

Voting Gives State Party Four Cabinet Positions

State Party members will sit in four of the five All-College Cabinet seats that were at stake in the All-College and senior and junior class elections that ended Thursday.

John Laubach, All-College president; James Plyler, All-College vice president; Theodore Kimmel, senior class president; and Richard Lemyre, junior class president, will represent the State party on cabinet. Richard Rostmeyer, victor of the sole cabinet seat won by the Lion Party, caused the first split in an All-College election since 1948 by winning the office of secretary treasurer.

The other victorious State candidates were William O'Malley, senior class vice president and Margaret Hepler, senior class secretary treasurer. The other Lion candidates who won were Robert Carruthers, junior class vice president, and Peggy Crooks, junior class secretary treasurer.

That student government is becoming stronger in the minds of the student body was indicated by the record vote, Carrol Chapman, chairman of the All-College elections committee, said yesterday.

He added that he was very pleased to see the large number of split ballots and thought that the final split slate will be a good thing for student government.

In his statement, Chapman told the students that their voting duties were not yet over. He reminded them that the student council elections also play an important part in student government and he said he hoped there would be as large a turnout as there was in the All-College elections.

Clark Predicts Men's Housing May Be Scarce

A possible scarcity of campus living accommodations for men was forecast yesterday by Russell Clark, director of housing, in announcing the schedule of room reservations for the East dormitories.

The West Dorm accommodations for men are filled, he said, and about 14 groups have already reserved assignments in the East dormitories in accord with the group housing plan.

Group assignments in both Nittany and Pollock dormitories will continue to be accepted until 5 p.m. Tuesday, after which the department will begin processing individual applications.

Members of the present junior class will be processed Tuesday, sophomores Wednesday, and freshmen Thursday. Applications will be accepted from 7 to 9 p.m. each day in 108 Old Main.

The assignment schedule was moved back a day, Clark said, to prevent a conflict with the Honors Day program Monday night.

Under the group assignment plan up to 12 upperclassmen are permitted to apply in a body for reservations in each of the 24 Nittany dormitories and up to 16 for residence in each of the 13 Pollock dormitories.

Assignments will be made in the East dorm area in order of application receipt, Clark said in indicating a possible scarcity of rooms for next fall.

Language Lecturer To Speak Monday

Lois Boe Hyslop, Romance languages lecturer, will speak at 4:15 p.m. Monday in 121 Sparks on "Baudelaire on Poe."

Mrs. Hyslop and her husband, Francis E. Hyslop Jr., associate professor of fine arts, earlier this year completed the work of translating and editing Baudelaire's critical papers in a book called "Baudelaire on Poe."

40 Foundation Students To Go on Deputation

Forty students from the Wesley Foundation will travel to Methodist churches in and near Sunbury tomorrow morning, to participate in church services and present a concert of sacred music.

At 4 p.m. tomorrow the Wesley choir will present a concert of sacred music at the Northumberland church.

WAC, WAVE To Address Senior Women

WAC Capt. Ruth S. Reenstjerna and Lt. Margaret Howard of the Naval Reserve will be on campus Monday to speak with all interested senior women about commissions in the Army and Naval Reserves.

Details concerning the officer procurement program will be explained at an informal meeting at 4 p.m. Monday in the study lounge of McElwain Hall. Capt. Reenstjerna will be available from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Monday in 207 Woman's building.

To be eligible for a direct commission, a woman must be single, between the ages of 21 and 27, and a prospective college graduate. Capt. Reenstjerna will also explain other programs offered by the Army for women with only two years of college.

Ferguson to Speak

Dr. John H. Ferguson, professor of political science, will speak before the State College Kiwanis Club at 6 p.m. Monday in the State College Hotel.

Dr. Ferguson will speak on "The United Nations and the Security Council."

Woodrow Wilson was born in Staunton, Va., in 1856.

Seniors May Order Caps and Gowns

Graduating seniors may order caps and gowns next week at the Athletic Store, corner of E. College avenue and S. Allen street.

Engineering students may order on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday: education, home economics, and physical education students on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Dohl to Address Ag Eng Banquet

William Dohl, a 1950 agricultural engineering graduate, will be guest speaker at the annual student-faculty alumni banquet to be held today at the Lutheran Student Association gymnasium. The Penn State student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers is sponsoring the banquet.

Professor Emeritus Ralph Blasingame, former head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering, will speak of his experiences in Puerto Rico while doing consultant work.

Phys Ed Faculty

Today's faculty meeting of the School of Physical Education and Athletics has been postponed until 7:30 p.m. Monday. It will be held in 105 Willard.

Senate —

(Continued from page one) provide for disciplinary probation. Present regulations provide only for academic probation, and students held on disciplinary action are either suspended from school or allowed to remain.

Disciplinary probation, under the proposals, may be imposed by the committee on student affairs. Students breaking the provisions of disciplinary probation will be subject to discipline by the President.

A student on probation is not allowed to join any extracurricular activity of the College, and may not hold an office, be a committee member, or be active in any campus organization.

