Lions Down Rutgers for 10th

Spring Week Booth Entries Due Today

Today is the deadline for submitting entries for Spring Week carnival booths and the All-College He-Man contest. Applications must be turned into the Student Union desk in Old Main before noon.

Theta Kappa Phi and Zeta Tau Alpha, as a single entry, are in first place with 930 points toward the Spring Week grand prizes, James Geffert, chairman of the Spring Week committee, announced yesterday.

Jeanne Wiener will direct the 18 girls signed up for the annual sun dance, Geffert also announced.

Dance to Follow Contest

The girls in the sun dance are Margaret Barth, Elizabeth Byrem, Eugenie Deger, Terry Dolson, Kathleen Greenbaum, Margaret Hennessy, Carolyn Klein, Shirley Long, Mable Marple, Mary Martin, Celeste McDermott, Sara McMillan, Joanne McNally, Eleanor Nicastro, Antonelle Rauseo, Edith Spalding, and Eleanor Tomki.

The sun dance will be held after dark, following the He-Man contest, on the lacrosse field May 13.

Applications due tomorrow for carnival booths must include the sponsoring organization, and the name, description, and dimensions of the booth. A $20 deposit, which will be returned if the booth is cleaned up after the carnival, must accompany the application.

Applications Include Name
Geffert again urged independent groups to enter the Spring Week festivities. He said that so far six independent entries have been received.

Applications for the He-Man contest should include the student's name, address, phone number, age, height, and weight, and the name of the sponsoring organization.

The All-College He-Man will be chosen during a series of field events on the lacrosse field May 13. The winning He-Man and Miss Penn State, who will be chosen May 12, will reign over the Spring Week activities.

Cheerleader Cost Not Seen As Cut Factor

The cut in the Penn State cheerleading squad has no financial tie-ins, Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, said yesterday.

Gilbert explained that only the head cheerleader is taken on the away-trips and that no expense is involved in using the cheerleaders at home games. He also said that the cheerleaders are allotted no money on the sports budget.

The plan was suggested by Thomas Hanna, head cheerleader, who said that the cheerleaders' difficulty in keeping together was one of the main reasons for the cut.

A committee consisting of Gilbert; Hanna; Hummel Fishburn, professor of music education and a member of the Senate advisory committee on athletics; Eugene Wettstone, gymnastics coach; and Carl P. Schott, dean of the School of Physical Education, will make the cuts in the middle of May.

Everson Wins in Relief, 11-5

By JIM PETERS

Timely hitting by Bill Leonard and great clutch hurling by Bill Everson gave Coach Joe Bedenk's Lion batsmen their tenth victory of the year yesterday, 11-5, with Rutgers' battling Scarlet the victims.

Leonard broke a 5-5 tie in the sixth inning with a two-run single while Everson came to the rescue of starter Keith Vesling in the same frame, and retired the side after the young sophomore hurler loaded the bases with none out.

Captain Bill Hopper, who had gone hitless in his first two trips, drove a 340 foot home run under the right-center field stands in the eighth inning with Sil Cerchie chie on base.

Rutgers scored first, a single tally in the second inning, when a walk to Chris Gussis preceded singles by Larry Valis and Ralph Cobb.

State tied it at 1-1 in the third on a single by Huber Kline, Vesling's sacrifice, and Chris Tonery's line single to left.

The Lions scored four more in the fifth on only one hit, a single by Mike Hunchar, after two walks and two errors. Singles by Tonery, Bill Mihalich, and Leonard gave the Lions a 7-5 lead in the sixth after Rutgers tallied four in its half of the sixth.

The Scarlet combined singles by Ralph Cobb, Paul Lacity, Ted McDonough, a walk to pitcher Joe Feldman, and a double by Rudy Stanzel for its four runs.

Date Set For Frizzell Registration

Registration for participation in the annual John Henry Frizzell Extempore Speaking Contest, sponsored by the Department of Speech, will take place at 7 p.m. Wednesday in 124 Sparks.

Contestants must register in person, Clayton H. Schug, chairman of the committee, said. Contestants will select topics at that time and will be assigned to one of the 12 elimination sections for the preliminary rounds May 12. Schug said that topics may be chosen from lists provided at the meeting, or may be of the entrant's own choice, subject to the approval of the committee in charge.

The contest, which is open to all students except previous winners, is more than a half-century old. Originally known as the Junior Oratorical Contest, it later became the Sophomore Extempore Speaking Contest.

It has now officially become an annual contest in honor of John Henry Frizzell, the first head of the Department of Speech, who retired with emeritus rank June 30, 1946, after 45 years of teaching.

The first place winner in the contest receives the Pennsylvania State College prize of $50 and the John Henry Frizzell award of merit in extempore speaking. The runnerup receives the $25 Forensic Council prize and the John Henry Frizzell

Four Students Plead Guilty In Hotrod Case

Of the six students arrested for attempting to race automobiles on a public highway, one has pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving, three have pleaded guilty to a charge of faulty mufflers, and two others are yet to be arraigned, according to Col. Guy Mills, justice of the peace.

The student charged with reckless driving was fined $10 plus costs, which are set by statute at $5, Mills said. Dean of Men H. K. Wilson said the student would be placed on disciplinary probation, and would be required to take the automobile home by May 10. Students placed on disciplinary probation are not allowed to participate in extra-curricular activities, Wilson said.

The three students who pleaded guilty to charges of driving with faulty mufflers were also fined $10 plus costs, Mills said.

Mills explained that the statute referring to reckless driving says: "Any person who shall participate in any physical endurance test or any race or speed contest with a motor vehicle on a state highway shall be fined not less than $10 or more than $25 plus costs."

Tickets for 'Biography'

Tickets for tonight's performance of "Biography" are still available at the Student Union desk in Old Main for $1.25 per person.

This is the second week for the Penn State Players' production at Center Stage, located on the corner of S. Allen street and Hamilton avenue. Refreshments will be served after the show.
