100 Students Help in PSCA Sales Project

Approximately 100 students are finding that "the customer is always right" as they assist the Penn State Christian Association with their College Sportswear project which started yesterday.

The PSCA has taken over John Balswin's College Sportswear Inc., corner of S. Allen street and E. Beaver avenue, during this week. Profits on the sales will go to the PSCA treasury.

This is the second year that PSCA has carried on this project. Members and supporters of the organization are donating some of their free hours to act as clerks in the store, which will be open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day this week.

Arnold, Laubach Head Lion, State Party Slates

Kimmel, Lemyre on Class Slates

John Laubach, president of the Association of Independent Men, will be the State Party candidate for the office of All-College President in the April 22 and 23 All-College elections.

Also on the State Party ticket for All-College offices are James Plyler and William Griffith for vice president and secretary treasurer, respectively.

The elections were held Sunday night, with over 200 in attendance.

Senior Class

Theodore Kimmel won the nomination for the senior class presidency, with the junior class presidential nomination going to Richard Lemyre.

Other senior class nominations went to William O'Malley for vice president and Margaret Hepler for secretary treasurer. Gail Shaver won the nomination for junior class vice president, while Ann Quigley got the vote for junior secretary treasurer.

The only run-off election held was that for the office of All-College vice president. The contest was between Howard Wright and Plyler, the latter being the candidate endorsed by the party steering committee. Plyler won by a vote of 132 to 77.

'Best Qualified'

The candidates for other offices were unopposed, and all were recommended by the party steering committee. Following the announcement of the committee's preferences, all other candidates who had been nominated, except Wright, withdrew from the race.

In explaining the steering committee's choices, Thomas Farrell, party clique chairman, said they were the candidates who the committee felt were best qualified and most likely to draw the winning votes.

The party platform turned in to the All-College elections committee Sunday night and will probably be released tomorrow. The election campaigns begin April 16.

'Yankee' Tickets Now Available At Student Union

Tickets for Thespians' "A Connecticut Yankee," based on Mark Twain's fable of a Yankee who finds himself back in the days of knighthood, are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Prices are $1 for Thursday night and $1.25 for Friday and Saturday nights and the Saturday matinee.

Ed Rolf plays Martin, a young Naval lieutenant who, with the aid of an eclipse of the sun, and a little New England ingenuity, succeeds in becoming top man in King Arthur's court.

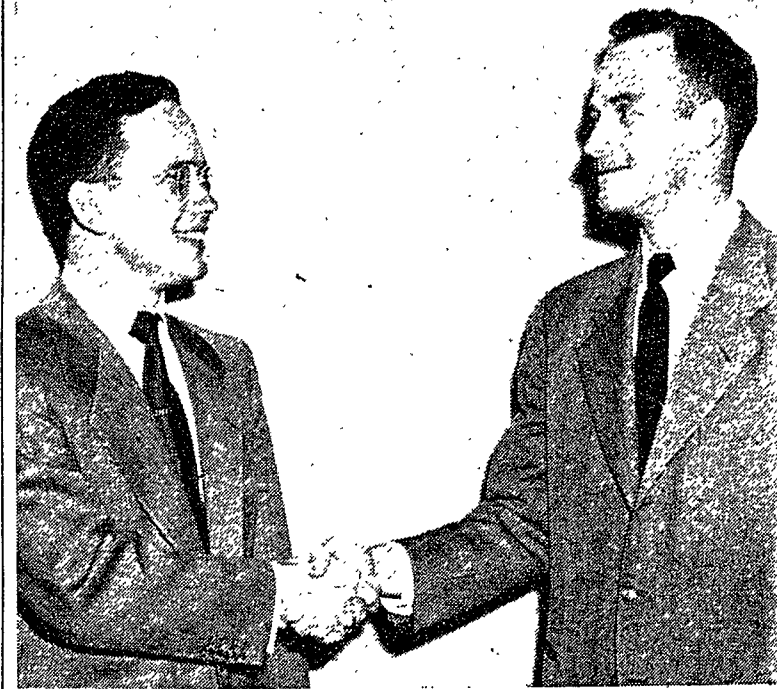

In addition to an 11-man cast, the show includes 37 dancers and glee singers who will present both the traditional Rodgers and Hart music and four original dance routines.

Jazz Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Woody Herman jazz concert to be held Friday in conjunction with IFC-Panhel weekend are now on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

John Allison, co-chairman of the concert, reported that there are still a number of tickets available at $1.25.

