

Student Clinic Set for Weekend

A student government clinic will be held at the College this weekend, opening with registration at 4 p.m. tomorrow and closing with a plenary session at 4 p.m. Sunday.

After registration from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday, the delegates will meet at an informal gathering.

On Saturday, registration will be from 8 a.m. until the first plenary session at 9:30 a.m. This session will include welcomes, conference explanations and introductions.

Eisenhower To Receive Alger Prize

President Milton S. Eisenhower is one of seven men chosen to receive 1952 Horatio Alger awards, given annually to men who have "risen from humble beginnings to the most outstanding achievements and service."

Others named for the 1952 awards were Ralph Bunche, UN delegate and Nobel Peace Prize winner; James J. Kerrigan, president of Merck & Co.; Charles Kettering, General Motors research consultant; Thomas E. Millsop, president of the Weirton Steel

Co.; the Rev. Norman V. Peale, minister and writer; and W. A. Roberts, president of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

The President had been named to receive the award last year, but he was unable to attend the ceremony. In order to get the award, the recipient must be present in New York City for the presentation. This year's awards will be given on Tuesday.

President Eisenhower was cited for working his way through school as a farm boy.

The citations are given by a committee of the American Schools and Colleges Association, a non-profit organization which dedicates itself to fostering and enhancing the American tradition of success through diligence, industry, ability, and service.

Groups Plan Pan-American Observances

An open meeting of the Spanish Club at 7 tonight in the main lounge of Simmons will continue the College's celebration of Pan-American Day. It was observed nationally Monday.

The activities began with two lectures given last week by students from South American countries and the showing of movies yesterday in Sparks.

In other lectures of the seminar, Enrique Monge will discuss Peru at 9 a.m. tomorrow in 105 Mechanical Engineering and will speak on "Tourism in Latin America" at 7 p.m. Tuesday in 304 Old Main.

Pedro Achenbach, of Uruguay, will talk about his native land at 9 a.m. Tuesday in 105 Mechanical Engineering.

The public is invited to attend all lectures, William H. Gray, faculty advisor of the Pan-American Week committee, said.

A fiesta at which Latin American dances will be taught will begin at 9 p.m. tomorrow at Phi Kappa. Marjorie Kahn, Martha Petrus and Marco Tio are in charge of the affair.

The first working session will be from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday. Participating students will be divided into two groups: Section I (schools under 2500 enrollment) and Section II (schools over 2500 enrollment). Topics will be freshman orientation, publicizing and promoting student government, school spirit, and apathy.

Lunch will be followed by the second working session at 2 p.m. Subjects will be honor systems, faculty rating, administration-student government-faculty relations, student government as a voice of the students, and national student association and student government.

Dinner at 5 p.m. will be followed by a meeting of officers at 7:30 p.m. A clinic at 8:30 p.m. will feature display explanations, and discussions.

At 2 p.m. Sunday the third working session will begin, with discussions on representation, discipline, publications, and finance. The closing plenary session at 3:30 p.m. will be followed by adjournment.

College Movie On Traffic Safety Wins Praise

"Borrowed Power," a motion picture produced by the motion picture and recording studio of the College, has been judged the second best non-theatrical film on traffic safety made in 1951 in the United States.

Frank S. Neusbaum, administrative head of the studio, produced the picture and was co-author of the script. Director and co-author was Henry L. Miller, while camera work and editing was done by Delmer P. Dunvall. Sound recording was done by Paul H. Seitzinger, and Gerald G. Hutchison assisted in the production.

The award was made recently in New York, N.Y., by the national committee on films for safety.

The film was produced for the American Automobile Association's Foundation for Traffic Safety, Washington, D.C., and deals with the story of a young man who is courteous in most of his daily relations with people but becomes careless and discourteous as soon as he gets behind the wheel of a car.

YMCA Secretary Will Speak At Chapel, Discussion Sunday

Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, executive secretary, national student council of the Young Men's Christian Association, will speak on "Religion with a Backbone" at 10:55 a.m. Sunday in Chapel.

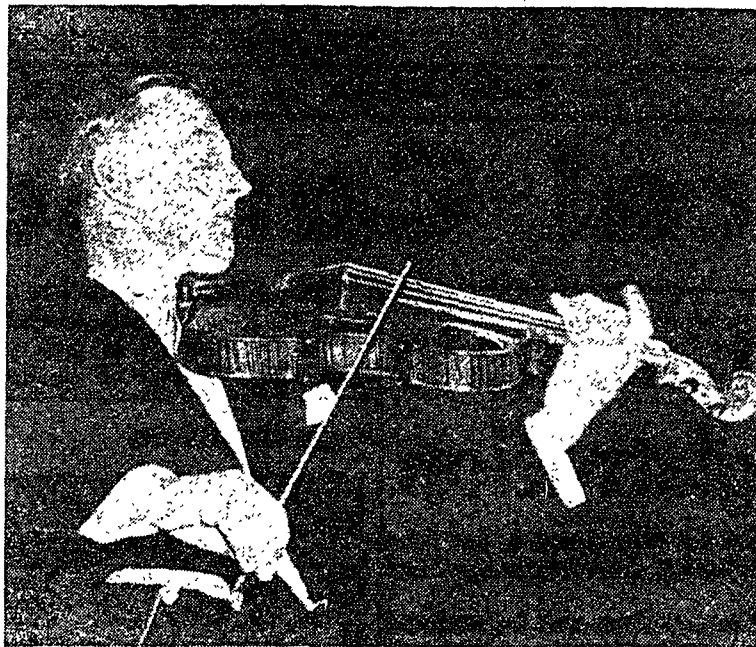

Dr. Espy will also be guest speaker at an informal discussion at 3 p.m. Sunday in the main lounge of Simmons Hall.

