

Food Problems Aired by Group

(This is the last in a series of articles on the resolutions adopted at the first annual Student Encampment.)

Problems in the areas of dormitory food service, student operation and responsibilities, and recreation, were discussed at the first annual Student Encampment at Mont Alto Forestry School Sept. 4 to 6.

The dormitory food service committee, headed by William Griffith, considered problems concerned with informing students on menu planning, computations involved in planning the price of meals, and student help in planning meals.

The committee made the following recommendations:

1. All-College Cabinet should coordinate the work of the several food committees and have these groups select, from their membership, responsible students to work in close cooperation with the menu planning committee of the food services department.
2. All-College Cabinet should request the food service to serve a choice of meat or fish on Fridays.
3. All-College Cabinet should inform the student body of the manner in which the price of meal tickets is computed in order that students may better understand the reasons for the non-transferability of meal tickets.
4. All-College Cabinet should inform the student body of the College policy regarding the sale of meal tickets to students who live off-campus.
5. All-College Cabinet should inform the student body of the policy regarding meal tickets for guests.
6. All-College Cabinet should inform the student body of the practical reasons for restricting coeducational dining to exchange dinners.

Group Discusses Recreation

In discussing the possibility for a more effective student government, the cooperation and responsibilities committee considered the removal of All-College Cabinet's power to amend its own constitution. The committee also considered a joint judicial body for particular cases, instead of the present men's Tribunal and women's Judicial bodies.

The committee on recreation, headed by Frank Hartman, devoted much of its time to the present shortage of recreational facilities. The committee presented the following recommendations:

1. A statement concerning the availability of the Student Union Building should be made by President Eisenhower early in the fall semester in the Daily Collegian. The statement should give full particulars to date on reasons for delay and probability of completion, and include a brief review for new students unacquainted with its history.

Set Up Permanent Group

2. The problem of better organization and participation in men's independent intramural recreation should be examined.

a. Independent intramural competition would be better organized by the formation of area councils of the living units with an athletic program chairman meeting periodically with those persons in charge of intramural recreation.

b. Independent intramural spirit would be increased by limiting team representatives to small living units only, which would be combined in case of insufficient support in a particular unit.

c. Intramural competition between fraternities and independents would be beneficial to both, and the possibility of such competition should be considered.

3. A permanent cabinet committee should be created to carry on the work of the encampment committee to consider and seek a solution to all future recreation problems which may arise and to consider the problem of student seating at athletic events.

Ask Resurvey of Space

The following additional recommendations would help alleviate problems of inadequate recreation facilities:

1. Compiling of an up-to-date master list of recreational facilities and the procedure and requirements for obtaining them. To be maintained by the recreation committee, the list would be kept at the Student Union desk for the use of all students.

This record could include the following:

a. A resurvey of all available campus room space, including classrooms, with description of the room and facilities available.

b. A list of College transportation which might be available, and procedure for obtaining and keeping a list of student drivers interested in driving at standard rates and their vehicle capacity.

A list should be made of nearby off-campus recreational facilities with a description and procedure for obtaining their use. A list should be made of all entertainers (bands, masters of ceremony, or square dance callers), student or non-student, available in the College area.

The recreation committee also recommended the following:

1. Outdoor areas should be lighted, particularly those of softball, football, and tennis.
2. Filling in and leveling should be done on the Nittany-Pollock baseball field, using dirt from present excavations.
3. Requisition and lighting of three fields near the golf course for West dormitory softball and football games.
4. Volleyball courts and equipment should be included in all areas.
5. Additional central campus area should be allotted for women's recreation and temporary allotment of any unused portions of it for the use of men's town groups.
6. Additional lighted all-weather tennis courts should be provided.
7. Mt. Tussey recreation lodge should be rebuilt and expanded, and a north wing should be added to Recreation Hall for expanded floor space as soon as possible.
8. The use of church and high school gymnasiums when not occupied should be requested for town men's basketball or other recreation.
9. Hard surface courts or other suitable areas for winter ice skating should be flooded.

Eight Buildings Are Under Construction

Eight buildings or additions to buildings are in varying stages of completion in construction under the General State Authority, according to Walter H. Wiegand, director, department of physical plant.

A wing to the south of Recreation Hall is now in the foundation stage. The new wing will include showers, locker rooms, physical education staff offices and laboratories, and handball courts, Wiegand said. He added that provisions are being made for bowling alleys in the basement.

The fourth floor addition to Main Engineering is complete, and a new dairy farm barn group is under construction. The new barn group is located west of the dissemination barn group, and will include five barns and an administration building. The buildings are expected to be completed by late fall, Wiegand said.

The addition to the library is now about 50 per cent complete. The addition to the library will include stack rooms and a few reading rooms.

The Pond Laboratory addition is on a basement level. Wiegand expects the addition to be completed "soon." He explained that completion on dates on buildings may vary according to the supply of steel.

The chemistry building now under construction to the north of Walker Laboratory will consist of a basement and three floors. It will contain approximately 20 new laboratories and 38 offices, as well as service and mechanical rooms. Average floor space will be about 21,800 square feet per floor, Wiegand said.

Union Sees Job Shift Deliberation

An announcement that old employees of the College who were transferred and wished to return to their former jobs would be given "consideration" was made last night at a public meeting of Local No. 67 of the State, County, and Municipal Employees Union AFL.

Instructions were given to these employees to leave their names with union officials if they wished to be returned to the jobs from which they were transferred. Union officials said that these employees would be given "consideration."

The union officials also promised to look into the matter of "men who were laid off without just cause." The officials said they would try to have these men taken back.

Accurate information on the six points of contention would be provided on Wednesday after a meeting with President Milton S. Eisenhower.

