

The Daily Collegian

Successor to THE FREE LANCE, est. 1887

Published Tuesday through Saturday mornings inclusive during the College year by the staff of The Daily Collegian of The Pennsylvania State College.

Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1934, at the State College, Pa., Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

Collegian editorials represent the viewpoints of the writers, not necessarily the policy of the newspaper. Unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Marv Krasnansky Editor
Edward Shanken Business Mgr.

Managing Ed., Ron Bonn; City Ed., George Glazer; Sports Ed., Ernie Moore; Edit. Dir., Bob Fraser; Makeup Ed., Moylan Mills; Wire Ed., Len Kolasinski; Society Ed., Carolyn Barrett; Feature Ed., Rosemary Delstanty; Asst. City Ed., Lee Stern; Asst. Sports Ed., Dave Colton; Bob Vosburg; Asst. Society Ed., Greta Weaver; Librarian, Joan Kuntz; Exchange Ed., Paul Beighley; Senior Bd., Bud Fenton.

Asst. Bus. Mgr., Janet Landau; Advertising Mgr., Bob Leyburn; National Adv. Mgr., Howard Bolkey; Circulation Co-Mgrs., Jack Horsford, Joe Sutovsky; Personnel Mgr., Carolyn Alley; Promotion Co-Mgrs., Bob Koons, Melvin Glass; Classified Adv. Mgr., Laryn Sax; Office Mgr., Don Jackel; Secretary, Joan Morosini.

STAFF THIS ISSUE

Night editor, Dot Bennett; Copy editors, Jim Peters, Bettie Loux; Assistants, Mary Adams, John Sheppard, Bev Dickinson, Nancy Ward, Bill Jost.

Advertising staff: Bob Potter, Marilyn Dupont, Phyllis Richards.

Inkling Needs Student Support

Inkling, the latest in a long line of Penn State literary publications, is now on sale. To date the sale has been disappointing.

No publication can exist without readers. And right now Inkling is suffering from a lack of readers.

We do not pretend to be literary experts, but from what we have been able to learn to date, Inkling's current effort deserves the support of the student body. The editors have worked hard and long to overcome the many obstacles which have been strewn in their path.

Inkling may not represent the best in literary effort, but it is a respectable book, worthy of the support of 1300 students—the number of sales it would take to make the magazine meet costs. We don't think 1300 is too large a goal.

If Inkling cannot get student support, we are quite certain that it will be the last literary effort on the Penn State campus. We hope there are at least 1300 Penn Staters who are aware enough of the value a permanent literary magazine would be to Penn State to make a 25 cent investment.

PSCA Calls You

The Penn State Christian Association is taking over College Sportswear, Inc., during next week to raise money for its treasury.

During the week the store will be run by students, members and supporters of the PSCA, who generously donate a few or many hours of their free time to the project.

Many students will be needed to work as clerks since the store will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day, Monday through Saturday.

The need for personnel is especially great during the lunch and dinner hours each day, and on Friday and Saturday nights. However, volunteers are needed for all hours.

Can you spare an hour or two to devote to this project? PSCA is your YMCA and YWCA on campus, performing here the functions these groups perform in your home town. To fulfill its functions, PSCA needs the money raised by projects such as this.

Will you support its projects so that later you may share its benefits?

—LaVonne Althouse

The Sap Flows...

The College weather station says we have seen the last of the snow, and the calendar reads March 28, so it looks as if spring is really here.

This is the time of year a young man's (and a young lady's, too) thoughts turn to... so if the Daily Collegian starts looking as if spring is really here... it is.

Safety Valve—

If Waynesburg Can Send Team, Why Can't Penn State?

TO THE EDITOR: I have watched with increasing interest the little episode which has taken place here at State regarding the sending, by the College, of three men to the tournament in Colorado.

I feel that a gross injustice has been done to Charlie Speidel and his entire team. Why can we not send eight men to Colorado? Is it the expense? If it is, why all this talk about Penn State being a "big name" college? Obviously, it isn't. Yet how expensive can it be if little Waynesburg College can send five men to the tournament?

This is our big year. We cannot win, but we would have had the best chance we've ever had to do so. Oklahoma A&M is sending 15 men.

One other thing interests me: why did we not know about this before? Were they a little sheepish about announcing their decision? If so, isn't it rather obvious what stand they should have taken?

To me it seems a rather shallow thing to do to the men who have gone through an undefeated season, emerged as eastern champions, and were in contention to really put Penn State on the map by gaining national recognition. I hope we saved ourselves a little money; but I think the price was a little high to pay—don't you?

—Thomas Runyan

Letter Cut

(Ed. Note: Three of Penn State's starters, Don Frey, Hud Samson, and Lynn Illingworth, were not able to make the trip because of injuries. As far as we know, there was no request for them to be allowed to compete in the nationals.)

Gazette...

Friday, March 28

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP, 405 Old Main, 7:30 p.m.

LION PARTY STEERING COMMITTEE, 409 Old Main, 6:30 p.m.

ROGER WILLIAMS FELLOWSHIP, Gay Nineties costume party, University Baptist Church, 7:30 p.m.

Sunday, March 30

LION PARTY STEERING COMMITTEE, 409 Old Main, 2 p.m.

NITTANY BOWMEN field shoot, Forestry parking lot, 2 p.m.

LION PARTY, 10 Sparks, 7 p.m.

COLLEGE PLACEMENT

General Steel Castings Corp. will interview June graduates in Metallurgy Monday, April 7.

