

Cabinet Attendance To Affect Customs

The attendance of freshmen at the All-College Cabinet meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium will partially determine the length of the period that freshman customs will stay in effect, James Schulte, co-chairman of the Freshman Board of Customs, announced yesterday.

Freshmen will not be required to attend the meeting, part of the Student Government day program, but, Schulte said, attendance will be some indication of the class spirit and the class willingness to get into the "swing of things" at Penn State. Besides, he added, the customs board will report to the Cabinet at that time, and the freshmen "may be interested."

Prexy to Speak

Freshmen will also be required to know the name of the All-College president, John Laubach, the president of the Association of Independent Men, William Shifflet, and president of the Women's Student Government Association, Joan Hutchon, as customs for the day, Schulte said. Schulte also called on the upperclass men and women to enforce this custom.

The Cabinet meeting in Schwab is open to all students and will be preceded by an introductory speech by President Milton S. Eisenhower on student government and how it aids the administration. This regularly scheduled cabinet meeting and the President's speech will put the finishing touches to the all-day SG program.

A discussion period is scheduled for 7 p.m. tomorrow in a Hamilton Hall lounge between representatives of the Association of Independent Men, governing body of the independent men, and of the Interfraternity Council, governing body of Penn State's 52 fraternities. A representative from the Dean of Men's office will attend.

Groups to Discuss SG

At the same time, a similar discussion will be held in Atherton Hall lounge between representatives of the Panhellenic Council, governing body of the 19 sororities, and Leonides, governing body of the independent women. A representative of the Dean of Women's office will attend.

These groups will discuss problems of student government in general and any problems that they may have in common. The groups will also exchange ideas on how to better acquaint students with student government at Penn State.

The Women's Student Government Association will exhibit a display showing a working outline and the activities of the association all day tomorrow in Schwab. The display will include pictures of the senate, group pictures of the house of representatives, the house councils, Judicial, and the Freshman Board of Customs. Nancy D. White, fifth semester home economics major, is in charge of the display.

A Cabinet breakfast will set the days activities into motion, beginning at 7 a.m. in the Nittany Lion Inn with all regular and ex officio members attending.

Serving on the Student Government Day committee are Robert Smoot, Arthur Rosfeld, Donald Herbein, Janet Herd, Charles Obertance, Richard Neuweiler, and George Greer.

Cleaning Agency Will Open Today

The Student Dry Cleaning Agency will open in all College dormitories at noon today. Cleaning will be received at the PUB in the Nittany-Pollock dorm area and at the Hamilton storage room 1A in the West Dorms. Hours will be 7:30 to 8:30; 12:30 to 1 and 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday to Friday; 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, and 5:30 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Time and location of the agency for the women's dorms will be posted in the individual dorms by a representative of the agency.

IFC Hears McCoy Appeal on Conduct

By CHUCK OBERTANCE

Approximately one hundred fraternity men at an Interfraternity Council meeting heard last night an appeal by Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, to take an active part in solving the problem of student conduct at football games.

The conduct referred to by McCoy was that of students hurling varieties of fruit onto the playing field and the destruction of goal posts after the games. McCoy said that in 25 years of his intercollegiate experience, he has never seen, excepting last Saturday, a home team take down its own goal posts.

Student Problem

The disconcerting part of this action, McCoy said, was that the goal posts were under destruction before the game was over. He listed several possibilities which might have occurred on this account including a tie ball game and injurious publicity for the College and all concerned.

He said that the administration could take disciplinary action, but that this was primarily a student problem that could be solved by the students. McCoy then suggested that students, since they alone determined the customs of Penn State, should restrain from these actions which cause a great loss of dignity. He added that students should take the attitude that "this isn't done at Penn State."

William Hafley, chairman of the Fraternity Marketing Association, large scale buying plan for fraternities, made a committee report. He said that mimeographed sheets comparing list prices with those of FMA would be sent to all houses for comparisons.

New Group Accepted

IFC rushing chairman, Thomas Schott, reported on the rushing program and the tentative plans for open houses to freshmen to acquaint them with fraternity life. Phi Mu Delta Association was (Continued on page eight)

Two Dismissed, One Deferred Punishment

By DICK RAU

Of the 29 freshmen who appeared before the Freshman Customs Board, one woman, and ten men, were sentenced.

One woman's case was held over until next week, two men's cases were dismissed, and 11 more were yet to be heard at press time.

