Cabinet to Discuss Radio Station Plan

All-College Cabinet will discuss tonight the recently introduced campus radio station plan which includes a gift to the College of a $14,000 FM radio transmitter. The plan was introduced last week at cabinet but was tabled to allow time for students living off-campus to express their views on the plan.

As introduced last week, the plan calls for the establishment of an FM radio station on campus with nine slave transmitters in campus living units to convert the FM signal to AM.

Moshannon Approved as Airport Site

The Centre County Board of Commissioners has approved a County Airport Authority report designating Black Moshannon as the site of the Centre County airport.

A spokesman for the commissioners indicated yesterday that the board would adopt a formal resolution naming James B. Craig, of Bellefonte, to represent the county at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing Monday in Washington.

The county will make a formal request to the board to have Black Moshannon airport approved as the airline stop for the county, the spokesman said.

The action by the commissioners followed a split on the question by Bellefonte and State College borough councils Monday night. State College has consistently opposed the plan.

All American Airways, which serves this area, also has indicated its disfavor to the site and announced about a month ago that it had shelved any plan of serving the Black Moshannon airfield because of commitments made to nearby Albert Field, which is expected to complete improvements this spring.

Young Democrats To Meet Tonight

The Young Democrats will meet at 7 tonight in 102 Willard Hall, Joseph Stratos, temporary chairman, announced yesterday.

Stratos also asked co-ordinators to notify interested persons in their areas. Organizational plans will be explained by Kenneth Doverspike, and plans for a speaker will be discussed.

Those interested in active Democratic politics on campus may attend, Stratos said.

Included in the plan is the use of a $14,000, 1000 watt FM transmitter and an antenna. The unit was offered to the College last week by George P. Gable, head of the Gable Broadcasting Co. of Altoona. The College Board of Trustees accepted the gift Friday.

Tonight's meeting will be the final cabinet meeting under this year's All-College officers. The next cabinet meeting will be April 28 with new All-College officers, elected in the April 22-23 elections, presiding.

Cabinet will also hear the third reading and take a final vote on the proposed constitutional amendment which would establish a joint Freshman Customs Board. The new plan would create a customs board composed of four upperclassmen and four upperclasswomen.

A three-fourths vote of cabinet is required to pass the amendment, which would replace Article III, Section 5, of the present constitution.

Thomas Jurchak, All-College secretary treasurer, will present the budget for 1952-53. The proposed budget will be based on an expected income of $11,800 for next year, Jurchak said. Of that amount, he said, $9000 is expected from class dues and $2800 from class dances. Estimated expenses for next year will be $11,555, he said.

David Olmsted, senior class president, will present a proposal to add the president of the Radio Guild to the Board of Dramatics and Forensics. The addition of a new member to the board would require a constitutional change, he said.

Cabinet will also take a second vote on approval of a $250 expenditure to send representatives to the College Unions Convention.

Jazz Concert Tomorrow

As part of the IFC weekend, the Woody Herman orchestra will present a jazz concert from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Tickets are still available at the Student Union desk in Old Main at $1.25 per person.

Platforms Show 3 Similar Planks

Both Parties Back Plan For Press

The campaign platforms of the Lion and State parties were released yesterday, with three similar proposals appearing in the programs of the two parties.

In addition, the Lion Party platform contains two planks not listed by the State Party, while the State program proposes one item not covered by the Lions.

The platforms for the April 22 and 23 elections were released by Carrol Chapman, chairman of the All-College elections committee.

Both parties pledge support of programs to establish a student press for campus publications and to expand the medical facilities and service of the College. In addition both parties also favor a system for providing lists of recommended housing for students living off-campus.

A plank toward easing administration requirements, compelling students living on campus to contract for College dining services is another highlight of the Lion Party platform.

Both platforms are prefaced by pledges to carry out the planks if the party wins the elections.

Additional State Party planks call for:

1. The arrangement of an agreement with town doctors to provide for emergency house calls to dormitories and fraternity houses.
2. The establishment of a men's housing bureau to provide for improved and safe living conditions in off-campus housing.

Other points of the Lion Party platform back:

1. A program for inspecting downtown housing facilities to provide a list of recommended houses.
2. Action to make personal property insurance available to all students at reasonable rates.
3. The participation of part of the Blue Band at indoor athletic events.

Clark Releases Housing Plans for West Dorms

The West Dorm area will house 240 upperclassmen and 870 freshmen next year, in addition to more than 430 freshman coeds who will be housed in Thompson Hall, according to plans released by Russell E. Clark, director of housing.

The area will house 120 seniors, 60 juniors, and 60 sophomores next year, Clark said. Housing in the area will be determined by priority of application and All-College average. Preference will be given to students now living in College dormitories, he added.

The 240 upperclass total does not include rooms reserved for certified cases of physically disabled students who will be assigned separately, Clark said.

Juniors who wish to live in the West Dorm area as seniors next year may apply for accommodation.