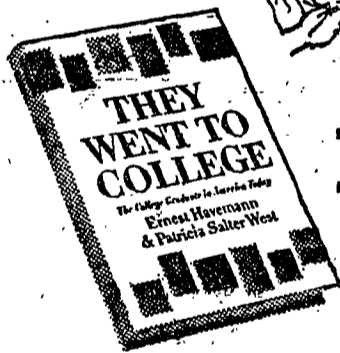

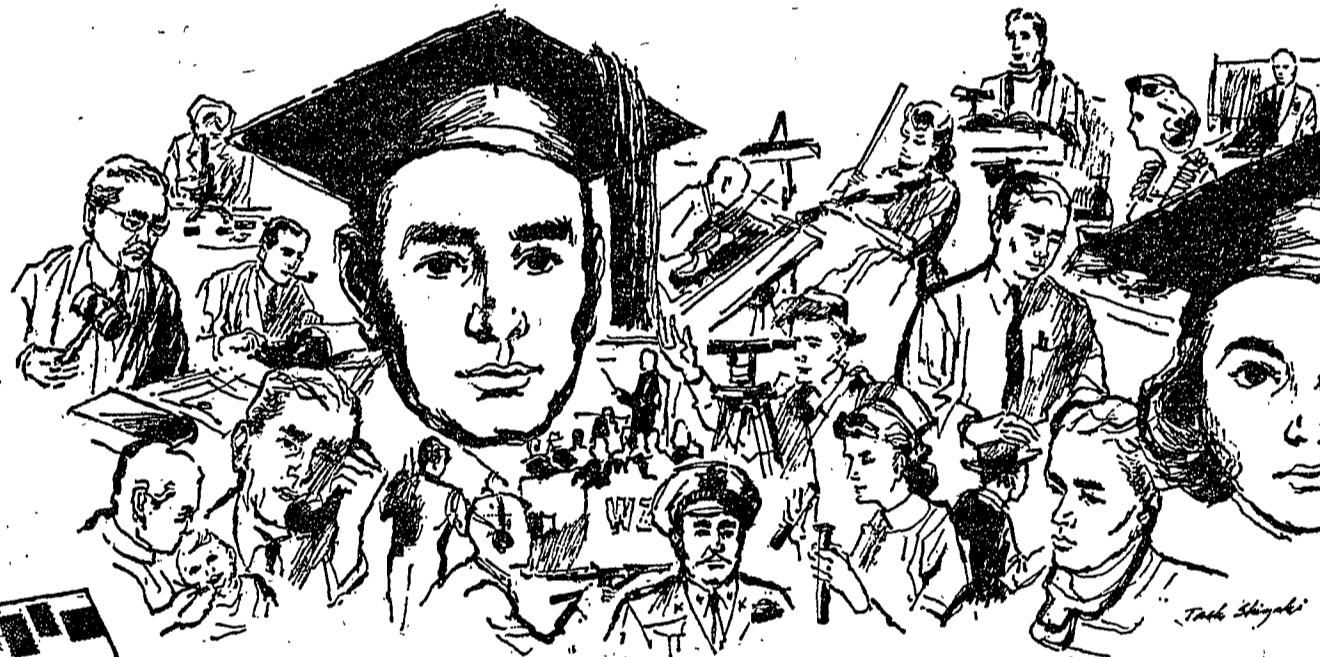

Another proposed change which the Senate will rule on calls for the approval of either the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women of the places for social functions. The present regulations only requires approval by these offices of locations for dances. Under the same regulation, two adult couples, excluding undergraduate married couples, shall be required as chaperons for all social functions.

Zoological Society

The Zoological Society will see movies and hear a talk on India by Frederick Knipe at 7:15 p.m. Monday in 214 Frear laboratory.

Knipe is connected with the Rockefeller Foundation and is doing research on DDT at the College.

This book is a guide to your future

Its subject: How have college graduates made out?

Published by Harcourt, Brace. Now on sale at your local book store.

How this book came about

They Went to College is based on a survey sponsored by TIME, whose interest in this group stems naturally from the fact that most of TIME's readers are college-trained.

TIME is written for you and people like you, people like the thousands of graduates of the more-than-a-thousand American colleges who answered TIME's questionnaire and revealed many facets of their lives—from the courses they took, to their religious beliefs.

This mountain of data was tabulated and analyzed by Patricia Salter West at the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Social Research, then turned over to Ernest Havemann, a former editor of TIME and a specialist at making interesting reading out of statistical material.

The result is a book of major importance to everyone.

Is it true that our colleges are turning out atheists and radicals?

How do graduates stack up against the self-made men who battled their way without the help of four years in college—but got a four-year head start in the business world?

Are they better husbands and wives? Is a sheepskin really worth all the effort?

You'll find answers to your future in the answers to these questions, questions that are explored in They Went to College, TIME's new book about one of America's most influential groups of people, the U.S. college graduates.

In its pages, you'll peer into the post-graduation careers of the ex-Greasy Grind, the ex-BMOC, the ex-All-Around Student and the One Who Just Sat There.

How many of them married, how many children did they have, who got divorced, who got the best jobs, what do they think of courses they took?

These are just a few of the former dark areas of conjecture and folklore lighted up by this unprecedented study.

Low-Down on Higher Learning

They Went to College is required reading for everybody who wants the real low-down on higher learning.

If you're an undergraduate, you'll learn much about your probable future.

If you're a college graduate, you'll find out how you stack up against your peers.

If you're a teacher, you'll discover what has become of your students.

And, no matter what your interest, you'll find fuel for plenty of debate in this book.

Because its audience represents one of the largest concentrations of college graduates reading any major magazine in the world today, TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine, undertook the comprehensive study which is the basis of this milestone book.

TIME—to get it Straight