

How's This for Size?

Women Included On Cheer Squad For Second Year

For the second consecutive year women will be included on the 14-person Nittany Lion cheering squad.

Senior Alan McChesney was chosen head cheerleader this year by a committee consisting of Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics; Eugene Wettstone, gymnastics coach; Carl P. Schott, dean of the School of Physical Education, and a member of the Senate advisory committee on athletics; and Thomas Hanna, last year's head cheerleader.

Other seniors selected were Howard Wright, Peggy Mayberry, and Nancy Wiant. Also on the squad are juniors Audrey Shultz, Louise Robertson, Fury Feraco, and Bruce Wagner, and sophomores Sandra Dahlinger, Ann Hilburn, Barbara Sherts, James Schultz, Jay Schultz, and Bruce Coble.

The sophomores will be cut to two men and two women when they become juniors.

No new cheerleaders will be considered this fall, according to McChesney.

Two Newspapermen To Speak at Forum

Marquis Childs, Washington columnist, and Hodding Carter, editor of three southern newspapers, have been contracted to speak in the 1952-53 State College Community Forum series, Elton S. Carter, forum program chairman, has announced.

Carter, who will speak Feb. 23, won the Nieman Fellowship for Newspapermen, at Harvard, in 1939-40; the Southern Literary Award in 1945; and the Pulitzer Prize for Editorial Writing in 1946. He holds an honorary M.A. from Harvard and honorary D. Litt. from Bowdoin College.

Childs will lecture Nov. 10. U. S. Representative Walter H. Judd is tentatively scheduled to speak Jan. 9, Dr. Carter said. Elsa Lancaster, the actress wife of Charles Laughton, and The Begum Ikramulla, the Pakistan stateswoman, have also been contacted to speak in the lecture series, but no definite plans have been made, Dr. Carter added.

Season tickets for the forum, a town and College cooperative enterprise set up to bring outstanding speakers to State College, are sold each year in State College and on campus.

Last year's tickets for the series of five lectures sold for $3 and the price of this season's tickets will probably be the same, Dr. Carter said. Tickets for individual lectures generally sell for $1.

Last year's speakers including one bonus speaker were Kurt von Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria; Arthur Schlesinger Jr., historian and author; Eric Johnston, former economic stabilizer; Robert Vogeler, victim of com-

First Inter-Varsity Meeting Tonight

The Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will hold its first meeting of the fall semester at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main. The Rev. Robert Smoot of Baltimore, will address the group. The meeting, open to all students, has been planned as an introductory meeting for new students.

The Rev. Smoot, father of Robert Smoot, freshman class president, has gained wide popularity as guest speaker for the group in the past.

unist imprisonment; Bernard Iddings Bell, clergyman and educator; and Upton Close.

The State College Community Forum committee, an organization composed of students, faculty, and townspeople, supervises the program, business and publicity connected with the forum.

cussing the possibility of singing the national anthem at the end of football games, the original recommendation to sing the Alma Mater was approved.

2. Walking on the grass—have a loud speaker make fun of persons who walk on grass. Have freshmen make signs to put at paths.

This entire recommendation was defeated on the grounds that it is an impractical solution to the problem.

3. Smoking in classrooms—encourage faculty members not to smoke in classrooms and place a sign in Recreation Hall requesting that spectators do not smoke.

4. Use of alcoholic beverages—This committee recommends to the Senate committee on student affairs and All-College Cabinet the following:

a. Review present regulations on this subject with regard to uniformity and effect on all students.

b. Give thought to ways of gaining wider student understanding and acceptance of state, borough, and college laws and limitations in this regard.

c. Systematic effort be made to help students learn how to plan and execute adequate and successful social functions wherein prescribed limits are observed.

5. Littering campus with trash.

a. Customs board — freshman violators of customs make signs to help keep the campus clean.

b. Physical Plant — ask for more waste containers.

c. Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils make it a permanent part of Greek Week to have clean-up day on campus. The Association for Independent Men could work with these two groups.

All recommendations except those indicated otherwise, were unanimously approved. The committee working on citizenship included chairman JoAn Lee, Allen Marshall, Samuel Nowell, Mary Pettigout, Franklin Reese, James Schulte, Irene Taylor, R. Wallace Brewster, Robert K. Murray, and Harold Perkins.

The Daily Collegian will continue printing the recommendations in Tuesday's issue. These will include student-faculty relations, communications, and dormitory food.

Ad Staff to Meet

The intermediate and junior boards of the advertising staff of the Daily Collegian will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Carnegie, Phyllis Kalsou, advertising manager, has announced.