Sandwich Sign

Five women appeared before the board to ask questions of the board. One man's sentence will possibly be held over until next week, depending on a decision by James Schulte, board co-chairman, Thursday.

The one woman who was sentenced will be required to make a sandwich sign with materials obtained at the Book Exchange.

The ten men who were sentenced will also be required to make sandwich signs with materials gotten at the Book Exchange, Schulte explained that the materials will be furnished free of charge.

Violators Tagged

He added that the signs will have either a rhyme or slogan on the front pertaining to their violation and a slogan on the rear board pertaining to the Purdue football game.

These men must appear before Schulte between 12:30 and 1 p.m. to have their signs checked. The violators must then wear the signs until after the Purdue game Saturday. At the start of the half-time intermission, all violators must appear at the gate to the playing field in front of the senior section. Schulte said that the gate is located at about the 50-yard line.

Cases Dismissed

During the meeting, Patricia Ellis of the board announced that freshmen women are permitted in the West Dorm lounge on weekdays between noon and 6:30 p.m. No association with men will be permitted, she said. She added that this rule will be enforced and violators will be punished before the Freshman Customs Board.

Of the two men's cases that were dismissed, one was done so because the freshmen had apparently violated no rule, and the other had apparently been a victim of hazing practices. These men were given advice by the board on the proper attitude toward upper classmen and customs.

The customs violations ranged from talking to members of the opposite sex to refusal to wear customs at all.

Grad Students Meet Tonight

All new students in the Graduate School are invited to attend the convocation for graduate students at 7 tonight in Schwab Auditorium, according to Dean Harold K. Schilling.

Representatives to the Graduate School student council will be elected. At 8:15 p.m. students will assemble into discussion groups according to their major fields of study.

Luther H. Harshbarger, College chaplain, will give the benediction at the general session. Schilling will explain the functions of the Graduate School.

Provost Adrian O. Morse and Thomas Woods, chairman of the Graduate Student Association, will also speak.

College-Union Negotiations Resume Today

Negotiations between the College and Local No. 67 of the State, County, and Municipal Employees Union, AFL, will resume at 2 p.m. today in President Milton S. Eisenhower's office, according to Thomas Hartwick, secretary of the local.

A six point list of conditions which the union has asked to be corrected is up for settlement.

The walkout, which ended shortly after 1 p.m. Sept. 15, resulted from the union demands for a 40-hour, 5-day work week, a uniform vacation and sick leave program, double time for work on holidays, recognition of all legal holidays, and the "cessation of unfair labor practices."

Negotiations during the walkout went into continuous session until the return to work.

The union's executive committee is participating in the talks at the College. The committee is headed by George L. Fink.

Since the negotiations started there has not been any indication on the number of disputed points which have been settled, if any.

MacRae Case Probe To Continue

Procedures to be used by a committee investigating College loyalty procedures and the dismissal of Wendell S. MacRae will be discussed at a meeting of the Faculty Advisory Council at 4:10 p.m. Friday, Arthur H. Reede, chairman of the committee, said yesterday.

Monday night Reede told a meeting of over 125 persons interested in the MacRae case that President Milton S. Eisenhower had asked the Faculty Advisory Council to consider questions about College loyalty procedures, to consider the formation of a committee to investigate these procedures, and to recommend procedures to be used by an investigating committee.

Reede To Be Added

According to Reede, the Faculty Advisory Council approved Eisenhower's proposal for a review of procedures and their bearing on the case in question (the MacRae case) by elected members of the Tenure and the Faculty Loyalty Review Board.

Since both these groups are three-man boards, the committee recommended to the President that the acting chairman of the council, Reede, be added to the group.

Withholds Comment

The Faculty Advisory Council, at its meeting Monday afternoon, voted "that there was confusion in the College loyalty procedures and that, in fact, none of the council members knew of a change in procedure until Aug. 19."

The council decided to withhold comment as to whether there had been "incorrect steps" because the council lacked adequate information.

The council went on record as believing the special review committee should have the widest possible latitude in its investigations and should be free to decide on its own procedures.

Debate Candidate Tryouts Scheduled

It was erroneously reported that the tryouts would be held tonight. Both upperclassmen and freshmen are eligible to try out.

Customs Committee

The possibility of freshman customs examinations will be discussed at a meeting of the sophomore customs enforcement committee at 7:30 tonight in 202 Willard. Otto Hetzel and Thomas Kidd, co-chairmen, have announced.