AIM Hears 3 Proposed Changes

Three amendments to the Association of Independent Men's constitution were read for the first time by John Stoudt, chairman of the constitutional committee, at last night's AIM meeting.

The first amendment provides that nomination and election as president of AIM be restricted to fifth or sixth semester independent men students with an All-College average of 1. This would mean that on assuming office in the fall an AIM president would be either a second-semester junior or a first-semester senior. Nominations and elections are held in the spring.

The second amendment provides that the job of chairman of the constitutional committee be added to the duties of the vice president.

Stoudt suggested as a third amendment that AIM elections be held no later than the end of the second week in April instead of May as the constitution now reads.

Copies of the amendments will be distributed to all members of the AIM Board of Governors, Stoudt said. The amendment requires two readings before the board, a majority vote of the board, and a two-thirds vote of dormitory councils to be adopted.

John Laubach, AIM president, appointed John Stoudt, chairman; Richard Moxmorn, Richard Mills, Weston Tomlinson, Payson Clyde, and Dorlin Hays to a nominating committee for AIM.

College Accepts Gift of Stock For Loan Fund

Thirty shares of General Motors stock have been given to the College and will be added to the principal of the Ethel and Bayard Kunkle Loan Fund, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced yesterday.

The gift, which was accepted by the Board of Trustees at its meeting last Friday, was presented by Bayard Kunkle, of the class of 1907, a member of the Board of Directors and an executive of General Motors Corp.

Kunkle established the loan fund in 1946 with a gift of 200 shares of stock. The recent gift is the seventh he has made to the fund. The total value of the fund has now risen to $36,800.

Loans from the fund are to be made to married veterans in full-time attendance at the College. The loans, which cannot exceed $150, are made upon the recommendation of the Dean of Men and the approval of the comptroller.

Young Republicans

The Young Republicans Club will hold an organizational meeting at 7 tonight in 202 Willard, Vincent Yakowicz, temporary chairman, announced yesterday.

This will be the first meeting of the club and all persons on campus interested may attend, Yakowicz said.

'Yankee' Goes on Stage Tonight

Knighthood in King Arthur's day will flourish on the stage of Schwab Auditorium tonight as the Penn State Thespians open their spring musical-comedy production, "A Connecticut Yankee." Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

Based on Richard Rodgers-Lorenz Hart success which first opened on Broadway in 1927 to be revived ten years ago, the show is "probably the most expensive ever seen in Schwab," according to Ed Menerth, dialogue director.

A limited number of tickets are available for tonight's performance, as well as the weekend shows. They are $1 for tonight and $1.25 for tomorrow and Saturday nights and the Saturday matinee.

The show will feature such standards as "My Heart Stood Still" and "Thou Swell" as well as the jilting "I Feel at Home with You," "This is My Night to Howl," and "To Keep My Love Alive."

"To Keep My Love Alive," the only new number added to Herbert Fields' 1942 revival, was one of the last songs written by Lorenz Hart before his death.

The dancers will present four original routines by Michaline Claysmith, choreographer.

The role of the treacherous Queen Morgan LaFay will be played by Isabella Cooper, and Betty Richardson will play Sandy.

Ed Rolf will play the title role of Martin, the Yankee. This part was acted in film versions of the show by both Will Rogers, in 1931, and Bing Crosby, several years ago.

The role of the treacherous Queen Morgan LaFay will be played by Isabella Cooper, and Betty Richardson will play Sandy.

Dick Hartle will be seen as the court magician, Merlin, and Ed Korber will play King Arthur. Nancy Lou Thomas has the part of Evelyn, and Al McChesney will be Galahad.

The cast also includes Pat Marteller as Guinevere; Dick Brugger as Lancelot; Nancy Marcinek as Maid Angela; and Jack Harris as Sir Kay.

The dancers are Phyllis Auerbach, Patricia Bowles, Michaline Claysmith, Terry Dolson, Richard Dum, Helen Grottyohann, Alice Hennessy, Warren Hommas, Robert James, Sally Lou Jones, Alice Lindsay, Ruth Lyne, Celeste McDermott, Joanne McNally, Allan Miller, Moylan Mills, Joseph Rynewicz, Robert Sherer, Donald Stohl, Howard Warren, and Gloria Zukerman.

The gleesingers include Robert Bowers, William Greenham, James Erb, John Kelly, Charles Magriny, Lynn McCaffrey, James McCaughan, Emma McTurk, Kathryn Milliken, Marie Nelson, Patricia Reynolds, Margaret Roberts, Barbara Rollo, Harold Roush, Shirley Thornton, and Anna Mae Webb.

Ray Fortunato is production director; Frank Lewis, music director; Bob Chamberlain, technical director; and George Jason, assistant dialogue director.

Settings, which include a 15-foot tree made by Thespians, were designed by John Price. Carol Chapman is costume designer. The orchestra is under the direction of Jack Longnecker.