A native of Portland, Ore., Dr. Espy was graduated from the University of Redlands, Cal., and received his B.D. from Union Theological Seminary, New York City. He was awarded an exchange fellowship to Germany by the Institute of International Education and spent three years in post-graduate study at the Universities of Munich, Tubingen, and Heidelberg.

Dr. Espy has spent much of his time traveling in Europe in behalf of the World Student Christian Federation and International Student Service.

Espy to Speak To 77th Annual PSCA Dinner

Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, executive secretary, national student council of the YMCA, will be guest speaker at the 77th annual Penn State Christian Association dinner.

Today is the last day to make reservations for the dinner, which will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday in the basement of the Faith Reformed Church. Tickets, priced at $1.35, may be purchased at the PSCA office, 304 Old Main, or from PSCA cabinet members.

Irene Jeffress, retiring president of the organization, will introduce the newly-elected cabinet members at the dinner. Graduating seniors will receive recognition for their work in the organization and gifts.

John Baldwin, owner of College Sportswear Inc., will announce the results of PSCA's recent project. PSCA took over College Sportswear, Inc., for a week, March 31 to April 6, to raise money for its treasury.

David Lewis will act as master of ceremonies for the dinner.

Council on Education committee chosen to guide the television project, expressed confidence that the FCC's action would "encourage institutions of higher learning to move more quickly and more positively in their consideration of the potentialities of television as an educational device."

State College was awarded one educational TV station in the FCC allotment, but a check by the Associated Press revealed that the only educational application on file is one filed last year by Miami.

The conference at the College, first of its kind, will be formally known as the Educational Television Programs Institute and will bring to the campus more than a dozen college and university presidents, plus an impressive array of specialists in educational television.

President Arthur S. Adams of the American Council on Education, who will open the four-day conference, said the allocation plan would give every TV viewer "a far greater range of programs than would have been possible under any other plan."

Daylight Saving Set

The College will operate on Daylight Saving Time beginning April 27, when the borough of State College changes to the summer time.

Marshall Elected New PSCA Head

Allen Marshall, sixth-semester forestry student, was elected president of the Penn State Christian Association in elections held April 4 to 9.

Since the PSCA constitution requires that 50 per cent of the organization's members must vote before the ballots of an election can be counted, the elections were extended an extra day. They had been set for April 4 to 8.

Other officers chosen were Robb Keener, vice president; Patricia Jones, secretary, and Richard Smith, treasurer.

Committee chairmen selected were David Howell, finance; LaVonne Althouse, program; Elizabeth Byrem, public relations; LaVerne Applegate, new students; and Ruth Freed, membership.

Martha Heckman and Garry Norris were elected to represent students on the PSCA board of directors.

The new cabinet will be introduced at the annual PSCA dinner Saturday night in the Faith Reformed Church. They will take office May 1.

Co-chairmen of committees, two more students to be members of the board of directors, and sub-committee chairmen will be appointed by the new cabinet early in May.

NAAU Gym Ticket Sales Total 1652

Ticket sales for the combined men's and women's National Amateur Athletic Union and Olympic gymnastic tryout tournament scheduled for April 25-26 in Rec Hall have reached 1652, W. R. Hosterman, Jr., assistant graduate manager of athletics, said yesterday.

More than one-half of this total has been sold for Saturday, Hosterman said, with 884 reserved tickets and 295 unreserved seats having been sold.

For Friday, 211 ducats have been sold for the afternoon session while 262 ducats have been sold for the evening session, Hosterman said.

Ticket applications have come from as far north as Canada, as far south as Louisiana, and as far west as California.

Tickets are still on sale at the Athletic Association office, 107 Old Main. Prices are 30 cents Friday afternoon and 90 cents Friday night. All seats are unreserved for these performances.

A combination ticket will be in effect Saturday night with one ticket being good for both sessions. Prices are $1.80 for unreserved seats and $2.40 for reserved seats.

Oil Executive Will Address E and C Seniors

Paul W. Boynton, employment supervisor for Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., will speak to seniors in Economics and Commerce at 3 p.m. today in 317 Willard Hall.

Alpha Kappa Psi, Chi Theta, and Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternities, are sponsoring the talk, which is open to the public.

Boynton, author and public speaker, spends 50 per cent of his time each year traveling between colleges from coast to coast to interview students for positions with Socony-Vacuum. He estimates that he has interviewed at least 75,000 persons since he joined the company's personnel department in 1924.

A native of Connecticut, Boynton the author of many books, including "Six Ways to Get a Job," "So You Want a Better Job," "Recruiting for Industry," and "Selecting the New Employee."
