

Students to Register For Placard Section

Registration for the preferential seating section of Beaver Field will start Monday morning, James Wharton, chairman of All-College Cabinet's special committee, announced yesterday.

The special section of Beaver Field—between the 30 and 40 yard lines—will be open to students who will be seniors, juniors, and sophomores next year.

Approximately 750 seats are available in the section, E.H. Wharton said. An exact count of the available seats in the section will be made before students are assigned to the section, he said.

Seniors Gets First Chance

Students sitting in the section will be expected to cooperate in the operation of a flashcard system, Wharton explained. This is the purpose of the section, he continued, and only those who expect to work the flashcards should sign up for the section. Those who do not cooperate in the use of the flashcards will have their special AA passbooks exchanged for regular books, Wharton said.

Under the plan approved by cabinet, seniors will be given first preference for seats in the section since the part of the student stands being used for the cheering section is currently occupied by seniors. If an insufficient number of seniors sign up for the section, juniors and then sophomores will be given the special books.

Students who wish to sit in groups will be able to do so under the plan. Seats will not be assigned until next fall, but before assignments are given out those who wish to sit together will have an opportunity to indicate their choice.

Preferential Seats Best

"I hope students will take advantage of this opportunity so that we may at last get a flashcard system for Penn State that will work," Wharton said. "This system has added color and spirit at other colleges and universities," he continued, "and with the help and cooperation of the students it can work here at Penn State too."

In addition to doing a good turn for the College, Wharton continued, those who will be in the preferential section will have the best seats available to students and, furthermore, will in effect have those seats reserved for them for all home games.

Plyler Named President Of Parmi Nous Society

James Plyler, All-College vice president, has been elected president of Parmi Nous, senior men's hat society.

Other officers are James Schulte, vice president, and William Leonard, secretary treasurer.

Parmi Nous and Skull and Bones, the only other senior men's hat society, will hold their annual joint banquet at 6 p.m. Monday at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Blue Band to Give Concert Tomorrow

The Concert Blue Band, under the direction of James W. Dunlop, associate professor of music education, will present a program of 15 selections at its annual spring concert at 3 p.m. tomorrow on the Mall in front of the Pattee Library. In case of rain, the concert will be held in Schwab Auditorium at the scheduled time.

This program will be the final concert of the year and the tenth for the Blue Band. The band has presented more concerts this year than any previous Blue Band, according to George Georgieff, secretary treasurer of the organization.

The 90-member band, which includes 20 women, will open its program with the National Anthem, followed by Zambano's "National Capital March" and von Weber's "Euryanthe Overture."

Selections to follow are "Hail to Pennsylvania State" (Fortunato), "Valse Bluette" (Drigo), "Emblem of Unity March" (Richards), "Deep Purple" (De Rose),

Senate Suspends Pi Lam Charter

The charter of Omega Gamma chapter of Pi Lambda Phi fraternity has been suspended for various infractions of College and Interfraternity Council regulations, H. K. Wilson, secretary of the Senate committee on student affairs, announced yesterday. The suspension will become effective June 10, and will last until June 30, 1953.

The action was taken yesterday at a meeting of the Senate committee which approved the recommendation of a sub-committee appointed to investigate the reported infractions.

The sub-committee, made up of representatives of the Senate committee on student affairs and the Interfraternity Council, recommended that the charter be suspended. However, permission was granted for the members to operate as a local club outside the chapter house and to select club members on a basis to be determined by the national office, the chapter adviser, and the College administration.

Example of Cooperation

The committee also recommended that on or after April 1, 1953, a petition may be submitted by the national fraternity to the Senate committee on student affairs requesting the lifting of the suspension.

This is a good example of how student government, the IFC, and the administration can conduct a joint action, Wilson said. He added that this was a move to strengthen the fraternity system.

It was pointed out at the Senate meeting that the national executive council of Pi Lambda Phi, after investigating reports of the infractions, had suspended the chapter effective May 21. The investigation was conducted by Robert J. Salisbury, national executive secretary.

