When Ted Shattuck and Paul Anders were dropped from school for scholastic deficiency last winter, Penn Staters' moans could be Field oval. heard from State College to the campuses of 1952 grid rivals, Pitt and Penn, at opposite ends of the state.

Who wouldn't groan if their team was stripped, as Coach Rip "Engle's was, of two of its biggest offensive threats last fall. Left halfback Shattuck, an explosive breakaway runner, led the team's rushing attack with 579 yards gained in addition to exploring opposition end zones most often for the Nittanies. Shattering Shattuck's 4.6 yards per carry were just under the team average of 4.6 yards average per try for the team offensive play.

Fullback Anders, a man seldom brought down by one tackler alone, could usually be counted on for the one yard which is often yard shuttle hurdle relay team placed third behind Notre Dame as big as 60.

Yet after watching the Blue-White intrasquad scrimmage Saturday; the loss of messieurs anattuck and Anders need not be overly mourned. No "gaping holes"-supposedly left in the fullback and halfback slots-could be detected.

At fullback both Pete Shopa and Bob Pollard showed starting possibilities come Sept. 20. Pollard, a reconverted halfback, definitely isn't miscast at fullback. Last Saturday he was equally effective picking up large yardage inside or outside. Shopa too, ground out frequent long gains for the losing Whites.

As for Shattuck's vacated spot, Alton Frey, Buddy Rowell and Dick Jones did plenty of fleet ball carrying indicative of the potentiality to make the "indispensables" forgotten quickly.

Neverthless, the Beaver Field opening kickoff against Temple is a long way off and as Engle emphatically maintains, "no one has sewed up a position."

Engle, well pleased with the spring drills just completed, figures that "if we are not hurt scholastically or draft-wise, we can have a good season."

Although the Ripper was glad that "everyone had shown marked improvement, those who spent the most time on the practice field were paid off best in development."

Engle's appraisal of individual members following his brief 20day look-see couldn't be laudatory enough in praise of the inspirational and fiery leadership of Co-captains Stew Scheetz and Joe Gratson.

Others came in for praise from the Master: quarterback Don Bailey, center Don Balthaser and end Jim Garrity, who made sev-eral good catches including a touchdown grab Saturday: hustling Sam Green, a switch from fullback to guard, has "come along fine"; center Bob Smith, is "developing well this spring"; tackle Gene Danser, is "sharp on offense"; end Joe Yukica, is "working hard"; tackle Andy Balaconis, has "lost weight and is serious"; tackle Rosey Grier, has shown "great potentiality offensively and defensively" as has guard Don Shank; wingback Bob Rosebaugh, is a "fine frosh possibility; quarterback Tony Rados, "looked good until hurt": and guard Pete Schoderbek, who made tackles all over the field Saturday.

Penn State's outdoor track squad will have to perform much better than it did in the Penn Relays last weekend if it has intentions of successfully opening its dual meet season against a wellbalanced Michigan State team Saturday afternoon on the Beaver

Although the Spartans will have competed in two meets prior to their State College trek this weekend, this will be the first time that they will be at full strength, as bad weather and injuries have plagued their early season showings.

In last week's Drake Relays at Des Moines, Ia., Coach Karl Schlademan's sophomore. Harry Gillis placed fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles, and his 480and Illinois.

Although lacking tested-material on this year's squad, Schlademan has an ambundance of potential stars in his freshman and sophomore crop. In fact, this year's team is considered to be the deepest in all events in many seasons.

The Spartans have eight returning veterans from last season, including Captain Dick Henson in the dashes and hurdles, and Jim Kepford, cross country captain, in the mile and two mile events.

Other returning lettermen who figure to be instrumental in Michigan State's fortunes are John Walter in the 880 and mile; Jerry Kay in the high jump, and Arnold Olympic Collection Smith in the pole vault. In addition, All-American grid end Bob

1st Round IM V-Ball Decided

Independent league titles were decided last night in the intramural volleyball loop, but action was again limited by a deluge of forfeits.

Beaver House copped the league A title, finishing the season with a 4-0 record. The Pirates, league C champions, also show a perfect slate, with four wins and no defeats in league play. The Foresters captured the league D crown, winning three games and dropping one decision during the season.

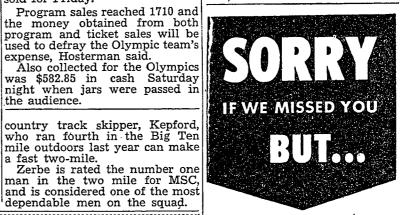

The Iron Men and The Early Risers tied for first place in league B, both showing 3-1 records. They will play off the deadlock tonight as the regularly scheduled inde-pendent play-offs begin.

In last night's action, eight of the scheduled 12 games were de-cided by forfeit. In the independent league, Nittany Co-Op-B, The Foresters, The Pirates, Dorm 14, The Wolverines, and The Dinks all picked up forfeit victories.

The only independent action saw The Iron Men defeat Dorm
