

3 Constitutional Changes Passed by AIM Governors

Three amendments to the Association of Independent Men's constitution were passed by the board of governors last night.

Joseph Haines and Franklin Reese were nominated by the nominating committee to run for the AIM presidency.

The amendments passed by the board must be passed by three of the four independent councils before they will go into effect.

The School of Liberal Arts elections committee reported an average of 43 per cent of the students voted.

Senior class positions were filled by Janet Coursey, Gale Grimm, Arnold Paparazo, and Virginia Wilmer. John Collins, Marilyn Franklin, Audrey Nash, and Andree Bloom were elected to junior offices. Those elected to sophomore positions were Suzanne Dean, Margaret Faris, Gail Green, Mary Lynch, and Polly Moore.

The School of Liberal Arts elections attracted an average of 32 per cent of the eligible voters. Sophomores turned out in the greatest numbers with 39 per cent, while freshmen followed with 31 per cent, and the juniors with 26 per cent.

Elected to sophomore class posts were, Carol Adler, John Carpenter, Finnette Barkel, Otto Hetzel, Katherine Reynolds, Watson Leese, Donna Symmonds, and Larry Gedrich. Junior class offices were filled by Walter Back, Philip Greenberg, Richard Kirschner, Mark Loevner, Jean Marohnic, Eliza Newell, Donald Siegle, Bruce Wagner, and Morton Zieve.

Yvonne Carter, Marion Morgan, Marlene Heyman, George Allison, Robert Sherman, and William Slepian were elected to senior positions.

The School of Chemistry and Physics Student Council elections brought in an average of 46.1 per cent of the eligible voters. Sophomores ranked high with 55.5 per cent, juniors followed with 52.5 per cent, and freshmen with 36.3 per cent.

Freshmen elected were Kenneth Kresge, chemical engineering, and George Wright, pre-medical. Sophomores elected were William Deppe, chemical engineering; Harry Frey, chemical engineering; Marilyn Buzby, pre-medical; and Gilbert Unangst, physics.

William Preston, chemical engineering; Janet Herd and Justine Stralis, pre-medical; and science major Samuel Engle were elected by the junior class.

Mineral Industries Student Council polled an average of 46 per cent of the school's student body. Sophomore candidates attracted 55 per cent of their class to the polls, while juniors fol-

The amendments referring to elections will not affect this year's elections.

The first amendment will make the vice president automatically the chairman of the constitution committee.

The second amendment provides for a student in his fifth or sixth semester to be elected AIM president. Previously there was no restriction on the semester of a candidate.

The third amendment changes the dates of the election from May to the first or second week of April.

The West Dorm council passed all three amendments at its meeting this week. The Nittany council voted against the amendments, and the Pollock council approved only the first amendment. Town council has not voted.

John Stoudt, who presented these amendments to the board, expressed the hope that the amendments will be reconsidered by the councils which voted against them.

Melvin Rubin and Gail Shaver were nominated by the committee for vice president, Thomas Kidd and Sanford Becker for treasurer, and Raymond Meyer and Arthur Simm for secretary.

Nominations may be made from the floor at the next meeting. Any student wishing to nominate himself must present a petition containing the signatures of 300 independents.
