

Steel Talks Stalled; Truman May Get Dispute

WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—High-level government efforts to break the steel industry's deadlock with its CIO union workers ran into unexplained snags today amid signs the whole dispute may be turned over to President Truman.

King Says Bridges Was Duped

WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—The chairman of a House investigating committee told Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) today that he had let his friends take "deliberate advantage" of him when he interceded in a seven million dollar tax case.

Bridges, Republican floor leader in the Senate, appeared before the committee at his own request to testify that his only interest in the case was "to encourage quick and proper action by the government."

The investigators have developed evidence that Henry W. (the Dutchman) Grunewald, Washington wirepuller, and William-Power Maloney, a New York lawyer formerly with the Justice department, also were working behind the scenes on the case in 1949.

It involved a huge jeopardy tax assessment against Hyman Harvey Klein, Baltimore whisky dealer.

Nine to Attend Ag Conference Over Weekend

Nine students of the College will attend the annual Tri-State Conference for Young Men and Women to be held at the Pocono Manor Inn today, tomorrow, and Sunday.

Participating in the conference are representatives of groups organized under the sponsorship of the Agricultural Extension Service of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

Chauncey P. Lang, professor of agricultural extension at the College and assistant state extension club leader, will conduct a workshop.

Macklin E. Johns, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology will be featured speaker at the Sunday morning session. He will discuss "Leaders in a Changing World."

Students participating from Penn State are Leslie Watkins, Eleanor Griffith, Hubert Sell, Henry Gruber, Robert Menges, David McAlpine, Lilly Greider, William Nichols, and Ernest Stahl.

In 1945 and 1948 there were two cases of quintuplets being born; however, both sets died soon after birth.

The President is returning from his vacation at Key West, Fla., today. He could invoke the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, which call for an 80-day cooling-off period, if he thinks that step is necessary to avert a strike threatened for April 8.

Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson called off a meeting of his top aides to discuss the steel wage-price situation. He also discarded plans to issue a statement setting forth the government position.

Instead, Wilson met separately with Roger L. Putnam, head of the Economic Stabilization Agency; Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB); and Ellis Arnall, director of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS).

The WSB last week recommended a settlement which would include a three-installment pay boost of 17½ cents an hour, plus other benefits worth about five cents an hour, for the 650,000 steelworkers.

The union, headed by Philip Murray, accepted the proposal and started individual talks with producers on the basis of the WSB plan, which Wilson has described as a serious threat to the whole stabilization program.

Feinsinger replied "Hell, no!" when asked whether Wilson had suggested today the WSB back-track and recommend a smaller wage boost. Arnall declined comment on his talk with Wilson.

Students Indicted in Grave Robbery

CHATHAM, Va., March 27—(AP)—Spirit rites around a freshly dug-up skull and bones in a college lounge room led today to the indictment of six students on the felony charge of grave robbing.

A special Pittsylvania County grand jury certified the charges against two girls and four young men to make more solid the wraith-like rumors that have been whispered hereabouts for nearly a month.

Five of the students attended Averett College and the other attended Danville Technical Institute.

Waitkus Assailant To Face Charges

CHICAGO, March 27—(AP)—The Chicago typist who was found insane after she shot and wounded baseball player Eddie Waitkus in 1949, was returned today from Kankakee state hospital to face charges of assault with intent to kill.

Miss Ruth Steinhagen, 22, committed to the hospital after the shooting, was released today to Cook County (Chicago) authorities. She has been pronounced cured.

Kefauver Tells Truman to Let Voters Alone

By the Associated Press

Senator Estes Kefauver called on President Truman, in effect, yesterday to keep hands off and let the nation's democratic voters choose their own nominee if Truman himself decides not to seek re-election.

Kefauver spoke out after reading reports—unconfirmed but not denied by the White House—that Truman has asked Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to become the administration's candidate for President.

Truman withheld any comment on the purported offer to Stevenson. Returning to Washington from his Florida vacation, the President told newsmen he could not say anything about it at this time.

Along with Kefauver's jab at any king-making move by the President, a well-informed democratic source in Washington suggested that Truman may have little say about the choice of a successor by the time the democratic national convention rolls around in July.

The President may find he will have lost complete control of everything by that time," the Capitol informant said.

Cats were first domesticated by the Egyptians and were mentioned in Sanscrit manuscripts before 2000 B.C.

Russia Offers Views On German Peace

MOSCOW, March 27—(AP)—Diplomatic sources said tonight Russia has told the West that Germany should get the same military deal as Japan got in the San Francisco peace treaty, even though Russia still regards that pact as illegal.

Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, in a highly unusual step, gave his country's views Tuesday in a half-hour oral analysis of American, British and French replies to Russia's proposal that the Big Four sign a peace treaty with a unified Germany.

He talked to diplomatic representatives of the three western nations after receiving the texts of their replies, delivered jointly to the Kremlin.

Vishinsky told the diplomats Russia stands firm in rejecting western proposals that elections for an all-German government be supervised by the United Nations. He said such elections should be prepared by the presently divided East and West German governments with whatever aid is necessary from the Big Four.

The West insists that United Nations commission be permitted to study whether conditions in East and West Germany are favorable for free all-German elections. The West German government welcomed the commission, but the Soviet-backed East German government refused to let it in.

The Russian proposal is that a united Germany, staying clear of foreign commitments such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the proposed unified European army, be permitted to build up her own army, navy, and air forces for defense.

Judge Extends Railroad Order

CLEVELAND, March 27—(AP)—A federal judge today extended to April 10 a temporary order restraining unions of engineers, firemen and conductors from striking against the railroads.

With the consent of both the government and the unions involved, Judge Emerich B. Freed continued his restraining order of March 11 beyond its original expiration time of next Monday.

It was that order which ended a three-day strike against the New York Central lines west of Buffalo and the St. Louis terminal association. About 5000 strikers walked off their jobs in an effort to force action on their three-year-old demands for work rule changes, a 40-hour week for yard duty, and pay raises.

Charles W. Fairbanks was vice-president under Theodore Roosevelt during his second term of office.
