

Lafayette Tests Unbeaten Lion Nine Today

State Aims to End Leopard's Three Season Dominance

By JIM PETERS

Coach Joe Bedenk will send his unbeaten Penn State nine against Lafayette this afternoon in what may be the toughest assignment of the season for the Lions. The game is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. at Beaver Field.

The Leopards (5-2-2) are traditionally a rough aggregation, and according to their record this spring, appear to be just as much a problem as ever. The Lions have not defeated Lafayette for three years. However, State will field a powerful team today that has swept past seven consecutive opponents this year.

The Lions are averaging better than seven runs a game, and as a team are hitting a potent .309, with catcher Bill Leonard leading the regulars with a .381 mark.

Lafayette may use Ronald Owen, its young freshman hurler, in today's all-important game. Owen, a southpaw from Wyoming, Pa., allowed only one unearned run in the 19 innings he pitched prior to Wednesday's game with Muhlenberg.

Bedenk is in a good position to start either of his aces, Bill Everson (3-0), or Jack Krumrine (2-0), or Keith Vesling (2-0). Everson beat the Bisons with only two days rest, and may get the call again today.

The rest of the Nittany line-up will probably be unchanged, showing Mike Hunchar, Bill Michalich, Carmen Troisi, and Huber Kline in the infield; Captain Bill Hopper, Sil Cerchie, and Chris Tonery in the outfield, and dependable Leonard doing the backstopping.

in the javelin contest. High-jumper Jim Herb has Michigan's Milt Mead and LaSalle's Jimmy Webb as chief rivals in his event.

Dave Pierson, Bob Gehman, Roy Brunjes, and Bob Koessler will each run a leg in the two-mile relay race for State.

Lockbourne Air Base's two-mile quartet is a strong favorite to break the Carnival's 7:41.1 mark, set in '41, with the Wolverines of Michigan a close second.

In the mile relay, Captain Lauer, Bill Kilmer, Dave Leatham, and Skip Slocum are pitted against Manhattan, Seton Hall, and Cornell, among others.

Michigan should also surpass State's four-mile quartet of Jim Hamill, John Blood, Jack Horner, and Smith.

Lacrossemen Face Penn Today, Seek to Even Win-Loss Record

After losing two of its first three matches, the Penn State lacrosse team will seek to bring its record to the .500 mark when it battles Penn today at Philadelphia.

Last year, the lacrossemen beat Western Maryland and then dropped tilts to Loyola and to Navy. After that, State was practically unbeatable, losing only to Syracuse in one of its last six games.

Penn State seemingly is on the same path this year as it lost its first matches to Loyola and Navy and then rallied in the final quarter of Thursday's match to beat Washington and Lee, 7-6. This was its first win.

State will go along with the same ten men who beat the W&L Generals although attackman Doak Walker may be able to start if his sprained ankle is better.

Walker's outlook is doubtful, however, and Coach Nick Thiel will probably go along with Bob Koon, Dick Rostmeyer, and Tom Goldsworth. Koons and Rostmeyer each scored a goal against Washington and Lee. Rostmeyer's goal tied the count, 5-5, in the final quartet.

At midfield, Thiel will open with the John Yohman, Wayne Hockersmith, brother of footballer Bill Hockersmith, and Captain Bud Wolfram. Hockersmith was the offensive star for State against Washington and Lee with three goals, two of them in the final period.

Defensively it will be Barr Asplundh and a pair of Johns—Henry and Amber.

Don Bell, who played a stellar game at goal, will open at the goal tending spot.

Although its record doesn't show it, Penn has a strong team potentially. The Quakers have played teams out of their class. The Quakers, coached by former Penn State star Perc Belfield, have lost to Yale (13-5), New England runner-up to Harvard last year; RPI, upstate New York titlist last year (16-2); Swarthmore (13-6), Pennsylvania-Delaware co-champions last year with Penn State; and Princeton (16-2), national co-champions last year with Army.
