Egli, assistant basketball coach, will talk on the NCAA basketball playoffs held at Raleigh, N.C., and Ed Sulkowski, boxing coach, will narrate movies on intercollegiate boxing.

All Penn State student organizations are eligible to sponsor booths in the carnival, as long as they are of an entertaining nature. Booth applications are due by noon, April 19. A $20 deposit is required with each application.

Grand Prize Winner
Proceeds of the carnival are turned over to some charity, Geffert said. Over $2600 was grossed by the carnival last year. Geffert said that expenditures for booth construction and prizes up to $20 could be deducted from the gross profits of a booth. The booth turning over the greatest net amount after the carnival will be the grand prize winner. Prizes have not yet been announced.

Other features of Spring Week include the crowning of Miss Penn State and the All-College He-Man. The latter will reign as king of the ensuing Spring Week activities. Further information on the Miss Penn State and He-Man contests will be released soon, Geffert said.

Spring Week Committee
Besides Geffert, the Spring Week committee consists of Milton Bernstein and Clair George, business co-chairmen; John Allison, booth chairman; Franklin Kelly, assistant booth chairman; John Stouder, arrangements manager; Paul Asplundh, assistant arrangements manager; David Bischoff, parade chairman; Janet Herd, coronation director; Jules Lippert and Marion A. Morgan, special events co-chairmen; Carroll Chapman, publicity chairman; James Schulte, assistant publicity chairman; Jane Steiber, hat day director; and Mary Coy, assistant hat day director.

ROTC Names 16 to Honorary

The names of 16 junior pledges to Pi Tau Pi Sigma, ROTC Signal Corps honorary, were announced yesterday by Vaughn Lang, commander.

The first pledge class of the newly-formed unit will be accepted as pledges until the next meeting, April 7. Formal acceptance is contingent upon the acceptance by the unit of a paper related to a phase of Signal Corps activities, Lang said.

Named to the unit were William Beatty, Richard Biddle, William Crawford, John Goettel, August Greyhosky, Harry Hadley, David Hallenbeck, James Harpster, William Leonard, Peter Mandel, Donald Michelsen, Paul Miller, David Odiorne, James Schulte, Burton Suder, and Eugene Svirbly.

Foundry in Operation

Engineers Operate Foundry on Campus

By BOB LANDIS

Just for the record, there is a real honest-to-goodness foundry for melting iron and aluminum alloys and giving mechanical and industrial engineering students experience in foundry operation.

The Foundry, as a building and a classroom, is located between Engineering E and the Mechanical Engineering building. And

Tribunal Fines Dozen Parkers For Violations

Twelve students were sentenced last night by Tribunal for parking violations. Four were suspended and one was referred to the Dean of Men's office.

The student whose sentence was referred to the Dean of Men's office had previously pleaded guilty to six parking violations, and was charged with four new violations. David Mutchler, chairman of Tribunal, said that Tribunal would make recommendations on the student's driving privileges. He was also asked to pay a back fine.

In another case, a student whose home is in State College and whose mother is an employee of the College, received a fine and part suspension for seven violations after his mother's parking permit had been removed from the car.

A third student was charged with six violations for parking on Burrows Road while his car was disabled. He paid a three dollar fine.

Five other violators each paid fines of one dollar.

13th Gridiron Banquet To Be Held Tonight

The thirteenth annual Gridiron Banquet will be held at 6:30 tonight at the Nittany Lion Inn.

About 100 College and town personalities will be roasted in satirical skits by members of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, at the lampoon dinner. Guests of honor will be President Milton S. Eisenhower and Louis H. Bell, director of public information.

Camp Assignments Given to ROTC

Assignments for Army ROTC summer camp were announced Monday by Col. Lucien E. Bolduc, professor of Military Science and Tactics.

The Infantry cadets will be sent to Fort Meade, Md., where Col. Bolduc will be camp commander; the Signal Corps cadets will go to Camp Gordon, Ga.; and Engineer students will be assigned to Fort Bolivar, Va., Col. Bolduc said.

AIM Board Favors Ag Assessment

The Board of Governors of the Association of Independent Men last night voted in favor of the 25 cent assessment to aid in support of the College judging teams proposed by Marilyn Levitt on All-College Cabinet.

William Griffith of the Agriculture Student Council spoke to the group and presented a mimeographed compilation of statistics on the teams and the costs involved. The motion received a 14 to 2 vote in favor of the assessment.

In other action taken, the board passed a motion appropriating $311 for the delegation of independents going to the National Independent Student Association convention in Oklahoma.

To help ease the tight budget restrictions on the trip, $10 each was pledged by representatives of the Town, West Dorm, and Pollock Councils.

Griffith explained that as the situation now exists members of the judging teams must pay their own expenses for food and insurance while traveling during competition and all their expenses on practice judging trips.

With an assessment of all the students, he said, only the costs of practice judging trips would still be paid from the personal funds of team members.

Ag Fee Vetoed By Eng Council

Engineering Student Council last night voted in a straw vote against the 25 cent student fee requested by the Agricultural Student Council to support their judging teams.

The vote came after much discussion in which members expressed the feelings that the judging took the form of an elective that was in direct support of their studies and that, if the judging teams were to be financed, the engineering field trips should be also.

The committee in charge of the Engineering Open House to be held May 10 announced that the Garfield Thomas Water Tunnel would be open for public inspection at that time.

Front License Tag Is Illegal in 1952

Motorists are warned that it is illegal under the Motor Vehicle Code to use one of last year's license plates as a replacement for the plate that will be missing from the front of Pennsylvania cars during 1952-53, according to George F. Bohn, president of the Centre County Motor Club.

Bohn said that the single tag will be displayed on the rear of the vehicle. He also warned motorists that the deadline for obtaining the new license is midnight Monday.