To Vie for Presidency

STATE AND LION Party candidates for All-College President congratulate each other. John Laubach (left) heads the State party ticket in the April 22-23 elections. He shakes hands with Forestry Council President Joseph Arnold, the Lion Party candidate. Both were elected to head their respective parties Sunday night.

APO 'Walks' Campaign Opens Today

The campus "Wear out the Walks" campaign, a modification of the usual "Keep off the Grass" campaign, begins today under the sponsorship of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

The object of the campaign is to produce a better looking campus by giving the grass a chance to grow, Theodore Van Tassel, campaign chairman, said yesterday.

We are not asking students to walk around areas where it is impracticable, he said, but we do want them to avoid making shortcuts where using sidewalks is only a few seconds longer.

Van Tassel said his committee hopes to make the College notice that walks are needed in some places. This can only be done by a student movement, he said. It will do little good for someone to ask for new walks until the students are stirred by the idea, he continued.

Signs appeared on campus yesterday urging the students to "Keep off the Grass" and in some cases asking "Would a Sidewalk Here Be Better?"

The campaign is an annual pledge project of the service fraternity. Pledges who worked on the plans are William Bawer, Robert Brooks, Dennis Hedges, Craig Hibben, Richard Hill, and John Kitzmiller.

Public May View Moon This Week

The College observatories will be open to the public tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday nights for observations of the moon, weather permitting.

Members of Alpha Nu, honorary astronomical society, will be at the observatories from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. to operate the telescopes, Dr. Carl A. Bauer, assistant professor of physics, announced yesterday.

Froth Parody Of 'This Week' On Sale Today

"This Reek," Froth's April Fool's Day issue, goes on sale today. "This Reek" is a parody on "This Week," a magazine which has a circulation of ten million weekly, and is distributed every Sunday with the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and the Pittsburgh Press.

The first photographic cover to appear on Froth is in this issue. It is related to the main feature, "The Truth about Youth," by Joseph and Stewart Feinburg. "The Truth about Youth" is a full report on teen-age crime, immorality, and dope addiction, staunchly defending the teenagers of today.

Froth Girl of the Month Mary Metford, is "This Reek's Stopper," taken in a very coincidental pose.

"Blonde Hair in his Beard," by Budd Bleutge and "For God for Country and for Yaroslobnia" are the two fiction features of "This Reek." Both are parodies of the fiction that appears in "This Week."

IFC to Close Nominations

Nominations for Interfraternity Council officers or next year will close at 5 p.m. today, Stanley Wengert, president, announced.

Nominations may be turned in to the Student Union desk in Old Main. Wengert said anyone may nominate himself.

At present, Arthur Rosfeld, Phi Delta Theta, is the only man up for president. Five men, Clifford Stewart, Thomas Geffert, William Hirsch, Thomas Judge, and Joseph Brown, have been nominated for vice president. For secretary treasurer the nominees are Richard Bunnell and Thomas Fleming.

An introduction of nominees will be made at the IFC meeting tomorrow night. Election of officers will be held April 7.

Edmunds, Kelly Seek Class Spots

Joseph Arnold, president of the Forestry Society and a former sophomore class president, has been named the Lion Party candidate for All-College president. Arnold was named to head the Lion ticket in the April 22 and 23 elections at a party meeting Sunday night.

Other All-College candidates on the Lion ticket are Joan Lee, vice president, and Richard Rostmeyer, secretary treasurer. About 150 students attended the nomination meeting.

Franklin Kelly received the party nomination for senior class president. Joseph Haines is the class vice presidential candidate and Peggy Mayberry won the secretary treasurer's nomination.

Freshman Chairmen Named
Theodore Edmunds will be the junior class presidential candidate. Robert Carruthers is the vice presidential candidate and Elizabeth Crooks is the secretary treasurer candidate.

Benjamin Sinclair was elected party freshman class chairman. He defeated Norman Levin who held the post last fall and was running for re-election. Thomas Umholtz was named party sophomore class chairman.

Meeting Was Second
The Levin-Sinclair election was the only run-off contest. All other candidates were unopposed. All nominations were made from the floor with no announced preferences by the party steering committee.

Sunday's meeting was the second nomination meeting. No nominations for All-College or class offices were made at the first meeting but Levin and Umholtz were nominated at that time.

The election campaign will begin April 16.
