

Varied School Activities Await Frosh at State

across the picture. The three cuties were targets for garters during the spring Carnival, while the happy faces on their right were gleaned at a Big Weekend house party. Also shown are the grid squad, queen of the Military Ball, part of the Armed Forces parade, a going-to-class scene on the Mall. And, oh, yes, in the lower right you will see that Penn Staters do get to class eventually.
