good idea of what to expect when the campus radio station is established.

Two shows were broadcast over WMAJ. They were an original dramatic script "The Better to See With" by John Price, who produced and directed the show, and the regular weekly feature "Call Card," presented by LaRue Dürwachter.

Other programs consisted of all types of music, soap operas, a kiddie show, frequent newscasts and commentary, women's world, farm and home news, sports, devotions, audience participation, recipes, book reviews, PTA report and dramatic shows.

The first Radio Day, consisting of seven hours of broadcasting compared to the full day of programming undertaken yesterday, was presented Jan. 10. Personnel was cut from 200 to 100 participating students this time, in order to give each staff member a chance to realize more of the problems of continuous broadcast, and to prevent some of the confusion that resulted from the traffic.

The first Virginia regiment was a unit organized and commanded by George Washington.
