Rain Misses; 12,000 Visit Spring Carnival

Over 12,000 students and townspeople visited the annual Spring Week Carnival yesterday, and for the first time in the four-year history of the carnival, it didn't rain.

The annual show featured skill tests, shows, dunking, a ferris wheel, shouting barkers, chorus girls, walking advertisements, and hatmen in freshman dinks selling tickets.

The carnival was "100 per cent better than last year," James

KAPsi Gets Charter Tomorrow

Kappa Alpha Psi, fraternal society, will receive a charter affiliating it with the national Kappa Alpha Psi organization at a ceremony from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in 405 Old Main.

The charter presentation ceremonies will highlight a weekend of activities starting at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow when the new chapter will hold open house for the public until 4 p.m. at the chapter house, 513 W. College avenue.

Harold W. Perkins, assistant dean of men, will speak at the charter ceremonies. Other speakers will include Stanley Wengert, past president of the Interfraternity Council; Barton Fields, new house president; and the regional director of the Kappa Alpha Psi organization.

After the presentation, the fraternity members will attend a closed banquet at 6 p.m. at the State College Hotel where the new officers will be installed. They are Fields, president; William Snead, vice president; Walter Hutchins Jr., secretary; and Allen Haile, treasurer.

Beginning at 10 p.m. the chapter will have an open house party with a combo supplying music.

A fellowship luncheon for the fraternity members and their guests is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday.

The organization, founded over a year and a half ago, recently had its application to the national organization approved by the Senate committee on student affairs. It has taken an active role in the Interfraternity Council for the past two semesters.

AIM Calls Meeting To Discuss Reese

By BILL JOST

Because Franklin Reese, who was elected president of the Association of Independent Men Thursday night, does not have the necessary All-College average, a special meeting of the AIM Board of Governors has been called for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in 104 Willard by John Laubach, president.

Laubach said that no decision has been made as to the course the board will follow at the meeting. The board will discuss the situation and then will decide upon and act out a solution.

Over 1.0 Average Required

Reese, when contacted yesterday, would not make a statement.

Section D-2 of article V of the AIM constitution states that "Any independent male undergraduate student of the College who has maintained an All-College average greater than 1.0 is eligible for election to any office of the Board of Governors." The AIM president has a seat on All-College Cabinet. Cabinet members must also have an average greater than 1.0.

John Stoudt, chairman of the nominating committee, reported yesterday that Reese's average is less than 1.0. He said that the committee was given the impression before nominations were made that Reese had the required average. Reese expects to have the necessary average by the end of this semester, Stoudt said.

Meeting Will Be Open

Laubach said that if no suggestions are made at the special board meeting, he will suggest that a new election be held. This election would be held at this special meeting after the newly elected officers have been given an opportunity to resign, if they so desire.

Since the meeting may include elections, the meeting will be open.

Averages of the other officers and candidates are being checked by the recorder's office and will be given to the elections committee today.

Reese is Sophomore

If elections are held tomorrow, nominations will again be opened from the floor. It has not been decided whether the elections committee is expected to do any nominating.

Reese is at present a sophomore in commerce and finance and is vice president of Town Council.

The officers elected Thursday are Reese, president; Joseph Haines, vice president; Michael Popowniak, treasurer; and William Shifflett, secretary.

Choir Concert To Be Presented On Two Nights

The Chapel Choir will present its annual spring program at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in Schwab Auditorium. This is the first time the program has been presented twice, Carrol Chapman, president of the choir, announced yesterday.

Two students who participated in previous concerts will be included in the 123-voice choir. They are Barbara Troxell, soprano, and Chester Watson, bass baritone.

During the past five years the choir, directed by Willa C. Taylor, associate professor of music education, has twice presented "Elijah" (Mendelssohn); Verdi's "Requiem"; and "A German Requiem" (Brahms).

The doors to Schwab Auditorium will open at 7:30 p.m. each night.

2 Ag Changes Get First Vote

Two amendments to the constitution of the School of Agriculture Student Council received a first vote of approval at the last council meeting.

The first amendment proposes to delete the section from the constitution which states that a representative to the council must be enrolled in the department which he represents.

The second states that if a representative be absent from two meetings per semester without sending an alternate the council may act on the eligibility of the representative.

The amendments will receive a second vote Tuesday.

The council also elected to have next year's Harvest Ball on Dec. 6.

Judging of the Lion coats will take place at 4 p.m. today in front of Old Main.

By far the messiest entertainers were the Chi Phis, whose "Fool's Pool" was a pool of mud. By tossing a volleyball at a Chi Phi, another slid into the mud. Other booths dunked or drenched members for simple skill-showing by the players. Theta Chis and Tri-Delts took their Saturday bath several times yesterday, one each time a carnival-goer hit a tin can.

The Players and Radio Guild presented "Flicker Follies" with such acts as "The Shriek," "Skip-a-long Katastrofe," and chapter 1952 of the "Escapades of Esther." Froth artists were on hand to sketch anyone for the price of two tickets.

