

He's Got Oomph!

—Photo by Austin
ROBERT SCHULTZ, right, tests the oomphometer, one of the exhibits in the mechanical engineering laboratory's display in the School of Engineering Open House. Robert Young, left, and Enos Brubaker, center, watch Schultz. The engineering open house will be held from 1:30 to 8 p.m. today.

2 Schools to Display Open House Exhibits

Technical displays will be featured today in the open house exhibits of the Schools of Engineering and Chemistry and Physics. The Chem-Phys program will be held from 1 to 8 p.m., and Engineering, from 1:30 to 8 p.m.

All departments of the School of Engineering—aeronautical, architectural, civil, electrical, industrial, and mechanical—will have displays in their third annual open house. The Garfield Thomas Water Tunnel will also be open for public inspection. Architectural and civil engineering exhibits are being displayed at Main Engineering building.

A routed tour of the exhibits has been planned, Max Schuster, Engineering open house chairman, announced. The tour will start at Main Engineering building, where the Penn State Engineer, school magazine, will be distributed.

The tour will include displays in Engineering A, civil engineering and engineering mechanics; B and C, industrial engineering; and D, aeronautical engineering. The Industrial Engineering department will demonstrate an emersion-study, and a time-study laboratory. Demonstrations of an assembly line will be made at the time-study laboratory.

The Architecture department will display engineering and architectural drawings, models and accompanying drawings showing basic construction of a camp, school and farm. Prize-winning models from two contests will also be displayed. A model of reinforced concrete construction, a display of building materials, and renderings in water-color and charcoal will be displayed.

Electrical engineering displays
(Continued on page eight)

Male Chorus To Present 2d Concert

The Penn State Glee Club, directed by Frank Gullo, associate professor of music, will present its second complimentary concert at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Charles Hughes is accompanist and Robert Klug, piano soloist. Solos will be sung by Lynn Fowler, LaRue Durrwachter, Howard Morgan, James Shaw, Thomas Lewis, and Luther Sunderland.

The Varsity Quartet, which includes Luther Sunderland, first tenor; Richard Ahern, second tenor; James Shaw, baritone; and William Park, bass; will be accompanied by Robert Klug.

The Hy-Los, a comedy group of 19 men within the club, will also take part in the program. This group will be directed by Frank Allison.

Judging Team Wins Trophy

Penn State's livestock judging team won for the first time the Rally Farms trophy Thursday at Rally Farms in Millbrook, N.Y. The College beat teams from Massachusetts University, Cornell University, Rutgers University, Connecticut University, and the University of Maryland.

Penn State took individual first, second and third places in the judging contest. Walter Welker placed first with an individual score of 397 points, and Thomas Schmalzried and Ernest Stahl took second and third places respectively.

'Don Quixote' Scheduled

"Don Quixote", a film on the character created by Spanish author Cervantes, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. tomorrow in 119 Osmond.

TODAY'S WEATHER:

CLOUDY WITH PROBABLE SHOWERS

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 52 No. 141 STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 10, 1952 FIVE CENTS

Weekend to Draw Over 5000 Visitors

By MIMI UNGAR

More than 5000 guests will visit the campus today and tomorrow as May Day and Mother's Day festivities come to a climax.

Weather predictions for the weekend indicate that it will be neither fair nor foul. It has been predicted that the weather will be cloudy with scattered showers and not much change in temperature.

The annual May Day festivities will begin at 3:30 p.m. today on the front campus.

At this time Robin Brunner will be crowned May Queen. The ceremony includes a May Pole dance, honor arch, hemlock chain, and singing by Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. In the event of rain, the ceremonies will be moved to Recreation Hall. The bleachers set up on front campus will accommodate 4000 spectators.

Preceding the May Day ceremonies, open houses will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. in all women's living units. At this time, each dormitory will honor mothers and visiting guests at teas in the main lounges. The women's rooms will be open and male and female guests will be able to tour the women's units.

Mens dormitories will be open to guests from 2 to 5 p.m. today and from 1 to 5 p.m. tomorrow. In addition, the West Dorm lounge will be open to all guests at a Mother's Day dance from 9 to midnight tonight.

The Combined Arts Festival, which is already underway, will continue today and tomorrow. Included in the festival's activities are the Players productions, "She Stoops to Conquer," and "Biography." "Biography" will begin at 8 tonight at Center Stage, with "She Stoops to Conquer" getting underway at 8 tonight in Schwab Auditorium.

Tickets for the Schwab production are available for $1 at the Student Union desk, but there are no more tickets available for the Center Stage production.

Combined Arts exhibits will be displayed in the Temporary Union Building from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow. The display includes undergraduate work in painting, sculpture, design, textiles, and dramatics.

The 27th annual Dairy Exposition will begin at 12:30 p.m. today in the Livestock Pavilion. Continuing until 5:30 p.m., the exposition features 70 show animals, tours of the College creamery,
(Continued on page three)

May Queen

Robin Brunner

Combined Arts Festival Group To Hold Tea

The Combined Arts Festival committee will hold a tea from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow in the Temporary Union Building for students and weekend visitors on campus.

Exhibits sponsored by classes in dramatics, agriculture, art education, fine arts, and home arts will be on display in the TUB from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. beginning tomorrow and continuing through May 19.