Glenn L. Martin Co. will interview graduates at all levels in Aero.E., M.E., E.E., and C.E. Monday, April 7.

North American Aviation Inc. Aerophysics, Electro-Mechanical and Atomic Energy Research Div. will interview June graduates in Phys., C.E., M.E., E.E., Aero.E. and C.E. Monday, April 7.

North American Aviation Inc. Columbus Div. will interview June graduates in M.E., C.E., E.E., and Aero.E. Monday, April 7.

North American Aviation Inc. Engineering Div. will interview June graduates in M.E., E.E., C.E., Aero.E. and Arch.E. Monday, April 7.

Philadelphia Electric Co. will interview June graduates in E.E., M.E., C.E., I.E., and Phys. Monday, April 7.

Westinghouse Airbrake Co. will interview June graduates in M.E. Monday, April 7.

Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. will interview June graduates in Min.E., M.E., E.E., I.E., C.E., and Ch.E. Thursday, April 3.

Phileo Corp. will interview graduates at the B.S. and M.S. levels in M.E. and E.E. Thursday, April 3.

Aetna Insurance Group will interview June graduates interested in insurance (not life insurance) Tuesday, April 8. Insurance or Econ. majors are preferred.

Aluminum Co. of America will interview June graduates in M.E., Metal, Ch.E. and I.E. Tuesday, April 8.

Arma Corp. will interview June graduates (men and women) in Phys., E.E., M.E. and Acct. Tuesday, April 8.

Ebasco Services, Inc. will interview June graduates in M.E., E.E. (power) and C.E. Tuesday, April 8.

Link Aviation will interview June graduates in E.E. Tuesday, April 8.

Penn Mutual Insurance Co. will interview June graduates interested in insurance sales Monday, April 7.

Truscon Steel Co. will interview June graduates in Arch.E. and C.E. Tuesday, April 8.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Room and board for man with car. Married couple without children for permanent summer job near State College.

Men interested in working for meals. Night guard and handyman for permanent job in Boalsburg. Person to do calculating for laboratory.

Permanent dishwashing jobs 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Women for stenographic work Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. until noon.

AT THE MOVIES

CATHAUM: Sailor Beware 2:13, 4:03, 5:59, 7:47, 9:45

STATE: Big Trees 2:11, 4:06, 5:55, 7:59, 9:39

NITTANY: The Razor's Edge 6:25, 8:19, 10:15

We are all parts of an infinite plan which is wholly wise and good.—Bucke

Little Man On Campus

By Bibler

"They should do something about that corner—I'll bet there's an accident there every day."

The Old Millstream

By MOYLAN MILLS

The props are all put away, and the Gridiron Banquet is back in moth-balls for another year. But the props committee will probably never forget the ordeal of gathering "everything from anywhere."

Each year the task of corralling props is thrust on an unexpected junior who realizes not what is in store. This year sabres were procured from Thespians, "Ku Klux Klan" outfits from a local fraternity, a Dean of Women's outfit from Players, unmentionables from a female member of the Daily Collegian staff, records from WMAJ, and a dog from Sigma Chi.

That dog, by the way, was the most cooperative animal we've ever run into. He didn't utter a word through two skiis and walked on stage with nary a push when it was his turn to take center stage. Lassie couldn't have done better.

Each year the unforeseen occurs at the last minute. This year was no exception. The Nittany Lion Inn is difficult to decorate because the Inn naturally prefers to have its walls unscarred and its decorations left in tact. Therefore, enterprising Sigma Delta Chi-ers used sheets hung from the ceiling molding on which to put flags, silhouettes, etc.

Only this year, no sheets turned up among the various props. Therefore, we had to get the sheets from the first available bed. Our brother is still wondering what happened to his sheets between 4 and 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Bedlam is again reigning in Schwab Auditorium as Thespians put together their annual spring show. Lobby, basement, stage, and aisles are filled with guys half in and half out of prospective costumes, dancers deciding whether to wear taps or soft shoes, and singers patiently awaiting the entrance of "Sally's" and some food.

The show should certainly dazzle the eye, since Thespians are spending more money than ever before on sets and costumes. New curtains will refurbish Schwab stage for "A Connecticut Yankee" which hits the boards next week, meaning, of course, that Schwab will be no man's land for the timid soul until then.

A few weeks ago, we mentioned in this space a commercial school in New York which teaches slow readers how to increase their speed. We recall that the school champ read about 800 words per minute.

Now it has been brought to our attention that those New Yorkers are pikers. Right here at Penn State there are students ripping off a phenomenal 2300 words per minute. These word demons are members of a course in reading habits given by the College. Class members claim that studying takes no time at all. In fact, "Gone With the Wind" is reported to have been a half hour class exercise.

The IFC Ball and Flowers

... go together for a wonderful evening ... See us for fresh flowers for her.

- Camellias
- Roses
- Orchids
- Carnations
- Gardenias
- Spring Flowers

Bill McMullen, Florist

122 E. College Ave.

Phone 4994

The TAVERN

MENU

Friday, March 28

- LOBSTER TAILS
- BAKED STUFFED PEPPERS
- FRENCH FRIED SHRIMP
- AND SCOLLOPS
- PRIME STEAKS
- DINNER 5-7:30 p.m.
- Reservations after 6:30

IF YOU
Consider Yourself Well Educated
SEE

Penn State Players production of HEDDA GABLER

at Center Stage
this Friday and Saturday