Emergency Period

A similar investigation, conducted by College authorities, revealed fraternity members have been violating regulations over a period of several years. The nature of the infractions was not announced. The suspension by the national executive council will continue until April 1, 1953. If the action had not been taken, Arthur Rosfeld, president of the IFC said, such actions on the part of fraternities would weaken the whole fraternity system of Penn State.

The Senate committee agreed that during the emergency period that will continue until the end of the current semester, Meyer Bushman would serve as chairman of a committee representing the men living in the chapter house to work with the administration.

Final Independent Available Today

The last issue of the Independent for this semester will be distributed today, according to Richard Rau, editor.

Included in this issue will be a feature story on activities planned and carried out by the students in "A" level Hamilton Hall.

William Nudorf, second semester journalism student, has been named business manager of the Independent for next year.

Players Hold Annual Schwab Clean-up Today

Players will hold their annual Schwab Auditorium clean-up at 9 a.m. today.

Initiation of new members will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Little Theater, basement of Old Main. Players annual picnic, for members only, will follow the initiation and will be held at Poe Paddy. In case of rain, the picnic will be moved to Phi Kappa, 338 E. Fairmount avenue.

Concert Pianist To Give Recital In WD Lounge

Joseph Plon, 17-year-old concert pianist who has appeared with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, will present a recital in the West Dorm lounge at 1:45 p.m. tomorrow.

Plon, a senior at Overbrook High School, began studying the piano at the age of six. He made his debut as a concert pianist when he was 14. Besides playing in the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, Plon's career has been highlighted by radio and television appearances. In Atlantic City he played before a capacity audience of 30,000 at a music education conference.

Tomorrow, Plon will present an informal recital of works by Bach, Mozart, Chopin, Liszt, Rachmanioff, and Ravel. He is sponsored by the West Dorm graduate resident counselors.

Dorm Advisers To Be Chosen

Assistant dormitory counselors will be chosen from 26 applicants at a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the Dean of Men's office, Frank J. Simes, director of resident counselors, announced yesterday.

A committee will choose six or more applicants to fill six vacancies. More than six may be chosen Monday night and then interviewed before the final selection, Simes said.

Committee members are Joseph Haines, president of Pollock Council; David Mutchler; Arthur Rosfeld, president of Inter-Fraternity Council; William Shifflett, president of the Association of Independent Men; Frank Schrey; Weston Tomlinson, president of Nittany Council; and Paul Zannoni, president of Town Council.

Assistant counselors are being chosen for next year on an experimental basis. They will be seniors. In the past, all resident counselors have been graduate students.

11 Awarded Navy ROTC Scholarships

Eleven College students are among 39 selected by the College to enter in the fall semester as part of the quota of regular Naval ROTC students, the Department of Naval Science has announced.

Six of the students selected for the program are now serving as NROTC contract students, and two are attending off campus centers. Three others will transfer from other ROTC units to be part of the program. The remaining 28 students who were selected will enter the College in the fall as freshmen.

Commander Richard N. Billings, associate professor of naval science, said that the contract students will make the cruise to Europe this summer with the regular NROTC midshipmen, but will be sworn in as regular students at the beginning of the fall term.

The six contract students selected are Donald Egan, Charles Groff, William Happersett Jr., Richard Lindfors, Richard Snyder, and Ralph Straley. Other students on the campus who have been accepted are Jack Harmon, Alexander Simkovich, and James Stutz.

Grad Student Plans Exhibit Of Art Work

A former Froth art director, Henry M. Progar, will exhibit his work from Monday to June 3 at the Schlow Gallery, 129 S. Atherton St.

Progar, a graduate student in art education, graduated from the College in January, 1951. He was Froth's art director from 1950 to 1952.

The display will consist of oil and water color paintings, engravings, etchings, lino-prints, monotypes, pen and ink drawings, and pencil drawings. There are 12 oil paintings and four water colors.

One oil painting, entitled "Conflict," has traveled in an exhibition sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, through Minnesota, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, Indiana, South Carolina, Kansas, Michigan, New York, and Illinois.

The other paintings are portraits, still life, and several pictures of local scenes, including one entitled "At the Tavern."

SU Directory

The names of officers of all campus organizations should be submitted as soon as possible to the Student Union desk for the Student Union directory which will be printed Wednesday, according to George Donovan, Student Union director.
