Mothers' Weekend Events Start Today

With more than 12 special events planned for Mother's Day weekend, activities will begin today and continue through tomorrow and Sunday.

The College weather station could give no encouragement yesterday for favorable weather conditions for the estimated 5000 visitors on campus for the weekend. Officials reported that the weather

48 Register In Speaking Competition

Forty-eight undergraduates have registered to participate in the elimination rounds of the annual John Henry Frizzell Extempore Speaking Contest, according to Clayton H. Schug, chairman of the contest committee.

The elimination rounds of the contest, sponsored by the Department of Speech, will be held Monday. Contestants will be judged in 12 groups of four each. One judge will be assigned to each group.

Judges for the elimination meetings are Elton Carter, assistant professor of speech; Holle G. DeBoer, assistant professor of public speaking; Iline Fife, assistant professor of speech; Edward R. Gilkey; William W. Hamilton, assistant professor of speech; and David R. Mackey, assistant professor of speech.

Also Harold E. Nelson, assistant professor of speech; Harriet D. Nesbitt, assistant professor of public speaking; Joseph F. O'Brien, professor of public speaking; Robert T. Oliver, professor of speech; Virginia D. Ricker, instructor of speech; and Harold P. Zelko, professor of public speaking.

Town Council Blocks 1 AIM Rule Change

The Town Council of the Association of Independent Men blocked one of the three amendments proposed to the AIM constitution from becoming effective and passed the other two at last night's meeting.

The amendment that the AIM president must be a senior was defeated by a 9-3 vote. An amendment to be passed for the AIM constitution requires three of the four independent councils consent.

The Nittany Council had previously voted the amendment down. The other two amendments, that the chairman of the constitutional committee be the vice president of AIM and that AIM elections be moved up from the last week in May to the last week in April passed easily and will be added to the AIM constitution.

Three members of the council were dropped for failure to attend meetings.

A committee headed by Howard Mason was appointed to make preparations for a picnic to be held at Whipple's Dam May 25.

A motion was passed making only those who had attended two-thirds of the meetings since election till the end of the semester eligible for keys.

Craine Questions Powers of Cabinet

By MIMI UNGAR

The powers of All-College Cabinet were questioned last night by Bryson Craine, chairman of the senior class gift committee, as Marvin Krasnansky, past chairman of the Board of Publications, suggested a five-point program for the handling of the voting and

Ed Faculty Evaluation To Begin

An experimental faculty rating system will be started next week by the Education Student Council, according to Marian Whitely, council president.

Faculty members in the School of Education will pass out evaluation sheets to their classes to be filled out but not signed.

A committee to vote on nominations for the outstanding senior in the School of Education was named at the council meeting Tuesday night. Chairman is Ruth Eddy; her committee members are Harry Shank, Gwen Griffith, and Dorothy Swanson.

Nominations are being made by the Education school faculty and students in the school. All nominations must be returned to the Education Student Council suggestion box in Burrowes building by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The award, which has been instigated by the student council, is based on a student's progress in leadership, scholarship, activities, and growth. The recipient will receive an engraved cup and will have his name engraved on an individual wall plaque which will be kept in Burrowes building.

The Council voted to use the remaining money from its Cabinet grant for a publications fund, according to Miss Whitely.

Chapel Choir to Give Two Performances

To meet the increasing demand for seats at its fifth annual spring concert, the Chapel Choir will give two performances. They will be at 8 p.m. both May 21 and 22 in Schwab Auditorium, according to Mrs. Willa Taylor, associate professor of music education.

campaigning for the senior class gift.

Krasnansky, in presenting the proposal, said that the present campaigning by the Radio Guild has taken unethical trends, and that the class gift is becoming a financial campaign. In view of these facts, Krasnansky presented the following proposal:

1. That publicity on the senior class gift of the poster, leaflet, and advertising nature by undergraduate organizations be prohibited under penalty of disqualifying the gift suggestion that the publicity supports.

2. That it be required of the senior class president that he submit to cabinet a report on the gift suggestions and other pertinent information on voting for the senior class gift at least two weeks before the voting starts.

3. That informative articles appearing in the Daily Collegian concerning the gift suggestions come from the class gift committee.

4. That the All-College elections committee handle the counting of ballots for both the gift and the Class Day honors and that the results be made known.

5. That the fourth proposal be put in effect at once.

In cabinet's consideration of the first point of the recommendation, Craine questioned why, in the case of the senior class gift, cabinet would have the power to determine what should be done. He pointed out that the committee chairman is appointed by the senior class president.

The publicity problem was further confused when Craine asserted that the Daily Collegian has been the deciding factor in previous senior class gift selections. Clair George, chairman of the Board of Dramatic and Forensics, then proposed that the problem be put to a committee to find a method of equalizing the publicity for the senior class gift. Cabinet unanimously passed the resolution, and John Laubach, All-College president, in turn, appointed Richard Lemyre, junior class president, chairman of that committee.

