Dean Gives Deferment Explanation

There are three ways in which students may become eligible for draft deferments, H. K. Wilson, dean of men, said yesterday.

Students who now hold academic deferments must reapply for new deferments for next fall at the Office of the Recorder, basement of Willard Hall, and have SSS Form 109 sent to their draft boards. This should be done before leaving campus for the summer.

Requirements for an academic deferment are standing in the upper half of the freshman class, upper two-thirds of the sophomore class, or upper three-fourths of the senior class.

A grade of 70 or better in the Selective Service Qualification Test is another criteria for deferment.

To be eligible to take the Selective Service Test, a student must be a selective service registrant who intends to request deferment as a student, must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course—undergraduate or graduate—leading to a degree and must not previously have taken the test.

The third way in which a student may become eligible for a deferment is to be a member, in good standing, of one of the three branches of the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Utility Expert Talks at Dinner

Dr. G. Lloyd Wilson, chairman of the Department of Transportation and Public Utilities, Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, spoke on proposed changes in transportation in Federal administration machinery at the Penn State initiation dinner of the Gamma Epsilon chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity, last week.

In his speech, Dr. Wilson suggested that the present Interstate Commerce Commission be divided into six sub-commissions of three men each, one for each form of transportation, rail, water, highway, air, pipeline, and forwarders.

Dr. Wilson also suggested the creation of a Department of Transportation in the President's cabinet to offset any chance of domination of the commission's powers by the executive branch of the Federal government.

Fellowship Continued

Through a grant of $2500 from Bristol Laboratories, Inc., a fellowship in the Chemistry department has been continued for another year. The fellowship is held by Harry Chafetz, of New York, N. Y., and the work is conducted under the direction of Dr. Norman C. Deno, assistant professor of chemistry.

Duff Receives Advertising Scholarship

George Duff, an eighth semester advertising major, was awarded the $750 Alpha Delta Sigma national scholarship at the ADS initiation Sunday night.

Duff, who is the First Penn State student to receive the award, placed first among the entrants from 54 chapters.

The award is to be used for graduate study in advertising or an allied field at any United States university. It was made on the basis of all-college scholarship, activities, need, and promise of a high grade of graduate work.

The scholarship was announced by the national scholarship committee composed of seven men. Donald W. Davis, chairman of the committee, who did not vote, presented the award. Davis is faculty adviser of the local ADS chapter.

Duff, who has maintained an All-College average of 2.79, was vice president of ADS, national professional advertising fraternity, this year. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman scholastic fraternity, and a recipient of the Evan Pugh Scholarship.

Charles Nogal, University of California at Los Angeles, is the alternate winner.

Griffith Wins Radio Position

William Griffith, sixth semester student in the School of Agriculture, has been awarded a bonus job with radio station KDKA in Pittsburgh for the summer, according to Russell B. Dickerson, vice-dean of the School of Agriculture.

Winner of the KDKA scholarship this year, Griffith was selected for the position by the personnel of KDKA during a tour of the station with the scholarship winners from West Virginia University and Ohio State University.

Griffith is the third student from the College to win this honor in five years. He will work with Homer Martz, an alumnus of the College and present radio farm director of KDKA.

Trustees Accept Four Resignations

The Board of Trustees has accepted the resignations of four faculty members.

Marguerite E. Horn, associate professor of hotel administration, will enroll for graduate work at Cornell University. Lavonia Hilbert, associate professor of clothing extension, plans to be a home demonstration agent with the agricultural extension service of West Virginia.

Dr. Tsung C. Tsu, associate professor of engineering research, has resigned to work for Westinghouse in Philadelphia, while Rune Bo-Erik Lindquist, associate professor of engineering research, will return to the Chalmers Institute of Technology at Gothenburg, Sweden.
