

Band Festival Concert to Be Recorded

Concert Tonight Will Conclude 3-Day Festival

Phonograph records of the fifth annual Intercollegiate Band Festival will be made at the concert to be held at 8 tonight in Recreation Hall, James W. Dunlop, associate professor of music education and host to the festival, announced yesterday.

Both long-playing microgroove and regular 78 rpm records will be available, Dunlop explained, adding that orders will be received today and after the concert at the Student Union or at State College 4724.

The concert tonight will conclude the three-day festival in which 123 students from 23 colleges have participated. Twenty-three members of the Penn State Blue Band are among the participants.

Dr. William D. Revelli, professor of wind instruments and director of bands at the University of Michigan, will conduct the band in the presentation of 11 numbers.

The program will include "Procession of the Nobles" from "Mlada" (Rimsky-Korsakov), "Overture for Band" (Mendelssohn), "Purple Pageant" (King), "First Suite in E Flat" (Holts), "Military Symphony in F" (Goose), "Brooke's Chicago Marine Band March" (Seitz), "Finale from Symphony No. 4 in F Minor" (Tschaiakowsky), "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (Kern), "American Salute" (Gould), "Concerto in Jazz" (Phillips), and "La Sorella" (Gallini).

Tickets for the concert, priced at $1, may be obtained at the Student Union desk, or from members of the Blue Band.

Five Pledge To Second Blood Drive

About a dozen students have picked up pledge forms and five have turned in their pledges to donate blood on April 30 when the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the TUB, Ted Allen, campus Red Cross representative, said yesterday.

Goal of the drive is 200 student contributions. All the blood donated April 30 will be sent to the armed forces in Korea and to servicemen's hospital, Allen said.

Students who wish to pledge blood may pick up forms at the Student Placement Office, 112 Old Main. The forms must be completed and returned by 5 p.m. next Friday, April 25, Allen said. After the pledge cards are turned in, he said, appointment cards will be mailed to the prospective donors.

The Bloodmobile will arrive at the TUB April 30 after a one-day stop in the borough, where an equal number of donations is being solicited. The bloodmobile will be at the TUB from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

About 15 students will assist at the TUB on the collection day by handling refreshments for the donors and doing other work. Allen reminded students that persons under 21 years of age must have a written minor's release form from their parents.

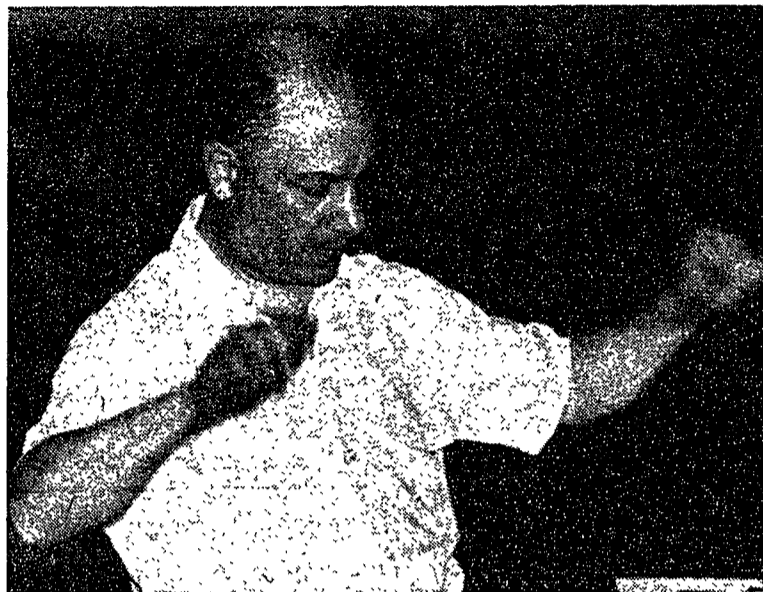

The Bloodmobile was on campus last fall, when a successful drive was held with about 1000 pledges being received. The blood donated at that time was also sent for use by the armed forces.

Orientation Group To Meet Monday

The orientation counselors committee will meet at 4 p.m. Monday in 109 Old Main to discuss final arrangements for selecting student counselors for the fall semester orientation program.