Encampment Gets First Cabinet OK

By MARSHALL O. DONLEY

All-College Cabinet unanimously approved a first request for $438 to support the encampment program recommended to it last night. A second vote on the appropriation must be taken before the request can be approved.

The encampment program, as proposed by the cabinet encampment committee headed by Walter Sachs, is a plan for a four-day forum meeting of about 100 students and faculty members at Mt. Alto College Sept. 4, 5, 6, and 7. The group would discuss problems of student leadership and faculty-student relationships.

Cabinet is asked to pay one-half of the student expenses of the forum, while the College would pay the second half of the student costs and all faculty costs if it is approved.

The forum group would, according to Sachs' proposal, compile a written report of its activities to be presented to cabinet and to the student and faculty bodies.

William Klisanin, chairman of Campus Chest, won unanimous approval for his proposal that this year's chest funds be designated to aid the students at Punjab Camp College, University of Delhi, India. This approval means the refugee college will receive the chest funds' $1710.12 through the World Student Service Fund, to which the money has already been designated.

Cabinet also unanimously adopted a proposal by the executive committee that cabinet go on record as urging students to attend all classes Friday, May 16, the day immediately following the recently designated holiday, Carnival Day.

Cabinet approved an amendment to place the Radio Guild within the Board of Dramatics and Forensics after hearing the third and final required reading of the amendment.

Seniors Continue Class Gift Voting

Agriculture seniors may continue voting today for the senior class gift and '52 men and women honor students when they pick up their copies of the 1952 La Vie at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Engineering seniors may pick up their yearbooks and vote Monday and Tuesday; Education and Home Economics seniors, Wednesday and Thursday; and Chemistry and Physics, Physical Education, and Mineral Industries seniors, May 16 and 17.

Lion Coat Sale Continues Today

Lion coats will be sold from 1 to 5 p.m. today at the Student Union desk in Old Main for $1.90 each to seniors only. They are available in both women's and men's sizes.

Decorated Lion coats will be judged on Spring Carnival day. Groups sponsoring students wearing the three winning coats will receive 25, 15, and 10 points respectively toward the Spring Week trophy, Robert Koons, chairman of the Lion coat committee, said.

The Combined Arts Festival, which is already underway, continues tonight with the Players productions, "She Stoops to Conquer" and "Biography." "She Stoops to Conquer" is scheduled for 8 tonight and tomorrow night in Schwab auditorium, while "Biography" will go into its third weekend at 8 tonight and tomorrow night at Center Stage. Tickets are still available for these productions at the Student Union Desk in Old Main.

Women's Dorms Open

The final performance of "And So to the End," dance concert by the modern dance group, will begin at 8 p.m. tomorrow in White Hall, while combined arts exhibits will be displayed in the Temporary Union Building from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday. There will also be special art exhibits for the weekend in the Pattee Library, and third floor Main Engineering building.

Teas and open houses for guests will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. tomorrow in all women's dormitories. Following these open houses, May Day ceremonies will get underway at 3:30 p.m. on the front campus. In the event of rain, the ceremonies will be moved to Recreation Hall.

The men's dormitories will be open to visitors from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow. The West Dorm Council will sponsor a Mother's Day dance from 9 p.m. to midnight tomorrow night in the West Dorm lounge.

Chem-Phys Open House

An open house, sponsored by the School of Engineering, will be held from 1:30 to 8 p.m. tomorrow in all the buildings of the school.

The annual Chemistry and Physics Open House will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow and continue until 8 p.m. Personally conducted tours of Osmond laboratory will leave the lobby of the laboratory at 15-minute intervals. Guides will conduct visitors through the research and undergraduate laboratories.

Concluding the weekend activities and beginning the Spring Week activities will be the Interfraternity Panhellenic Council singing finals at 7 p.m. Sunday in 10 Sparks.

Players Provide Spring Frolic With 'She Stoops to Conquer'

By BETTIE LOUX

Players danced the light fantastic on the stage of Schwab Auditorium last night as they opened Oliver Goldsmith's satirical comedy "She Stoops to Conquer" to the first of an anticipated large Mother's Day weekend audience.

Making as great sport of the play as the scoffing Goldsmith did of the artificial, stylized Restoration comedy type, the well-cast group clown merrily through its intricacies, complications, and carefully set-up coincidences.

Not one, but several cases of mistaken identity give playgoers a feeling of "being in the know" which undoubtedly adds to the enjoyment. "Asides," in which the actors slyly twit each other also contribute to this feeling.

The play concerns the efforts of Squire Hardcastle to marry off his lovely daughter Kate to a young suitor whose tongue-tied shyness makes him a kind of boob when conversing with polite company.

He is quite a different individual, however, when dealing