The walkout which ended shortly after 1 p.m. Monday resulted from the union demands for a 40-hour, 5-day work week, a uniform vacation and sick leave program, double time for work on holidays, recognition of all legal holidays, and the "cessation of unfair labor practices."

Officials at the meeting last night said that "kind consideration was given to each and every point." Rep. James Van Zandt, R-22nd District, who spoke to the group last night, commended the group on its handling of the situation. He said, "You proceeded in an orderly manner."

IFC Asks Fraternities To Register Pledges

Fraternities that accepted pledges either late last fall, during Orientation Week, or so far this semester are requested to register their pledges at the Student Union desk in Old Main, Thomas Fleming, secretary of the Interfraternity Council, announced yesterday.

The register will be at the desk until 5 p.m. Friday at which time all houses are expected to have registered their pledges, Fleming said.

Forum Will Present Diversified Program

Two journalists, a congressman, a comedienne, and a Pakistan stateswoman have contracted to appear during the 1952-53 Community Forum series.

Marquis Childs, syndicated Washington news columnist, is scheduled to open the series Nov. 10. On Dec. 8 Paul Gregory will present Elsa Lanchester in Private Music Hall, a comedy program supported by a vocal quartet. Walter Judd, Republican congressman from Minnesota, will speak Jan. 9; Hodding Carter, Southern newspaper editor and author, Feb. 23; and Begum Ikramullah, the Pakistan stateswoman, March 4.

Season tickets for the forum series will be on sale Sept. 29 to Oct. 4 at the Student Union desk in Old Main and at the Commerce Club. Tickets will also be sold through faculty, student, and community organization representatives.

Marquis Childs has traveled in Europe, the Middle East, India, and Pakistan. His daily column, "Washington Calling," is carried by more than 150 papers throughout the United States. Childs won the Sigma Delta Chi award for Washington correspondence in 1944 and the annual award for distinguished service in journalism from the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri in 1951.

Elsa Lanchester will appear in a comedy show backed by the Madhatters, a quartet of vocal stylists, and Ray Henderson at the piano. Miss Lanchester is the wife of actor Charles Laughton. The character actress has appeared as a nightclub entertainer in New York and London.

Congressman Walter H. Judd is a physician and surgeon in private life. He has served as a medical missionary in China and before World War II lectured throughout the United States, advocating an embargo on shipment of American war materials to Japan. He was elected to Congress in 1943.

Hodding Carter, editor of the Mississippi Delta Democrat-Times, says his aim is "To show non-Southerners what is good about us and Southerners what is still bad about us." He won the Neiman Fellowship at Harvard for newspapermen and a Guggenheim Fellowship for creative writing.

Begum Ikramullah is one of the leaders of the new state of Pakistan. She is an elected member of the Pakistan Constituent Assembly and wife of Pakistan's foreign secretary. She has served as Pakistan's delegate to the UN, and is serving today as a member of the board of studies, University of Sind, and as a member of the board of studies, University of Sind, and as a member of the Pakistan Advisory Board of Education.

Dr. Elton S. Carter, assistant professor of speech, was appointed chairman of the forum committee at a meeting on Sunday. He served previously as program chairman for this year's committee and succeeds Dr. Harold P. Zelko, associate professor of public speaking, who resigned to take a temporary appointment in Washington.

Sponsors of this season's Community Forum are the All-College Cabinet, American Association of University Women, American Legion, State College public schools, Hillel Student Foundation, Kiwanis, Nittany Lodge of B'nai B'rith, Parent-Teachers Association, and Penn State Christian Association.

The College, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Lambda Theta, Rotary, Wesley Foundation, and Women's Student Government Association are also sponsoring the program.

State Week Projects Suggested

Suggestions for Pennsylvania Week projects were made yesterday at the first meeting of a 16 member student, faculty, and staff committee.

Fred M. Coombs, professor of physical education, was named chairman of the committee, after Richard C. Maloney, central regional vice chairman for colleges and universities for Pennsylvania Week, briefly explained the purposes of the committee.

Bell Formation Planned

A subcommittee also was appointed to discuss suggestions and report back to the entire committee Wednesday. Coombs asked the committee to investigate the costs of such projects and the amount of assistance needed on the project. Members of the subcommittee are James Plyler, All-College vice president; William Shifflet, president of the Association of Independent Men; Joan Hutcheon, president of the Woman's Student Government Association; Lincoln Warrell, president of the Coordinating Board of Student Councils; Thomas Hammonds, Division of Central Extension; Dr. Philip S. Klein, professor of American history; Maloney; and Coombs.

Suggest Motorcade

Although no definite plans were made, Warrell reported that a liberty bell formation has been developed for the flashcard section, and will be used for the homecoming game. The homecoming game, scheduled for Oct. 18, is during Pennsylvania Week. Warrell said the bell formation would be in keeping with the theme for the week, "Pennsylvania Defends Freedom."

Other suggestions include a competitive motorcade of Pennsylvania Week displays at halftime at the Homecoming game, a special Blue Band program at halftime, exhibits from the College's schools for downtown displays, a folk festival in Recreation Hall, a library exhibit, and dramatic presentations by the Thespians and 5 O'clock Theater.

Festival to Cost $150

Dr. Kline said that Elsa Lisle, circulation librarian, had requested a Pennsylvania Week display in the Pattee Library.

Coombs said that the folk festival at Rec Hall would cost about $150. Most of the cost, however, could be made up by the sale of tickets he said.

A suggestion also was made that a Pennsylvania Week exhibit be displayed at the Hort Show, to be held Oct. 18 and 19.

A lawn display in front of Old Main, similar to one rejected by All-College Cabinet last year, was also suggested.