Student work in sculpture, etching, silk screens, murals, paper mache, wood, weaving, textiles, and ceramics will be shown in the TUB and in the corridors of the Temporary Classroom building.

Drawings, water colors, oil paintings and designs produced by students in the division of fine arts will be on display at the TUB and the Pattee Library.

A model home and garden, park layouts and building plans will be exhibited by landscape and horticulture students.

The Department of Architecture will display a three-dimensional color study of a boys' summer camp on the third floor of Main Engineering building. Projects in design, drawing and building materials will also be shown.

A puppet show will be staged by art education students at 2 and 3 p.m. Monday in the TUB.

Four art films will be shown at 8 p.m. Monday in 121 Sparks. "Boundary Lines" deals with intergroup and intercultural understanding. "Crucifixion" shows the art work of three old masters who offer their interpretation of Christ's death.

Mural techniques used by artist Thomas Hart Benton will be shown in "Making a Mural." A fourth film, "The Song of a Nation," tells the American story set to music.

Counselors Forms

Applications for Orientation Week counseling positions are due by 5 p.m. Monday in the Dean of Men's office, 109 Old Main. Students should fill out both sides of the form, which includes a place for the student's activities.

'Sing' Finals To Be Held Tomorrow

The schedule for the final round of the Interfraternity-Panhellenic Council sing, to be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 10 Sparks, has been released by Marlene Heyman, co-chairman of the sing.

The choruses will sing in this order: 7—Phi Delta Theta; 7:05—Alpha Chi Omega; 7:10—Tau Kappa Epsilon; 7:15—Zeta Tau Alpha; 7:20—Delta Upsilon; 7:25—Delta Gamma; 7:30—Phi Kappa Psi; 7:35—Alpha Xi Delta.

The winning sorority and fraternity each will be presented with a gold cup after the sing. Miss Heyman will make the presentation to the winning sorority in behalf of the Panhellenic Council, and William Hirsch, vice president of the IFC, will make the presentation to the winning fraternity in the absence of IFC President Arthur Rosfeld.

To Sing Two Songs

The choruses should be ready to sing at least ten minutes before their scheduled time, Miss Heyman said, and if the group is not on time it will automatically be eliminated.

The fraternities will sing two songs, the College song, "Blue and White," and one fraternity song, both unaccompanied. Sororities will sing two songs from their sorority literature and may have accompaniment with one.

DG, TKE Won Last Year

The groups will be judged on a point basis, points being awarded for tone quality, intonation, interpretation and phrasing, balance of parts, diction, and general effect.

Delta Gamma sorority and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity were last year's winners, and both will take part in the finals tomorrow.

Judges will be Frances M. Andrews, associate professor of music, J. G. Cordan, assistant professor of music, Elizabeth Reynolds, E. C. Wareham Jr., and Louise H. Dye, instructors in music.

Engineer Features Open House Story

Articles explaining the various exhibits at the School of Engineering Open House are featured in the May issue of the Penn State Engineer, which comes out today. Free copies of the magazine will be distributed during the open house in front of Main Engineering building.

Included in this month's issue of the Engineer are the "Garfield Thomas Water Tunnel," by Richard Gibbs; "Architects for Tomorrow," by Gifford Albright; "Is Engineering a Good Profession?" by Eric Walker, dean of the School of Engineering; and "Designs for Better Living," by Charles Falzone.

Gaudin to Speak

Dr. A. M. Gaudin, professor of mineral dressing at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will speak on the "Application of Radioactive Tracers to Mineral Preparation" at 10 a.m. today in 121 Mineral Industries.

Coronation to Open 1952 Spring Week

Spring Week will open Monday with the coronation of Miss Penn State of 1952 in Schwab Auditorium.

The All-College He-Man will be named Tuesday night after a colorful costume parade. Wednesday will be Mad-Hatter's Day. The Spring Carnival, from 1 to 11 p.m. Thursday, will climax the week's activities.

Patricia Hathaway, Nancy Queer, Louise Robertson, Nancy Scofield, and Joann Terhune are the five Miss Penn State finalists.

The winner will be chosen soon after the ceremonies begin at 8 p.m., and will be crowned by Barbara Klopp, Miss Penn State of 1951.

The finalists will be introduced at the beginning of the program, after which the judges will retire to make their selection. Janet Herd, chairman of the coronation committee, announced.

The judges will announce the winner and she will be escorted to her throne through an honor arch of crossed swords formed by members of Scabbard and Blade. All five finalists will be presented flowers.

The remaining contestants will form the court and Andree Bloom, Nancy Dahl, Margaret Hepler, Grace Jeffries, Carolyn Pelczar, and Betsy Siegler will be attendants.

Over 30 gifts donated by local merchants will be given to the new Miss Penn State.

Finalists, judges, and members of the Spring Week committee will attend dinner at 5:30 p.m. at the Eutaw House.

The parade to be held at 7:15 p.m. will include a band, cars with the judges and queens of the school year, and five floats with the finalists. It will start at the Forestry building parking lot and will follow Shortlidge road, College avenue, Burrows road, and Pollock road to Schwab Auditorium.

Norman Alpert will be master of ceremonies for the program and Richard Brugger will be the court jester. Entertainment will follow the coronation and presentation of gifts.