Daniel DeMarino, assistant dean of men, said yesterday the committee is trying to set up a program by which new students enrolling in any school at the College would be counseled by students already enrolled in that school.

Strike up the Band

WILLIAM D. REVELLI, director of bands at the University of Michigan, rehearses the 123-piece Intercollegiate State Band for its concert in Recreation Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Tickets for the concert are priced at $1.

Air Force to Show Cadet Training Film

Capt. Charles A. Herzog, aviation cadet project officer for this area, will show an Air Force film at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in the meeting room of the Elks Club, 119 S. Burrows street.

The film depicts the life and training of aviation cadets and will be shown to students interested in applying for the cadet training program.

Herzog said that 150 applications will be accepted from students who will graduate this semester or those students who are single and between the ages of 19½ and 26½ and have 60 college credits.

These men must be physically fit and if applying for pilot training, must have 20-20 uncorrected eyesight. Applicants for observer must have at least 20-50 eyesight, corrected to 20-20. Observer ratings include navigator, radar bombardier, interceptor radar officer and aircraft performance engineer officer.

Herzog stressed that the air force is not interested in taking men out of college who would otherwise be planning to complete their education. The program is for those men who will be graduating in June, he explained, or who will be leaving college at the end of the semester for financial or other reasons.

An accepted aviation cadet will be deferred from the draft for four months while awaiting class assignment. He may enlist for a period of two years. He will receive training for the first year during which time all expenses will be paid. In addition, he will receive $105 a month and a commission of second lieutenant on completion of the training.

Applications will be accepted at these meetings, Herzog said, but the men will not be enlisted until the school year is terminated.

Physical examinations will be given at the Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, at the convenience of the applicant. Transportation, meals, and lodging will be furnished to applicants.

8 Debaters Will Attend Tournament

Eight members of the College debate teams will be at Duquesne University to take part in a novice debate tournament over the weekend.

Representing the women's debate team will be Barbara Metzgar and Baylee Friedman on the affirmative, and Margaret Troutman and Sally Lowry on the negative.

Benjamin Sinclair and Kenneth White will debate affirmatively for the men, while John Barrons and Alexander Stamatier will uphold the negative.

Miss Metzgar and Miss Friedman, both freshmen, are new members of the women's squad this semester, while Miss Troutman and Miss Lowry, both sophomores, have been on the squad since last semester. Barrons and Stamatier, both sophomores, joined the squad last semester. White, also a sophomore, has been with the group four semesters. Sinclair, a freshman, has been on the squad since last fall.

Kenneth Warner, graduate assistant in speech, will accompany the women's team on the tournament with J. F. O'Brien, men's coach, accompanying the men's team.

5 Student Councils Slate Nominations

Four of the eight student councils will accept nominations next week for the April 28, 29, and 30 elections, while one of the other four, the Home Economics Student Council, will accept nominations until noon today in the main office of the Home Economics building.

The Physical Education Student Council nominations and elections will be held sometime in May. Election of officers in the Agriculture Student Council will be held May 13. Representatives to the Agriculture Student Council are elected by the various clubs of the school.

The Home Economics Student Council elections will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. Pictures of the nominees will be placed on a poster next to the ballot box in the main lobby of the Home Economics building. Girls may nominate themselves if they wish, Marilyn Franklin, elections chairman, said.

Nomination Procedure
Nominations for general representatives to the Engineering Student Council will be open Monday through Friday for sophomore, junior, and senior candidates, according to John Miller, head of the elections committee.

Miller said all persons interested in nominating themselves or someone else should turn the names in to their department head during the week. A complete list of the entries will be posted on all engineering bulletin boards by the following Monday morning. One sophomore, junior, and senior will be elected on April 29 at a meeting of the old council and the newly-elected members.

Home Ec Nominations
Nominations for positions on the Liberal Arts Student Council will take place Monday through Friday in Dean Ben Euwema's office, 132 Sparks building.

