

Cabinet Seats at Stake In All-College Elections

By DAVE PELLNITZ

Five seats on All-College Cabinet are included in the nine offices which will be at stake when the Lion and State parties lock political horns for the ninth time in the All-College elections Wednesday and Thursday.

Chief interest in the elections will be centered around the race for the offices of All-College, senior, and junior class presidents, all three of which are cabinet positions. The other two cabinet positions will go to winners of the races for All-College vice president and secretary treasurer.

Also at stake are the positions of vice president and secretary treasurer of the senior and junior classes.

Parties Hope for Sweeps

Another seat on cabinet will be filled in a non-political part of the elections. The victor in the contest for the office of president of the Athletic Association will also earn a cabinet position. Also to be elected next week are the vice president and secretary treasurer of the Athletic Association. The vice president of the AA will be the runner-up for the presidency.

The State Party is hoping to repeat last spring's sweep of all nine offices, while the Lions are striving to win back the prestige they had in the spring of 1949 and 1950 when they made a clean sweep of all nine offices.

Lions Sweep Two

The two parties met for the first time in the spring of 1948. The Lions, then a new party formed following the disbandment of the defunct Nittany-Independent group, took only one post during the election, and only one again in the fall of that year.

The following spring saw a complete switch, however, with the Lion group taking all nine offices. The State Party retaliated in the fall of '49, winning all six offices open, but the Lions came back with another complete sweep in the spring of '50. In the fall of that year the State group took four of six offices, with each party seeing a presidential candidate elected.

Election Dates Changed

Last spring, in a "do or die" effort, the Staters left the Lions in the cold, by taking all nine positions. In the fall, however, the two parties split evenly, with the presidencies of the freshman and sophomore classes going to the Lion candidates.

In the eight times the two parties have opposed each other, the State Party has captured 32 offices while the Lion Party took 28 positions.

This spring's elections were originally scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday but were moved back one day by the All-College elections committee at the request of both parties in order to allow more time for political campaigning.

course cards, a white one for the registrar and a pink one which will eventually form the instructor's class roll.

Minor schedule difficulties may be solved by merely changing sections at the department stations. The adviser's approval on such changes will not be necessary.

Any major schedule difficulties will be handled by a school representative who will also be stationed in Rec Hall. This representative will have the authority within the policies and regulations of the school to modify the schedule signed by the adviser. Telephones will be available at these school stations for calling advisers and other offices.

Once the students' schedule has been arranged satisfactorily he will complete the schedule on all the official forms and will write his name and matriculation number on the pink cards, but not on the white ones. The student will then go to the other stations where the various forms and cards will be taken from him.

Williams emphasized the fact that students who do not attend the first sessions of their classes may lose their priority to enroll in those sections. The vacancies would be filled by other students who specified a desire to take the course, but who could not do so because the section was filled.

Local Airfield To Be Stripped Of Equipment

All-American Airways, which in recent years served State College on a temporary basis, announced yesterday that all of its equipment at the State College Air Depot will be removed by May 1.

The move was in line with the company's recent announcement that it could no longer serve the area because of the inadequate facilities at the air depot, Colin H. McIntosh, vice president of operations for the airline, said.

The equipment was installed prior to the airline's first use of the depot in June, 1949.

Robert M. Love, president of All-American, recently announced the decision not to serve the area any longer on a temporary basis.

All-American served State College for six months, from May to October, last year.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 39...THE FLYCATCHER

"THEY HAD ME BACKED UP TO THE WALL!"

He's fast—he's smart—he covers ground—he's a real varsity outfielder! The 'quick-trick' cigarette mildness tests were almost too hot to handle, but he didn't make an error. He realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in slam-bang fashion. Millions of smokers throughout America know, too, there's a thorough way to judge cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...
