

Political Changes Aren't Hysteria Solution-Biddle

By LIX NEWELL

Change in administration via this year's elections is not the way to eliminate the mass hysteria which is paralyzing the thoughts and actions of Americans today, Francis Biddle, former attorney general of the United States, said in an interview after his lecture Tuesday night.

He said that an over-conservative attitude is blocking construction not restricted to any particular political party.

tions from 7 to 9 p.m. April 21 in 108 Old Main.

Sophomores who wish to live in the area as juniors next year may apply for rooms from 7 to 9 p.m. April 22 in 108 Old Main.

Freshmen who wish to live in the area next year as sophomores may apply for rooms from 7 to 9 p.m. April 23 at the same place.

Juniors who apply for rooms must have at least a 1.0 All-College average. Sophomores must have a 1.5 and freshmen must have a 2.0, Clark said.

Those who cannot be accommodated under this plan will be assigned to a waiting list and will be placed in the West Dorm area on the basis of the list as vacancies occur, Clark said.

In addition to the 870 freshmen in the West Dorms, 750 will be placed in the Nittany area and 600 in the Pollock area, he said.

Contrary to rumors that have circulated on campus, Clark said, Thompson Hall will remain a women's dormitory.

The new housing plan is in accordance with the College Board of Trustees' ruling that all freshmen must reside in College dormitories. The men's dormitories will be filled to capacity next year, Clark said.

From April 28 to 30, students will be given a chance to apply for rooms in the Nittany and Pollock areas, Clark said.

Irish immigrants came to the U.S. because of famine and religious persecution.

Nesbitt to Address Dairy Association

Arthur Nesbitt, Pennsylvania field man for the Holstein Friesian Association of America, will speak to the local chapter of the American Dairy Science Association at 7 tonight in 117 Dairy Building.

He will show a film on "Holsteins in Their Native Land." Further plans for the Dairy Exposition to be held on May 10 will also be discussed.

A long, narrow stretch of land, generally sand, that extends from the shore into a body of water is known as a spit.

"I feel very strongly that something must be done to promote logical and fearless thinking," he declared.

Comments on Oath

Dr. Biddle, final speaker for the Liberal Arts Lecture Series, said that authorities who are not really authorities should not have the power to conduct wholesale investigations of a particular institution unless there is some real basis for suspicion. Spot investigations of specific instances, he said, would be more efficient and fairer to innocent persons.

Commenting on the Pechan loyalty oath, Biddle said that loyalty oaths in general are unwise and are a weak attempt to prevent subversive activities. He added that the instigators of such bills are merely "looking under the bed" in the hopes that something will be there.

Subversive Speakers

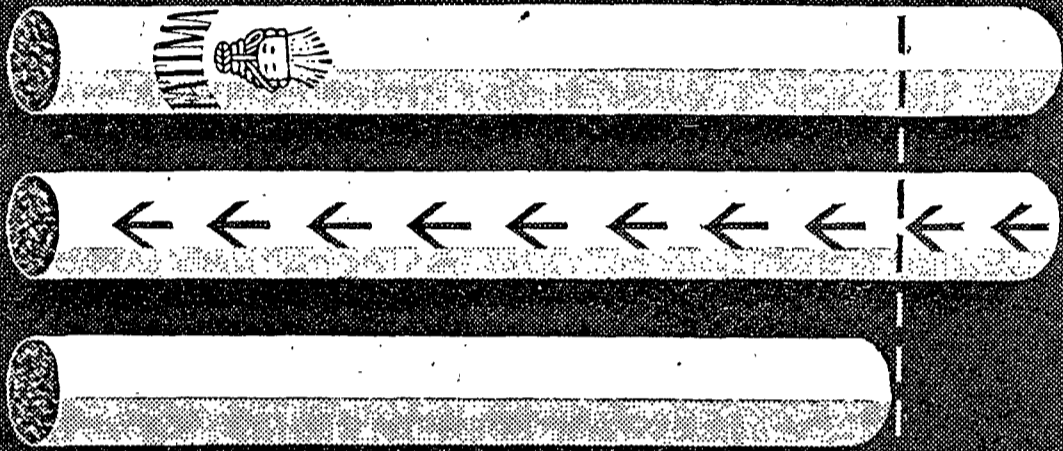

Freedom of thought and speech for the academic personnel of America's schools has long been under discussion, he said, but there can be no national backing because leaders of national groups are afraid that any "unorthodox" plan will leave them branded.

This brings up the problem of whether suspect persons should be allowed to speak on a campus, Biddle said. "I think that students are grown up enough and so vitally interested that they should be given the chance to hear subversives," he explained.

Chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action committee, Biddle was invited to speak by Dr. Herbert Steiner, associate professor of German. Biddle is the author of many books. His latest work is "The Fear of Freedom."