Eight sophomores, 11 juniors, and seven seniors will be elected. Candidates will nominate themselves and must have at least a 1.5 All-College average. Candidates accepted for a place on the ballot may submit a poster no larger than eight by ten inches to be displayed at the polling place.

Nominations for the Mineral Industries Student Council will open Monday, according to Mildard Rehberg, president. Students may nominate themselves by signing lists which will be posted on bulletin boards in the Mineral Industries building. Two members from the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes will be elected from an unlimited number of nominees. Voting will take place from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. April 28, 29, and 30 in the main lobby of the Mineral Industries building.

Chem-Physics Council
The new officers of the Education Student Council will be elected at a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in 215 Willard Hall. Ralph Egolf, president, announced. The officers will be elected by members of the present council, the president being elected by the junior class members, and the vice-president by the sophomore members. The secretary treasurer will be elected at large.

Students in the School of Chemistry and Physics may nominate themselves for the student council. Nomination forms and instructions will be posted on bulletin boards in Osmond and Pond Laboratories until Friday. Elections will be held April 28, 29, and 30.

Four juniors, four sophomores, and two freshmen will be elected to the council. Nominees must have a 1.0 All-College average. Length of terms are determined by the members' ability to maintain a 1.0 average.

Conference To Meet At Luncheon

The Pennsylvania Conference on Family Relations will meet at a luncheon in the the Allencrest Tea Room today. With them will be the group that conferred Friday at the College on human relations in the home, school, and community.

Dr. Ralph H. Ojemann, associate professor of psychology and parent education at the University of Iowa, will speak on "The Rule of the Family in Mental Health."

Featured speaker at the Pennsylvania Conference meeting following the luncheon will be the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John O'Grady, president of the National Council on Family Relations and secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities. His topic is to be "The Community's Stake in Family Life."

Dr. William M. Smith Jr., president of the group, and Drs. Jessie Bernard and Clifford R. Adams will present a panel discussion, "What's Penn State Doing in Marriage and Family Research?" Marguerite F. Little will show movies on family life and the group will discuss the subject "Communities Act for Family Life."

Brazil Attache Will Address Language Club

As his first assignment as cultural attache of the Brazilian delegation to the Organization of American States in Washington, Pedro Xisto Pereira De Carvalho will speak at an open meeting of the Portuguese Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Allencrest Tea Room.

A dinner will precede his discussion of modern Brazil. Reservations may be made by calling Dr. Gerald Moser, professor of Romance languages, or Richard Killinger, president of the Portuguese Club, by noon Monday.

Dr. Xisto will illustrate his talk with slides. No reservations are necessary to attend the lecture.

Dr. Xisto is a lawyer by profession. He is from Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he was director of the Museum of Modern Art. He held a position similar to his present one with the American government in Bolivia. According to Dr. Moser, he is interested in learning methods of teaching arts and letters in American universities.

Educators Approve Lifting of TV Ban

Educational leaders were agreed today that the decision of the Federal Communications Commission to lift its ban of almost three years on new television stations will give new meaning to the Educational Television Program, which will open with registration at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Nittany Lion Inn.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, who is chairman of the American Council on Education committee chosen to direct the TV project, said that the FCC's action would "encourage institutions of higher learning to move more quickly and positively in their consideration of the potentialities of television as an education project."

Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education, said that the FCC showed interest in public welfare when it reversed 242 TV stations for educational purposes.

Adams will speak to the institute on "Is Seeing Believing?"

The institute, which is expected to bring over 100 college presidents, public relations men, and television consultants to State College, will open at 6 p.m. tomorrow with a buffet dinner at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Video recordings produced by Lynn Poole, Johns Hopkins University, will be exhibited after the dinner, and Robert Fenwick, associate producer of the program along with Poole, will lead a discussion on science productions.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. Monday, the daily sessions will be moved to the Air National Guard Armory. Dr. Allen B. DuMont, president of the DuMont Laboratories Inc., will open the Monday session with a talk on "Educational Television."

The institute will continue through Thursday, with many of the sessions being small discussion groups.

Other speakers on the program include A. S. Dunton, chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.; William Hodapp, executive director of Teleprograms; and John S. Millis, president of Western Reserve University.