Ball to Feature 'Versatile Band'

Tonight's Senior Ball will feature the music of Ray McKinley and his "Most Versatile Band in the Land."

Drummer McKinley and his musicians, named by Look and Down Beat magazines as the best all-around dance band in America, will play from 9 to 1 tonight in Recreation Hall.

The band's most popular recordings include "You Came a Long Way from St. Louis," "Civilization," "All the Way to San Jose," "Red Silk Stockings," and "Arizay."

In the last two years the band has played at more than 100 colleges in addition to its hotel and theater engagements.

Helped by Miller McKinley, born in Fort Worth, Texas, was leading "kid bands" there at the age of 12, after taking drumming lessons and playing tom-toms. He was on the same bill as the dance contest in which Ginger Rogers won a screen test.

Through the efforts of Glenn Miller, Ben Pollack, and Benny Goodman, McKinley got a job drumming for a Chicago band in 1926. From there he began drumming for Pollack, Beasley Smith, the Detroiters, Smith Ballew, Jack Petis, and Red Nichols.

In 1934 McKinley played with the Dorsey Brothers Orchestra and then with Jimmy Dorsey on the Music Hall radio show which co-starred Bing Crosby.

Received Bronze Star

With Will Bradley in 1939, McKinley formed a band which played "boogie woogie" and "eight-to-the-bar." Included in its numbers were "Beat Me Daddy Eight to the Bar," "Celery Stalks at Midnight," and "Boogie Woogie Washerwoman."

The "I Sustain the Wings" radio orchestra, which McKinley helped Glenn Miller organize while in the Army Air Force, received the Bronze Star in 1944 and played a command performance in Washington for President Harry S. Truman and the Press Club.

McKinley formed another band in 1945 with Eddie Sauter and Deane Kincaide, emphasizing music-for-the-masses and versatility.

Miss State Crowns He-Man

Tonight's ball, and houseparties tomorrow night, will climax Spring Week festivities opened Monday night with the coronation of Nancy Queer, Miss Penn State of 1952. A costume parade was held Tuesday night in which the entry of Phi Kappa and Theta Phi Alpha was judged most original, Triangle and Phi Mu, best costumed, Beta Theta Pi and Alpha Chi Omega, best comic group, and Delta Chi and Gamma Phi Beta the most talented group.

The He-Man contest, also held Tuesday night, was won by John McCall, Alpha Tau Omega, who was crowned by the new Miss Penn State. Both are reigning over Spring Week.

Alum to Give Guidance Talk

Dr. Walter Jarecke, counselor-trainer at West Virginia University and alumnus of the College, will speak on "Are You Doing All You Can in Guidance" at the Guidance Day program at 5 p.m. today at the University Club, 331 W. College avenue.

The program is sponsored by Iota Alpha Delta, graduate guidance honorary, and is open to all seniors in the School of Education.

There will be a dinner for the seniors at 7 tonight, also at the University Club. The charge for the dinner is $2.25.

2 Groups Get Senate Approval

Two social groups, Athenians and Ionians, were approved yesterday by the Senate committee on student welfare after they had fulfilled requirements as potential sororities. The approval is effective Feb. 1, 1952.

The Athenians eventually expected to petition to Delta Sigma Theta and the Ionians to Alpha Kappa Alpha, both national sororities.

To fulfill the requirements set up by the committee, the two organizations submitted letters stating that they understood and would abide by the restrictions. In these letters, they affirmed that they knew there are no suites available for them and that no suites are planned for the future. Submission of the new names is one of the requirements.

Each group must petition a national sorority one year after its approval and continue to operate as a local group for an additional year, according to Senate regulations.

Since no suites are available, the sororities will have to hold initiations and other meetings in College rooms on a scheduled basis.

Charlotte Page, is president of the 22-member Ionian group. Other officers are Anna Layton, vice president; Betty Gaye Phillips and Carolyn Morris, secretaries; and Ethel Brown, treasurer.

Irene Johnson is president of the eight-member Athenian group with Barbara Able, vice president; Wilma King, secretary; and Lois Truxel, treasurer.

WMAJ to Air Lonsdale Talk About Russia

Excerpts from talk by Dr. Kathleen Lonsdale, prominent British physicist, will be heard by edited transcription at 9 tonight over station WMAJ. The recording is of Dr. Lonsdale's discussion of her visit to Russia, presented March 30 at the State College Friends Meetinghouse.

The Quaker professor of physics at the University of London talked before a capacity audience when she visited State College, and many persons were unable to get in to hear her.

This program, one of a series sponsored by the peace committee of the State College Friends, was prepared in answer to requests from those persons, according to Dr. Scott Keyes, assistant professor of economics.

Dr. Lonsdale, who is vice president of the British Association for Atomic Scientists and the author of several articles on crystallography, was one of seven Quakers who visited Russia last summer. She describes her impressions of the country on the program.

Dr. John H. Ferguson, professor of political science, will introduce Dr. Lonsdale. The half-hour transcription was prepared by Warren S. Smith, associate professor of dramatics, and Mrs. Barton Jenks.
