the boys when they fumbled was a little pat on the back.

Scheetz told the crowd the boys were facing ten rugged games this year and needed the support of the whole student body. He said his boys had experience, but not enough.

Frosh Routed Out

Alan McChesney, head cheerleader, led the crowd in cheers and songs accompanied by the Blue Band.

In a burst of pre-rally enthusiasm members of hat societies routed frosh and upperclassmen out of the dormitories. Skull and Bones and Parmi Nous reported their efforts were not too fruitful in the Nittany-Pollock area and that dormitory residents were reluctant to leave the area.

The parade began at 7:30 p.m. at the corner of Garner and Hamilton streets. Following the Blue Band, McChesney and the Nittany Lion, mascot at football games, rode in a blue and white "hot rod." Members of the cheering squad and football team followed in seven convertibles. Other cars joined the parade downtown and coeds fell in behind the Blue Band as the parade passed Simmons and McElwain Halls.

Music for the Kickoff Dance, which began at 9 p.m., was furnished by Jack Huber and his orchestra. Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, sponsored a penny-pitching stand, and Skull and Bones sold soft drinks with proceeds going to the Campus Chest, sponsor of the dance.

College Ranks 19th In Master's Conferred

The College ranks 19th among colleges and universities of the country in the number of master's degrees conferred during the academic year ending June 30, 1951. It ranked 30th in the number of doctorates conferred.

Shabby Suit Hinders Career Of State's Lion

Penn State's Lion may appear only at four football games this fall. His suit's too shabby and he can't afford a new one.

Because of the poor condition of the suit, the Lion may see action only at the Temple, Nebraska, Penn., and Pitt games, Alex Gregal, who portrays the Lion, said yesterday. If the suit can be repaired and it isn't used too hard, it may be worn for the remainder of the home games.

Despite the poor condition of the suit last year, a new suit was not bought this year due to lack of money.

Because the Athletic Association cannot finance the purchase of a new suit, it should be a student project to approach the student councils and class finance committees for help in raising a

"The new rules that we are kicking about never applied to anybody except MacRae," Werner said. "All the rest of the employees signed in May under the old rules, and the last paragraph of the President's statement assures us that in the future the old rules ('preponderance of evidence against the defendant') will apply again. MacRae is the one and only victim of this slow and mysterious change in the rules."

fund to buy a new suit, Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, said.

Gregal said he hopes a permanent fund can be established from which money for a new suit may be taken when needed. Otherwise the traditional appearance of the Lion at the football games may have to be discontinued, he added. The present suit was purchased two years ago for approximately $400. It takes about three months to have a new suit made.

Graduates to Meet Wednesday Night

Convocation for students and faculty of the Graduate School will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Schwab Auditorium. At 8:15 p.m. meetings will be held for the various school groups.

The benediction will be given by the Rev. Luther Harshbarger, College chaplain. A series of short addresses will be given by Adrian O. Morse, provost, Harold K. Schilling, dean of the Graduate School and Woods Thomas, chairman of the temporary organization committee of the Graduate Student Association.

COME TO CHURCH

This month we all celebrate the 500th anniversary of Gutenberg's invention of printing with movable type. The first book ever to be printed was the bible. Then it was in Latin. Through the ages God's word has been brought to men in the language of their times. Once in the 16th century the Bible was so scarce and costly that it was chained to a Church pillar but it was open for all to read. This month ONE MILLION COPIES of the new Revised Standard Version will be published the "Greatest Bible News in 341 years." Get it. Read it. Live by it.
