

Health Service Available to All

The College Health Service is available to all undergraduates, full-time graduates, and students holding appointments as graduate assistants, graduate stipend scholars, and graduate fellows who pay the health service fee.

The health service is divided into two departments, a dispensary and an infirmary. The dispensary, located in 3 Old Main, is the outpatient department and is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Saturday hours are 8 a.m. to noon. Emergency cases at other times are treated at the infirmary, where a staff physician is on duty 24 hours a day.

Gets Routine Medications

The infirmary, located at the corner of Pollock and Shortlidge roads, is the inpatient department. It is open 24 hours a day except during the vacation periods, and has a capacity of 28 beds. In an emergency it can accommodate 36 patients. The infirmary is staffed by seven full-time and three part-time physicians. This includes a dentist, psychiatrist, and a physical therapist. There are 14 nurses on the staff, three of which work in the dispensary.

Each student patient is entitled to certain routine medications and surgical dressings and seven days treatment in the infirmary free of charge each semester. A fee of $3 is charged for each additional day.

The semester health fee does not include calls or treatment in students' rooms by members of the health service staff or service of the community ambulance, but does provide for use of laboratory facilities and expense of one X-ray examination. All women's dorms are provided with a central nursing station staffed by a registered nurse.

Students Have Choice

Ambulance service is always available through the community ambulance service when ordered by a physician, nurse, member of Campus Patrol, or other police officer.

Students have a choice of being treated by the health service or by private physicians who charge a fee for service. The student is entitled to free service only at the infirmary or dispensary.

In case of accident or illness students are to follow this procedure: Decide whether you will go to health service or call a private physician. If health service, go to dispensary during the stated hours; at any other time the infirmary. If you feel you cannot go, call the infirmary for advice.

If you want a private physician, call one and explain the nature of the accident or illness. If he advises you to go to the infirmary you should do so.

Guide Doctor

Students are the same as anyone else in calling private physicians. The doctors do not have to accept them unless they are able and wish to do so.

If you call a town doctor you are obligated to pay for his services. His bill will be higher at night than in the daytime. Also it will be higher after midnight. If the doctor does come have someone guide him to the patient to save him and the patient a needless waste of time.

PE Council Represents Four Classes

The opinions of physical education students are made known to All-College Cabinet by the president of the Physical Education Student Council, an organization which represents all four classes.

Two freshman representatives to the council will be elected next month. Two representatives from each of the other classes, one man and one woman, were elected last spring. They are Ann Ewing Benck and Robert Kreidler, senior class; Alice Colbert and Donald Bell, junior class; and Nedalyn Charnbury and George Sipe, sophomore class.

Four officers are elected by the entire class at the same time. The posts of president and treasurer are filled by members of the senior class who are juniors when elected. The vice president and secretary are elected from members of the sophomore class. Nominations and balloting usually take place the last week in April.

Current officers are Margaret Lamaster, president; Ann Barker, vice president; Margaret Powell, secretary; and Nancy White, treasurer.

An alumni representative is also elected in the spring elections. Donald Cook was voted this semester's alumni representative.

The council selects a male and female adviser from the faculty to sit in on the meetings. The council meets every other week.

The only requirements for nomination for officers' or representatives' posts are that the student be enrolled in the Physical Education school and have a 1.0 All-College average.

Engineering Council Represents Students

The Engineering Student Council is the sounding board for students in the School of Engineering.

The president of the council, Robert Watson, a seventh semester mechanical engineer, represents engineering students on the top campus student government body, All-College Cabinet.

The membership of the Engineering Student Council is divided into two groups, the regular and special representatives. Regular members are representatives from each class of each department in the School of Engineering. They are elected annually.

Each spring the council sponsors an open house, and members guide guests through the various exhibits and demonstrations which are given in each of the departments.

19 Organizations Represented

The special members, elected or appointed annually, are representatives of various organizations within the school. Nineteen such members are on the council.

The organizations represented are American Institute of Architects, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, Alpha Pi Mu, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Eta Kappa Nu, Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, Penn State Engineer, Pi Tau Sigma, Society for the Advancement of Management, Society of American Military Engineers, Scarab, Sigma Epsilon, Sigma Tau, Tau Beta Pi, Chi Epsilon, Society of Automotive Engineers, American Foundrymen's Society, and Agricultural Engineers Society.

Froth Elections Soon

Other officers of the council are elected by the new council and must be members of that council. By constitutional rule, the officers of the council are to be elected two meetings after the election of the new council. However, the president is elected earlier because of the proximity between the school elections and the time he takes his All-College Cabinet seat.

Freshmen representatives of the various departments will be

Radio Wave Study

Propagation of very high frequency radio waves will be studied at the College under a special grant made by the National Bureau of Standards. L. Ross Megar, of the Department of Engineering Research, will direct the study.

Encampment--

(Continued from page two) Upon adoption of the various recommendations, they were referred to as resolutions and the work entailed for fulfillment of these resolutions is yet to be done. The Daily Collegian will begin printing these resolutions Friday.

The sessions closed officially Saturday afternoon with a banquet a la cafeteria style.

After sessions of business, fun, and sport, the delegates began the long trek over the mountains to all points east, west, north and south. And there were those who headed for State College, the central point.
